THE SERIES vs. MISSISSIPPI ST.

- This will mark the seventh meeting between the Wolfpack and the Bulldogs, the second under head coach Dave Doeren.
- The all-time series is tied 3-3. The Pack posts a 1-1 mark in Raleigh vs. the Bulldogs, is 1-0 at Starkville and 1-2 in bowl matchups.
- Mississippi State won the last matchup, 51-28 at the 2015 Belk Bowl in Charlotte.
- NC State has played in Starkville just once - a 6-0 NC State win back in 1931.
- The last three meetings between NC State and Mississippi State have come in bowl games. In addition to the 2015 Belk Bowl, the teams have also met in the 1995 Peach Bowl (NC State 28-24) and the 1963 Liberty Bowl (Mississippi State 16-12).
- This week's contest marks NC State's first game in the state of Mississippi since a 2006 loss at Southern Miss (37-17). NC State has not won a game in the state since 1963 (14-0 at Southern Miss).
- Ruffin McNeill, NC State's Special Assistant to the Head Coach and a veteran of the college coaching ranks, has ties to the MSU staff. McNeill was on MSU head coach Mike Leach's staff at Texas Tech from 2000-09, serving as assistant head coach from 2003-0. When McNeill was the head coach at ECU, Bulldog inside receiver coach Dave Nichol served as his offensive coordinator in 2015.

NOTING THE WOLFPACK

- The Wolfpack's season-opening shutout of USF marked the first time NC State had held an FBS opponent scoreless since 2011.
- In the opener, the Pack had a pair of 100 yard rushers for the first time since 2015. Zonovan Knight and Ricky Person accounted for 352 total yards.
- NC State hasn't played an SEC on the road since 2008 (South Carolina) in what was QB Russell Wilson's first career start.
- The top four CBs on the depth chart have combined to play 99 career collegiate games. That experience will come in handy this week, as Mississippi State led the nation with 50.6 passing attempts per game in 2020 and in their season opening win over Louisiana Tech, had 47 passes compared to 19 runs.
- The Wolfpack returned 20 starters (including 10 on defense) from last season. Every statistical leader (on a per game basis) returned for 2021.
- Wolfpack head coach Dave Doeren ranks second in career victories in NC State history with 56. He boasts the third-longest tenure among all current ACC coaches.
- Nine different players are on 15 different preseason watch lists for national awards (three different players - Grant Gibson, Zonovan Knight and Payton Wilson appear on three lists apiece).
- The Wolfpack coaching staff - head coach Dave Doeren + 10 assistant coaches - boasts 299 years of collective coaching experience.
- After giving up 35.6 points per game in the first seven games of 2020, the defense held the opposition to 20.2 ppg in the last five outings.

TEAM NOTES*DOEREN FINE

Wolfpack head coach Dave Doeren enters his ninth year at NC State with the second-longest tenure of any coach in school history. Only two other ACC coaches - Duke's David Cutcliffe and Clemson's Dabo Swinney - boast longer stints.

That stability at head coach has resulted in unprecedented success for the Wolfpack. Here's some of the highlights from Doeren's stint at NC State:

- Ranks second in school history in career wins (56).
- Boasts second-longest tenure (9th year) in school history.
- Has led the Wolfpack to four of the top 20 win totals in school history.
- The Wolfpack has qualified for six bowls during his tenure.
- His 2020 squad set a school record with seven ACC wins.
- His players have won three national awards (Bradley Chubb won the Nagurski & Hendricks Award in 2017 and Garrett Bradbury won the Rimington Award in 2018).
- Has had 21 players drafted by the NFL, including 14 in the last four drafts.
- Boasts two first-round draft picks.

THE PACK VS. THE SEC

The Pack's trip to Starkville to face Mississippi State will be NC State's first road game at an SEC school since 2008, (a 34-0 loss at South Carolina in QB Russell Wilson's first start).

NC State will be looking for its first victory on the road vs. an SEC school since 1991, when the Pack won 38-21 at South Carolina.

Overall, NC State has lost eight of its last nine games against SEC foes, with a 41-17 win over Vanderbilt in the 2016 Independence Bowl coming as the lone win.

The Mississippi State game marks only the second regular season contest vs. an SEC school in Dave Doeren's nine seasons. The other was in the 2017 season opener, a close 35-28 loss to South Carolina in Charlotte.

EXPERIENCED LEADERS

NC State may have one of the most experienced coaching staffs in the nation for 2021. The Wolfpack's 10 + head coach Dave Doeren combine to boast 299 years of coaching experience. That's one year shy of THREE CENTURIES!

The Wolfpack returns all but one full-time position coaches from a year ago, as assistant head coach/wide receivers coach Joker Phillips is the only new face. But even though the staff is basically the same from a year ago, the entire staff has turned over since 2018.

NEVER FORGET

Although a good number of the players on the 2021 Wolfpack football team weren't even born when the Twin Towers fell, head coach Dave Doeren takes time every year to remind his team about the events of 9/11 and to encourage them to never forget the people who died that tragic day.

Doeren himself certainly has reason to remember September 11, 2001 well. His father, Bill, was scheduled to fly from Boston's Logan Airport to Los Angeles that day - the same route as the two high-jacked flights that flew into the World Trade Center's North and South Towers.

Doeren, who was coaching the defensive secondary at Montana that season, couldn't reach his dad and for several agonizing hours, the family didn't know if Bill had been on one of those planes. Fortunately, his travel plans had changed and he was alive and well.

DEFENSIVE DOMINATION

NC State's defense finished the 2020 season strong. After giving up 35.6 points per game in the first seven games, the Wolfpack D held the opposition to 20.2 ppg in the last five outings (and some of those points came after the NC State offense threw INTs giving the opponent the ball deep in Pack territory and one came on a kickoff return).

That trend continued in the 2021 season opener, as Tony Gibson's defense shut out South Florida. It was NC State's first shutout of an FBS opponent since 2011 (13-0 over UNC). South Florida turned in just 271 yards of total offense for the game and threw three interceptions.

With just one starter lost from last year's defensive unit (Alim McNeill, Detroit Lions), the carryover makes sense. In the last six games (five in 2020 and vs. USF), the Pack has allowed just 16.8 ppg in the last six games.

THE DYNAMIC DUO

Thunder & Lightning? Bam & Boom?

The Wolfpack's dynamic running back duo of Zonovan "Bam" Knight and Ricky Person definitely need a nickname and we're open to suggestions.

In the season opener, Person scored three touchdowns - two rushing and one receiving - gained 105 yards on the ground. Knight rushed for 163 yards and added another score. Between the two of them, they accounted for 352 total yards.

NC State rushed for 293 total yards against USF - the highest mark against an FBS opponent since 2015 (308 vs. UNC) and the most overall since the 2019 season opener (309 vs. WCU).

It marked the first time since Sept. 26, 2015 that two Pack backs crossed the 100-yard mark (Matt Dayes and Shadrach Thornton vs. South Alabama). Jordan Houston also added a rushing score in the contest.

SPLITTING TIME

The Wolfpack's pair of 100-yard rushers in game 1 couldn't have split time any more evenly. Starter Zonovan Knight played 30 snaps and rushed the ball 16 times. Ricky Person, Jr., played in the very first drive and scored the game's first touchdown. He ALSO played 30 snaps and rushed the ball 16 times.

In terms of all-purpose yardage, Knight's 204 yards topped Person's 148, but Person scored three TDs to Knight's one.

LEANING LEFT

The Wolfpack may have its most talented offensive line from side to side this season as any during Dave Doeren's tenure. The starting five - Ickey Ekwonu, Chandler Zavala, Grant Gibson, Dylan McMahon and Bryson Spears - combine to boast 90 career starts (20 of Zavala's came before NC State).

STACKED AT STARTER

With last year not counting against players in terms of eligibility, many schools are returning more starters than a typical year. Even so, the Wolfpack returned an overwhelming number of starters for 2021.

The only four season starters lost from last year's squad were QB Bailey Hockman, TE Cary Angeline, OG Joe Sculthorpe and DT Alim McNeill. That means eight starters on offense, 10 on defense and both specialists returned from an eight-win squad.

In addition to returning starters, the Wolfpack returns almost all of its production. In fact, the statistical leader in every single category (on a per game basis) returned for 2021.

The Wolfpack returns more than 80% of its total production in all but one statistical category.

WATCH OUT FOR THE WOLFPACK

NC State made its presence known on the preseason watch lists for national awards, as nine different players were named to the lists for 15 different awards.

Three members of the squad - C Grant Gibson, RB Zonovan Knight and LB Payton Wilson - each garnered the nods on three different watch lists: the

TALENTED TRANSFERS

The Wolfpack got a nice injection of talent from four-year transfers for 2021, with all four newcomers vying for starting jobs in fall camp and two starting the season opener.

On the defensive side, the secondary added the talents of SAF Cyrus Fagan (FSU) and CB Derrek Pitts (WVU/Marshall) in January, while the d-line added bulk, talent and experience when DL Cory Durden (FSU) transferred in June.

CB Pitts started at corner in the opener, while Fagan came off the bench at strong safety and not only was the team's second-leading tackler, but also picked off a pass. Cory Durden rotated in frequently on the d-line, playing 29 total snaps.

Add DE Daniel Joseph - who transferred from Penn State in 2020 - and there is the possibility of four transfers played significant time on defense in the opener - 113 total snaps.

Over on offense, Chandler Zavala started at left guard for the opener after transferring from Fairmont State in June. He played all but one snap (68) and helped the Pack rushed for 293 yards and post 525 yards of total offense.

READY ROTATION

It's the holy grail of football: depth.

NC State seems to be loaded with it this season, which a strong rotation at almost every position on offense and defense. Although the opener may not be a strong indication of how many players will see action throughout the season (a 45-0 blowout), expect to see more players seeing action - particularly on defense this season.

DC Tony Gibson says that even though he has defenders capable of playing every snap as they did in 2020, that load takes a toll later in the season. Twenty-eight players saw action on defense in the opener, with all but two playing double-digit snaps.

LOADED LINEBACKERS

Name a more talented trio of linebackers in college football than NC State's. We'll wait.

The Wolfpack returns three hard-hitting starters at the linebacker spot, called the "heart of the defense" by DC/LB coach Tony Gibson. The group

Hard. Tough. Together.

When former Wolfpack quarterback Philip Rivers came back to visit his alma mater several years ago, he told the football team that at NC State, "We play hard. We play tough. And we play together."

Those words resonated with head coach Dave Doeren, now in his ninth year leading the NC State football program. Hard and tough is in his DNA and his programs have become known for being gutsy and gritty. But it's the together part that makes the Wolfpack unique.

There is strength in the Pack.

is led by the ACC's leading tackler from 2020: Payton Wilson. A first-team All-ACC choice last season, Wilson has been named to the preseason watch lists for the Butkus, Bednarik and Nagurski awards and ranked second among all returning Power 5 linebackers in tackles at or behind the line of scrimmage in 2020 (25).

The guy who ranked first in that category? That would be the guy next to him: MLB Isaiah Moore (27). Moore was second on the team in tackles last season and ranked 10th in the ACC. He and Wilson are both preseason All-ACC choices by Athlon.

At SLB, Drake Thomas is no slouch either, as seen by his performance in the season opener. Thomas' numbers were slowed by injuries last season (he missed two games) but he still finished the season ranked among the ACC leaders in tackles and tackles for loss and was the leading tackler in the season opener with eight total stops, 1.5 tackles for loss and an interception.

PICK A PECK OF PASSES

After not picking off a pass in the last three games of 2020, the Wolfpack defense made up for it in the season opener, pulling down three interceptions in the 45-0 shutout.

LB Drake Thomas, FS Tanner Ingle and SS Cyrus Fagan each picked off a pass in the opener. It marked the second INT of Thomas' career and the second for Fagan (his first came in 2019 at Florida State). It marked the first pick of Ingle's four-year career.

TURNING THE CORNER

At times in the last two seasons, it seemed that there were more members of NC State's cornerback group in street clothes rather than in uniform. Last season, four different players started at left corner. In 2021, however, the Pack seems to have turned the corner on that trend.

The top four CBs on the depth chart have combined to play 99 career collegiate games. Veterans Chris Ingram (33 games) and Tashaun Smith (18 games) combined to play just one game last season due to injury. Transfer Derrek Pitts combined for 31 career games at West Virginia and then Marshall before starting the season opener for the Pack. Young Shyheim Battle has played in 16 contests.

Ingram started 12 of 13 games in 2018 and returned as a starter in 2019 - earning the nod in the first six games before tearing an ACL in the first half of the Syracuse game. The Salisbury native ended up missing the rest of that season, plus the entire 2020 campaign, but is back for the 2021 season, playing 39 snaps in the opener. That was the first time he had played a game in 693 days (since Oct. 10, 2019).

Smith was also injured vs. Syracuse in 2019, missing the final six games. He entered 2020 as a starter, starting the season opening win vs. Wake Forest, but suffered an injury 56 snaps into the game and missed the next 11 games. He is also back in action and played 26 snaps vs. USF.

While those two were sidelined last season, young Shyheim Battle (just a RS-freshman at the time) ended up getting thrown into the fire, starting all 12 games of the season as well as the 2021 opener.

Throw in transfer Derrek Pitts, a grad transfer who joined the Pack from Marshall in January, and has become one of the team's defensive leaders, and there is strong competition at corner. Pitts started opposite Battle in game 1.

SECOND(ARY) TO NONE

NC State's group of returning and transfer safeties and cornerbacks boast a combined 84 career starts vs. Power 5 teams. That makes them the seventh-most experienced group (in terms of starts) in the nation this season.

In terms of overall starts, the Wolfpack secondary boasts 95 (CB Derrek Pitts had seven starts during his stint at Marshall).

Here's a look at the national leaders in secondary starts vs. the P5 and the Pack's overall experience.

SIX DEGREES OF WOLFPACK NATION: The Wolfpack's experienced coaching staff may not have spent too many years together at NC State, but many members of the staff worked together prior to coming to Raleigh.

But just because these coaches are new to NC State doesn't mean they're new to each other. In fact, eight of the assistant coaches have coached with at least one other assistant coach (or head coach Dave Doeren) at a previous stop. Also, the Pack's Assistant to the Head Coach Ruffin McNeill has previous coaching ties with the current staff.

SPECIAL TRIO

One of the Wolfpack's top weapons heading into 2021 is the return of its talented trio of specialists, who will be in their third year working together. Christopher Dunn handles the placekicks, Trenton Gill is the punter and holder, while Joe Shimko is the guy who delivers the ball from his long snapper spot.

Dunn is the school record holder in field goals (57), Gill enters the 2020 season holding the best career punt average in school history (46.2 ypp) and Shimko ... well there aren't a lot of statistical categories for long snappers but he's snapped the ball for 232 punts or kicks and not a single one has been bobbled.

SUPER SENIORS

With the 2020 season not counting against eligibility, seniors who chose to return for another year have been dubbed 'Super Seniors' by the NCAA.

The Wolfpack will benefit from the talents of several of those veterans, in-

WR Emeka Emezie is in his fifth year playing with the Wolfpack, DE Daniel Joseph is in his second year at NC State, but his sixth year in college after he transferred from Penn State.

And then you've got OT Tyrone Riley, who is back for his seventh year, after missing two seasons with injuries. There are two other sixth-year players on the 2021 squad who are technically not Super Seniors. The 2020 season was the fifth in the careers of WR C.J. Riley, III, and TE Dylan Parham, but each was awarded a sixth year prior to the COVID shutdown. So with last season not counting, they each have two seasons left to play.

IN THE RECORD BOOKS

The Wolfpack returns some of the top players in school history for 2021.

- Senior wide receiver Emeka Emezie ranks fifth in the Wolfpack record books in receptions (174), while his 2,164 receiving yards is the seventh-best mark in school history.
- Sophomore Zonovan Knight currently posts the top yards per carry average in Wolfpack career history (for players with a minimum of 200 attempts): 5.75.
- Graduate student Thayer Thomas posts the seventh-best career punt return average in school history at 10.9 yards per return.
- Kicker Christopher Dunn is NC State career record holder in field goals with 57 and ranks third in school history in career points scored (299).
- Punter Trenton Gill's 46.2 yard career punt average is the best in school history.

THE BREAKFAST CLUB

Every Sunday during the football season, the Wolfpack offensive staff hands out bottles of syrup to his players in commemoration of their pancake blocks from the previous game.

At this point in his career, third-year tackle Ikem "Ickey" Ekwonu would need a LOT of pancakes to use up all the syrup he's received. He has 95 pancakes + 31 knockdowns in his 25 career contests.

GIVE A DAWG A BONE

Defensive coordinator Tony Gibson says he wants 'dawgs' on his defense, aka tenacious, relentless, aggressive players. To commemorate those who play with those characteristics, the defensive staff introduced TAKEAWAY BONE in 2020.

When a Wolfpack defender recovers a fumble or intercepts a pass, the BONE comes out on the sideline. The player who got the takeaway signs it and at the end of the season, whoever has signed it the most times gets to keep the bone.

The bone got a workout in the season opener, as the Pack picked off three passes.

BROTHERS

The Pack has a Thomas brother starting on both sides of the ball: Thayer at WR and Drake at linebacker. Thayer is in his fifth season and boasts 23 career starts, while Drake has 14 in season three. They have started the same game 11 times (once in 2021, eight times in 2020, twice in 2019).

When they started together for the first time versus Louisville on 11/16/2019, it marked the first time a pair of brothers in 12 years. The last time had been when DaJuan and DeAndre Morgan started at SAF and CB in 9/29/2007 vs. Louisville.

The last time brothers had started on opposite sides of the ball was earlier in 2007, when Pat Bedics started at FB and John Bedics started at DT.

Prior to that, you have to go back to 1995 to find a starting set of brothers. That year, brothers Jonathan and Kenneth Redmond started on the offensive line.

INDIVIDUAL NOTES

PAYTON'S PLACE

Watching the Wolfpack defense, you can't help but notice No. 11 all over the field, flying around sideline to sideline. RS-sophomore Payton Wilson, who has been called a throwback to the old school of linebackers, is one of college football's top tacklers, with the stats (if not the recognition) to prove it.

In 2020 - his first season as a full-time starter - Wilson led the ACC in both total tackles (108) and tackles per game (10.8). He finished fourth in the FBS in total tackles, seventh in solo stops (57), and 13th in tackles per game. In the final regular season game, he dislocated both of his shoulders, but continued to pop them back in and play.

Wilson was named an All-ACC first-team selection by both the ACC and AP, and was named ACC Linebacker of the Week three times in 2021, including each of the Pack's last two games of the regular season.

Despite only starting one game in 2019 as a redshirt-freshman, Wilson also led the Pack in tackles (69). Wilson is the first Pack player to lead NC State in tackles in back-to-back seasons since Audie Cole in 2010 and 2011.

Wilson sat out this spring after undergoing surgery on both shoulders following 2021. The ACC Network's Dave O'Brien said of Wilson: "He's the alpha dog. He gets after it on every single play."

LEARY'S ABILITY

They say that sometimes the greatest ability is dependability, and Wolfpack QB Devin Leary was definitely that in his four games played last season.

Even though his 2020 season was cut short due to injury, Leary posted the third-best single-season efficiency mark in school history (148.33), while his 1.82 interception avoidance mark ranks seventh for a single season.

However, Leary's greatest ability during his Wolfpack career so far might be adaptability.

In Leary's first three years with the program, he worked under three different quarterback coaches (Elijah Drinkwitz in 2018, Kurt Roper in 2019 and Tim Beck in 2021), had three different offensive coordinators (Drinkwitz, Deshaun Kitchens and Beck) and learned three different offenses.

In 2020, the word for Leary is stability, as he has settled into Beck's offensive system and gained confidence in his role as the starter.

DUNN DID IT

In his last game of the 2020 regular season, kicker Christopher Dunn connected on the 56th field goal of his career to set a new Wolfpack record. Now with 57 career FGs made, he ranks second among all 2021 ACC players.

A preseason candidate for the Lou Groza Award, Dunn enters his fourth year with the program with several other records in reach. He ranks third in school history in points scored with 299, just 33 points from Niklas Sade's school record. He ranks second in PATs with 128 (out of 128 attempts) - just 39 from the school mark held by Sade.

Dunn's .838 field goal percentage ranks fourth in school history. That mark would likely be higher if he had not missed two FGs in the bowl game while playing with a torn groin muscle.

FEELING ICKEY

When The Athletic's Bruce Feldman did the writeup for his 2021 "Freaks" list, he called NC State's Ikem Ekwonu (better known as Ickey) "the most dominant O-lineman in college football" and said "it's a treat for scouts and coaches to watch him maul opponents."

Ekwonu - who is on the '21 watch lists for the Outland and Lombardi Awards - is truly a force at left tackle for the Pack. He notched 50 pancake blocks and 22 knockdowns last season, earning second-team AP All-ACC honors at guard and tackle.

And he doesn't only boast the brawn, but he's got the brains to match. Ekwonu has been named to the ACC All-Academic team each of the past two years.

In the season opener, the crowd got a shot of Ickey actually feeling kinda Ickey, as social media has enjoyed shots of the pedalite he drank between drives to hydrate making its second appearance.

MR. NICE GUY

Ask any player on the NC State football team who the nicest guy in the program is, and they will undoubtedly have the same answer: Grant Gibson. The Wolfpack's fifth-year center always has a smile on his face, always has a positive word and is just generally a likable guy.

He earned the athletic department's "Heart of the Pack" award, given to the student-athlete who is a good teammate, gives great effort and has an exceptional attitude.

But don't let the niceness fool you. Gibson is a beast on the field. The former defensive lineman is on the preseason watch lists for the Outland Trophy, the Rimington Trophy and the Lombardi Award. ESPN ranked him the third-best returning interior lineman in the country and the Sporting News and PFF named him a second-team preseason All-American.

"Gibby" allowed just four pressures on 443 pass block snaps in 2020 (the only center in the ACC with a better mark played half as many snaps as his 857). Pro Football Focus named him the ninth-best center in the country following the season.

If you've ever watched RB Zonovan Knight play football, you would think his nickname "Bam" came from his explosive ability on the field.

The third-year player boasts the top career yards per carry average in school history (5.75) and his 26.5 yards per kick return is second in the record books. He's led the team in rushing the past two seasons - even though he's come off the bench - and he's on the preseason watch lists for three national awards: the Doak Walker, Maxwell and Paul Hornung.

But the nickname was actually given to him as a toddler. When young Knight was put in a playpen, he constantly banged his toys on the side, prompting an uncle to say "All you hear from him is 'Bam! Bam!' The nickname - although it was later shortened - stuck.

EVERY GAME EMEZIE

One of the Wolfpack's Super Seniors for 2021, wideout Emeka Emezie enters his final campaign ranked fifth in school history with 174 career receptions, seventh in receiving yards (2,164) and 12th in TD catches (13).

He has caught a pass in 33 straight games, which ranks as the fifth-longest streak in the nation and the fifth longest streak in school history.

SUPER DUPER SENIOR

Back to Tyrone Riley - the guy in his seventh year on the team.

Riley joined the Pack as a defensive end in 2015, redshirting that season. In 2016, while playing on defense he tore his bicep and missed time. He played in all 13 games - mainly on special teams - in 2017, blocking a punt against Boston College. In 2018, he underwent shoulder surgery and missed spring drills, then had a bout of pneumonia in preseason camp, but ended up playing in 13 games and starting two at offensive tackle.

He entered 2019 preseason camp as the probable starter at left tackle, but suffered a season-ending football injury on the second day of practice and missed the entire season after undergoing surgery. He came back strong in 2020, starting the first five games of the season before a season-ending foot injury against Duke.

Before his final season at NC State is over, Riley will be 25 years old. To put it in perspective, fellow offensive lineman Lyndon Cooper, who joined the Wolfpack in January, was 11 years old when Riley started at NC State. Nyheim Hines, who was in the same recruiting class with Riley, will play his fourth NFL season in 2021-22!

POSITIONLESS PENNIX

Although he used to be listed as a running back on the roster, expect to see Trent Pennix in various spots all over the field in 2021. His versatility in his fourth season of action brings a new dynamic to the Pack attack.

Pennix plays the H-back role made popular by former Pack utility man Jaylen Samuels (now with the Pittsburgh Steelers). Samuels, who ended up setting the school record for receptions during his career (2014-17) actually spoke with Pennix during the offseason, giving him advice about learning from both positions.

Pennix has been active in the passing game throughout his career, with all of his touchdowns coming on receptions.

MORE ON VERSATILITY

The Pack's versatility extends to the offensive line as well. Ikem 'Ickey' Ekwonu started all 12 games last year, but they came at two different positions - the first four games at left guard and then at left tackle for the last eight games. Just a season removed from starting the final seven games as a true freshman at left tackle in 2019, he ended up earning second-team All-ACC honors at both spots in 2020.

The swiss-army-knife of the offensive line unit is Bryson Spears, who has 13 starts over the last two seasons at three different positions on the O-Line (11 at right tackle, 1 at left guard and 1 at right guard).

NO. 1

Since 2014, NC State head coach Dave Doeren has honored a member of the Wolfpack squad by giving them the No. 1 jersey. Last season, linebacker Isaiah Moore was awarded that special number and he will wear it again in 2021.

Moore was only the second underclassman to earn the privilege (Jaylen Samuels wore the No. 1 jersey as a junior and senior). He returns in 2021 for this fourth year as a starter and was the second-leading tackler on the team last season.

Moore has also been the de facto leader of the team's involvement in the #PackUnited movement, which stands out against racial violence and social justice.

#PACKUNITED

#PackUnited, a student-led initiative through the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, focuses on denouncing racism and police brutality while also promoting racial unity. LB Isaiah Moore and C Grant Gibson were driving forces behind the movement's inception and it's growth since the spring of 2021.

#PackUnited encourages NC State's student-athletes to use their platform to push for change and is focused on three platforms: awareness, action, and education.

Awareness: Increasing awareness of racial injustice and racial inequity, through education and social media campaigns that tell the stories of our Black student athletes as well as Black community members.

Education: Teaming with local and community resources to educate and better articulate the narratives surrounding social injustice in black communities.

Action: Taking the initiative as student-athletes to step up and commit to improving the community through continued service for those in need.

#DLU

Heading into the 2021 season, eight former Wolfpack defensive linemen are currently on NFL squads. Seven have been drafted over the last four years, including three in the last two NFL Drafts.

Highlighting the group are the four d-linemen drafted in 2018 - all now entering their fourth NFL seasons. Bradley Chubb made his first Pro Bowl last season with the Denver Broncos, Justin Jones is a projected starter for the L.A. Chargers, while B.J. Hill (N.Y. Giants) and Kentavious Street (San Francisco 49ers) look to provide depth with their squads.

The 2020 draft saw Larrell Murchison selected by the Tennessee Titans and James Smith-Williams by the Washington Football Team. Alim McNeill was a third-round selection by the Detroit Lions this past spring and could end up starting.

Although he went undrafted in 2015, T.Y. McGill is entering his seventh NFL season and his second with the Philadelphia Eagles.

An additional defensive lineman moved over to the offensive line once he made it to the NFL. J.R. Sweezy played on the defensive side of the ball for the Pack from 2009-11, but was drafted by the Seattle Seahawks as a guard on offense.

QUICK HITTERS

- The Pack has a Thomas brother starting on both sides of the ball: Thayer at WR and Drake at linebacker. They are the first brothers to start at the same time since DaJuan and DeAndre Morgan started at SAF and CB in 2007.
- Graduate transfer Chandler Zavala is the son of Demetrio Zavala, a chef and “Chopped” Grand Champion on the Food Network. (Rumor has it that Chef Zavala is planning to cook for the entire team at some point this season).
- LB Levi Jones blocked three kicks last season - the third-highest mark in school history.
- Payton Wilson’s brother Bryse is a pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates (formerly the Atlanta Braves).
- LT Ikem “Ickey” Ekwonu’s twin brother Osita is a linebacker at Notre Dame. His sister, Adaora, is enrolled in the UChicago Pritzker School of Medicine and his older brother, Chike, is a 2D animator in Atlanta.
- Backup QB Ben Finley is the younger brother of Ryan Finley, who started at quarterback at NC State from 2016-18 and ranks second in school history with 10,505 career passing yards.
- Grant Gibson’s grandfather, Harvey Gantt, was the first black student to attend Clemson University and the first black mayor of Charlotte. The Gantt Center for African-American Arts+Culture is named in his honor. His mother Sonja was a long-time news anchor, working at WGN in Chicago and WCNC in Charlotte.
- During the COVID shutdown in 2020, P Trenton Gill raised over $8,000 to purchase 1,000 meals for needy families in his hometown of Hillsborough, N.C. By doing so, he also helped supply business for eight restaurants in his hometown.
- Daniel Joseph was the fourth-pick in the 2021 CFL Draft (BC Lions).
- TE Dylan Parham has added 55 lbs. to his frame since he came to NC State as a quarterback in 2016.
- OT Tyrone Riley is in his seventh season with the program. He was awarded a sixth year of eligibility due to injuries, then got another year because of COVID.
- Identical twins Cedd and Fred Seabrough are the same height, same weight, play the same position and wear jersey numbers 47 and 48 respectively.
- Wolfpack running back Zonovan Knight earned his nickname at an early age. When left in a playpen, he would constantly bang his toys, prompting his uncle to remark ‘All I hear is ‘Bam! Bam!’” The nickname “Bam Bam” stuck and was later shortened to Bam.
- Starting nose tackle C.J. Clark is the cousin of former Pack DT B.J. Hill - now with the New York Giants.
- When CB Derrek (pronounced dehr EEK) Pitts was six years old, playing for the South Dekalb Saints, a midget league team in Atlanta, he took his first handoff handoff and ran nearly 60 yards in the wrong direction before spiking the ball in the end zone and looking for teammates to celebrate with. Upon realizing his mistake, he promptly picked the ball up and weaved his way 100 yards the other way for a real score.

CARTER-FINLEY STADIUM

One of the landmarks of North Carolina's capital city, Carter-Finley Stadium has gained a national reputation as being one of the toughest places to play. The home of the Wolfpack, which celebrated its 50th birthday in 2016, boasts 57,600 permanent seats and is surrounded by acres of convenient parking.

The playing surface at Carter-Finley Stadium was reconstructed in 2009. Named for Wolfpack alumnus Wayne T. Day in 2002, it is built to USGA specifications for a golf green.

The south end zone is the home of the 103,254 square-foot Murphy Center, which is the football team's home for training and preparation.

NC State practices just a stone's throw away at the Wolfpack Practice Complex and the mammoth Close-King Indoor Practice Facility. The outdoor complex covers seven acres and boasts three full fields, a training room, restrooms and a video/coaching tower. The indoor facility boasts a full, 120-yard football field and roof height sufficient for kicking game, with suspended goal posts, additional training and conditioning space beyond both end zones

The A.E. Finley Fieldhouse in the north end zone houses two spacious, state-of-the-art locker rooms that can be divided into smaller locker rooms when NC State plays host to high school championship games. There are also halftime locker room areas for the cheerleaders, the dance team, game referees and coaches.
