BULLDOGS BULLETIN

Georgia Rounds Out Top 25-Packed Stretch

The Bulldogs recently rounded out a stretch of 17 games against six ranked opponents, with all but one being top 10. Georgia earned five victories against those opponents. After the stretch, Georgia's RPI checks in at 14 and its strength of schedule is fourth-best in the country.

Bulldogs Dig the Long Ball

Georgia ranks 11th in the country with 1.5 home runs per game. Georgia's 29 home runs in SEC games ranks third in the SEC. The Bulldogs tied a season-high five home runs against Missouri (3/20) including four in the first inning. The Bulldogs hit three-straight in the inning, the first time since 2018 against Florida. Georgia's .506 slugging percentage is 31st nationally.

Georgia in the Polls

The Bulldogs fell on spot in the NFCA Coaches Poll to No. 22 as well as two spots to No. 24 in the USA Softball Poll.

Bulldogs Topple Top-Ranked Oklahoma

Georgia hosted No. 1 Oklahoma in a midweek doubleheader on April 20. The first game turned into a nine-inning affair. After a Sooner grand slam to put OU ahead 5-2, Georgia clawed its way back in the sixth and seventh innings to tie the game at 6-6. After missing home plate on a home run in the fourth inning, Jaiden Fields not only was a key cog in Georgia's comeback later in the game, but provided the game-winning hit in the bottom of the ninth to plate Jacqui Switzer from second base to defeat the Sooners, 7-6. Mary Wilson Avant pitched a career-long nine innings in the game, allowing only five hits to the Sooners.

Mosley Lifts Bulldogs Past No. 10 Kentucky on the Road

Sophomore Sara Mosley was named the SEC Co-Newcomer of the Week on April 13 for her efforts of lifting Georgia to a series victory over 10th-ranked Kentucky in Lexington. Mosley delivered a three-run home run in the seventh inning to cap a seven-run comeback and lift the Bulldogs to a 9-8 victory in game two of the series. In the finale, Mosley put Georgia ahead 2-0 in the first then hit a two-run home run later in the game to widen Georgia's lead to 5-0.

Avant One Hits Gators, Records 500th-Career Strikeout

Graduate pitcher Mary Wilson Avant pitched a complete-game one-hitter in the series opener against No. 5 Florida April 3 at Jack Turner Stadium. Avant fanned six Gators in her performance and earned her 12th victory. Two days later, her sixth strikeout of the game topped the 500 mark in her career. She becomes only the sixth Bulldog to reach that milestone.

Bordeau Has Solid Series Against Gators

Freshman catcher Payden Bordeau put together a solid series at the plate against No. 5 Florida. In the series opener, her first career home run was a two-run shot to tie the game. Georgia went on to topple the Gators 4-2. In the finale, a pair of singles was good enough for her first multi-hit game as a Bulldog. She concluded the series hitting .571 (4-for-7).

Chambley for Three!

Freshman Sydney Chambley leads the SEC with six triples and ranks seventh nationally. The number ties for fifth-most in a season at Georgia. The record is 12 set by Nicole Barber in 2002. Barber holds the top-three spots in the single-season category (12, 10, 8) and holds Georgia's career record of 35.

Georgia's Win Streak Ends

Georgia softball snapped a 16-game win streak after falling to Missouri in the SEC opener on March 19. The streak tied for sixth-longest (2008, 2013) in Georgia softball history and was the longest since the Bulldogs tied the record of 25 in 2018.

Fields, Kearney Earn SEC Honors

Following the series against No. 16 Missouri, Jaiden Fields and Jayda Kearney were honored by the SEC. Fields went 5-for-10 against Missouri including a double and a home run. She drove in four runs on the weekend. Kearney went 4-for-8 in two games against Missouri. Her first-career home run came at the end of Georgia's three-straight homers in the first inning Saturday. She contributed a two-RBI double in the third to widen the Bulldogs' lead to 10-3.

Fields has a Field Day

On March 6, redshirt-sophomore Jaiden Fields had quite the day at the plate. Down 5-2 against UAB, Fields hit a two-run home run in the bottom of the sixth, her first career home run. The hit allowed Georgia to tie the game in the seventh and win 6-5 in 11 innings. In the next game against Mercer, Fields put the Bulldogs on the board with a two-run home run in the first. She followed it up with a grand slam in the fourth. She drove in eight runs on the day.

Georgia Picks Up 45th and 46th No Hitter

The Bulldogs' pitching staff has recorded a pair of no hitters this season. The first by Mary Wilson Avant (W), Madison Kerpics, and Britton Rogers, came on Feb. 19 against Longwood. The second by Lauren Mathis (W) and Alley Cutting came at Georgia State on Feb. 27.

Chambley Named SEC Co-Freshman of the Week

Outfielder Sydney Chambley was named the first SEC Freshman of the Week on Feb. 15. In her first weekend in the Red and Black, the Dallas, Georgia native hit .833 (5-for-6) on the weekend. All five hits went for extra bases and she drove in a total of six runs. She totaled 15 bases as she slugged 2.500 through two games.

GEORGIA OUTFIELDER JAIDEN FIELDS EXCELS ON THE DIAMOND AND EYES A FUTURE IN THE BROADCAST BOOTH

Seth Emerson, The Athletic | Apr. 28, 2021

ATHENS, Ga. — The coordination that day, not to mention the symbolism, was a thing of beauty: The Fields family pulled a moving truck up to a dorm on Georgia's campus, and first Jaiden Fields and her mother unloaded Jaiden's stuff and took it up to her new room. On the same floor, just across the way, Justin Fields and his father packed up belongings and took them down to the same truck.

And so Justin was off to Ohio State for a couple years, and soon on to the NFL.

But in his place on Georgia's campus was his sister Jaiden, who may someday be known as one of the brightest stars in sports journalism, the next Maria Taylor or Holly Rowe — who Jaiden has already tapped as career resources.

First, however, she's making a decent name for herself as a Georgia softball player.

"I acknowledge that my brother has worked hard, and it's cool to be related to him and to have that recognition, and I'm a journalist too, or I'm working towards it, and understand that's a great story angle to take," Jaiden said. "But I've also put in hard work for myself, and kind of want to make a name for myself. So that's all I ask from that standpoint."

No problem. Let's start here: Jaiden hit three home runs in a game earlier this season. Then she topped that a few weeks later by providing the game-winning, walk-off hit as Georgia snapped No. 1 Oklahoma's 40-game win streak.

This has been a breakout season for Jaiden, a right fielder who redshirted her first season (after enrolling early, arriving that same day her brother left), and only had one start and 17 at-bats in last year's pandemic-shortened season. Now she's a starter, and Georgia's fourth-leading hitter: .293 with 5 homers and 20 RBI. Yes, three of those five home runs came in the same game.

"Honestly, I don't know how that happened," Jaiden said. "I was just going up there taking my hacks and happened to hit three home runs. It was really cool and exciting."

Softball has been her sport for a long time: She first went to a Georgia softball camp when she was in the third grade, had fun and kept coming back, and also realized she had a future in it. Jaiden played on the travel softball circuit starting when she was 10, her team winning a national championship at one point.

Her older brother was also pretty good on a diamond, enough so that there was discussion about him playing baseball at Georgia. But his quarterback skills took precedent. Even after leaving Georgia, Justin has returned to watch his sister play, several times last year and for the Florida series earlier this year. Fans have stopped him to take pictures, but COVID protocols limiting attendance have made it easier for him to watch without much interruption.

"God had other plans for him and had other plans for me, so I think overall I'm glad about my decision," Jaiden said. "I didn't have any doubt when (Justin) did decide to leave. I think all in all it played out well. I'm glad where he's at and I'm glad where I'm at."

Where she's at is also Georgia's well-regarded journalism program, pursuing a broadcast career. Last summer she did a virtual internship, where she produced and put together a podcast. She's also befriended Taylor, a Georgia graduate, and fellow ESPN star Rowe. The former relationship began when Taylor came to do a journalism panel at UGA last year, and the latter when Rowe attended a women's initiative event at Georgia in 2019. Being Justin Fields' younger sister provided a conversation starter, then Jaiden took it from there.

She knew what she wanted: She's been eyeing a broadcast career since middle school.

"Yes, 100 percent. (That's) definitely the goal," she said. "I've always loved sports, obviously grew up in a very athletic family, and always loved talking to people, having those relationships and sharing stories. And being in front of the camera. So I thought why not put it all together?"

First you may see her on television during the NFL draft: She plans to be with her brother and family at their Kennesaw home as they await the news. No matter what happens, no matter where Justin is drafted, Jaiden said she will be "super proud of him."

Oh, and there's another one she's proud of: Her sister Jessica Fields is a budding basketball prospect, entering high school soon. So get ready for that.

"Honestly I think she's the most athletic one in our family," Jaiden said. "She's working super, super hard. She's training every day and dominating at these tournaments. So I just can't wait till she's old enough to start getting recruited, because she honestly she might have the best shot of all of us."

GEORGIA SOFTBALL PITCHER ACES FIFTH YEAR OF COLLEGE ELIGIBILITY

Chris Starrs, Terry News | Apr. 15, 2021

ATHENS, Ga. — Last spring, Georgia softball player Mary Wilson Avant was in the same boat as thousands of student-athletes across the country after learning their seasons were shuttered by the COVID-19 virus.

But unlike many of those student-athletes, Avant — who earned a marketing degree from the Terry College of Business in May 2020 — had a plan for her next step.

“Coming out of my junior year, I had my eye on the Master of Marketing Research program at Terry College,” said Avant, a Macon native. “One of my mentors was in one of the first graduate classes and started me on that path. I’d already applied and gotten into the program by the time everything shut down. At that point, we didn’t know what the future held. I had my mind on, ‘I’m done with softball, and the next step is completing my master’s and starting a career.’”

When the NCAA gave another year of eligibility to affected student-athletes, Avant decided to return to the UGA Softball Complex for a fifth and final campaign. The 2020 UGA softball season had ended after 28 games — about half the typical schedule.

“When the NCAA notified us they were allowing us another year of eligibility, I decided to take it,” said Avant, a right-handed pitcher who made 16 appearances in 2020 with an 11-4 record and 120 strikeouts. “I love it, and I love the people and the competitive environment.

Avant has excelled on the diamond and in the classroom. One of two graduate students on the Bulldogs’ roster (pitcher Alley Cutting is the other), she’s the team’s ace, collecting more than 60 starts in four previous seasons and leading the Bulldogs in starts and wins this year.

She has struck out over 500 batters in her career, becoming only the sixth Georgia player to reach that milestone. As a sophomore, Avant was a key component in Georgia’s advancement to the Women’s College World Series for the fourth time in school history.

She has earned Southeastern Conference Academic Honor Roll plaudits, was named to the J. Reid Parker Director of Athletics Honor Roll, and recognized as an All-American Scholar-Athlete.

Off the field, Avant served as a Terry Ambassador, engaging with students and alumni while representing the college at a variety of functions. Avant said being an ambassador was a critical part of her education, as it helped her to deal with situations that were outside of her comfort zone, although what constitutes an uncomfortable zone for someone at ease pitching on college softball’s biggest stage has yet to be determined.

“You talk to all these people who may be high up in a company, or families who you’re influencing their child to come to UGA and Terry,” she said. “It’s incredible. I met all these new people I would have never known if I had not been a part of that.”

Avant completes the MMR program this spring and is now engaged in a different form of recruitment as she ponders job opportunities. She said marketing professor Marcus Cunha, who directs the MMR program, was instrumental in her enjoyment of market research and her professional pursuits.

“She’s a great student, highly motivated,” Cunha said of Avant. “She has performed well academically and already has job offers ahead of graduation. It’s impressive because an athlete has kind of a full-time job in college, but she works around the class schedule and makes sure she’s there for our speakers’ series. She’s a great person, not only because she’s a great student, but because she inspires others.”

Having found success on and off the field, Avant said being part of the Terry College is an essential ingredient in her college experience.

“Terry College sets you up for success,” she said. “You certainly get out of Terry what you put into it. Terry offers so many events and facilitates so much for students that if you want to get involved, you can. A lot of it is putting yourself outside your comfort zone, too. It’s scary going to your first information session for a company or talking to a recruiter for the first time, but Terry makes it so it’s the least intimidating way possible.

“I’ve grown and been able to adapt to those situations and ultimately become a better student, a better person and a better friend because of it. Terry means a lot to me, and I’m very grateful to have been a part of it for the last five years.”
