MEDIA INFORMATION

The 2009-10 Mississippi State Men's Basketball Media Guide has been prepared to assist media members in their coverage of the Bulldogs. It is our hope that most of your questions will be answered on the pages of this guide. However, should you desire additional information or assistance, please contact the MSU Athletic Media Relations at 662-325-3595.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS

Any credential request by accredited outlets should be made in writing and submitted on company letterhead to Gregg Ellis by email (gellis@athletics.msstate.edu) or fax (662-325-3654).

Priority for the issuance of credentials will be given to daily newspapers, radio stations and television stations that cover Mississippi State or MSU's game-day opponent on a regular basis. Due to space limitations, weekly publications, non-broadcasting radio representatives and on-line services may not be granted credentials. Student publications, radio stations and web sites that do not regularly cover MSU or its game-day opponent may be limited to one working media credential (press or photo), if applicable.

MEDIA WILL CALL

Credentials for MSU home basketball games will be left at the main back entrance of Humphrey Coliseum or with the visiting team's SID.

MEDIA PARKING

A limited amount of parking spaces reserved for the media are available around the exterior of Humphrey Coliseum. Media members may consult the back of their media parking pass for diagrammed instructions regarding media parking locations.

TELEPHONES, WIRELESS AND ETHERNET USE

A limited number of telephones are available for media use before, during and after basketball games on a first-come, first-served basis in the Media Work Room, located just to the left upon entering the main back entrance of Humphrey Coliseum through. In addition, wireless service, which will require a password, is available.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS

In most cases, players will be available before practices during the course of the 2009-10 basketball season. All media members are encouraged to contact Gregg Ellis of the Mississippi State Athletic Media Relations Office by e-mail (gellis@athletics.msstate.edu) or phone (662-325-3595) for player interview requests and practice times throughout the season. Any player interviews conducted prior to daily practices need to be concluded 30 minutes before the start of practice.

Through MSU Athletic Media Relations, Bulldog players will be asked to contact media members by phone for pre-arranged interviews at a mutually agreeable time.

HEAD COACH INTERVIEWS

Media members needing to conduct interviews with Mississippi State head basketball coach Rick Stansbury should contact Gregg Ellis of the Mississippi State Athletic Media Relations Office by telephone (662-325-3595) or via e-mail (gellis@athletics.msstate.edu).

Telephone interviews with Rick Stansbury are best conducted weekdays prior to 11:00 a.m. CT. Each Monday during the SEC slate, Stansbury, along with selected players, will have an on-campus press conference at 2 p.m.

POST-GAME INTERVIEWS

Located just to the left (at the bottom of the back stairwell) when entering the Humphrey Coliseum back entrance via the lower parking lot area, the Babe McCarthy Room will serve as the media work room and post-game press conference for MSU coach Rick Stansbury and selected players throughout the 2009-10 basketball season. MSU athletic media relations personnel will be on hand to assist media members with specific post-game player interview requests.

Opponent sports information personnel will coordinate the visiting team's post-game player interviews either inside or outside the visiting team's locker room.

GAME STATISTICS

Official NCAA boxscores and play-by-play will be handed out at press row and in the media work room. Final game books, including boxscores, play-by-plays, shot charts and post-game quotes and notes, will be available following each game.

SATELLITE UPLINKS

The MSU Television Center will uplink game highlights and post-game interviews following all home games during the 2009-10 season. Please contact Bennie Ashford of the MSU Television Center (662-325-1332 or bashford@utc.msstate.edu) for specific details.

SEC TELECONFERENCE

Once SEC play starts, all 12 of the league's coaches will participate in a conference-wide teleconference twice weekly (every Monday and Thursday) beginning in January and running through the conference's regular season. The teleconferences will be coordinated through the SEC Media Relations Office. Following a brief introduction, each coach will answer questions from the media for seven minutes. Media members should contact SEC Associate Media Relations Director Craig Pinkerton at the league office (205-458-3038 or cpinkerton@sec.org) for additional information.

This page is dedicated to the memory of Don Foster, a Mississippi State graduate and longtime sportswriter at the Starkville Daily News. Don, who passed away this past June, covered the Bulldogs in various capacities for nearly 40 years.

The veteran and legendary tandem of Jack Cristil (right) and Jim Ellis begin their 27th season of broadcasting Bulldog Basketball together on the MSU Radio Network.

From the opening tip-off to the final buzzer, the color and excitement that is Mississippi State basketball fills the airwaves across the Mid-South again this season thanks to the MSU Basketball Radio Network. Linking nearly 30 radio stations, the satellite-fed broadcast signal blankets the Magnolia State. Network programming is distributed and coordinated through the facilities of Learfield Sports, Inc., headquartered in Jefferson City, Mo.

During the 2009-10 Mississippi State sports season, WFCA-FM (107.9), a 100,000-watt station located in French Camp, Miss., will again serve as the flagship station for the Bulldog Radio Network. The station, which blankets most of the north central portion of the state, is scheduled to air every Bulldog basketball game this season. In addition to having aired all MSU football games in the fall, WFCA is also slated to carry most of the women's basketball games this year as well as the majority of the 2010 Mississippi State baseball slate.

Again this season, each basketball broadcast will tip off with an informative half-hour pre-game show in which 12th-year head basketball coach Rick Stansbury previews the upcoming opponent. A live post-game report featuring MSU's cage boss will round out the gameday programming.

The knowledgeable broadcasting tandem of Jack Cristil and Jim Ellis will once again be behind the microphones this season describing all of the play-by-play action.

The dean of SEC sportscasters, the personable Jack Cristil begins his 53rd season of handling the play-by-play duties for Bulldog basketball. The Memphis, Tenn., native recently completed his 57th season of broadcasting Mississippi State football since being hired by legendary MSU athletic director C.R. "Dudy" Noble in the summer of 1953.

A veteran of more than 2,000 MSU football and basketball broadcasts, Cristil is one of the South's most distinguished and most honored sports broadcasters, having been chosen by his peers in the broadcasting industry as the "Outstanding Sportscaster in Mississippi" a record 21 times during his illustrious career. In 1992, Cristil became the first non-athlete/non-athletic administrator to be inducted into the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame, in addition to receiving the inaugural Ronald Reagan Lifetime Achievement Award presented by the National Association of Sportscasters and Sportswriters. In 1997, he was honored by the College Football Hall of Fame as the second recipient of the coveted Chris Schenkel Award for broadcasting excellence. Cristil was also inducted into the Mississippi State University Sports Hall of Fame in 2003, while most recently having been honored in 2004 with the prestigious Lindsey Nelson Award, given annually to one of the nation's premier sports broadcasters.

Cristil has handled the play-by-play for Mississippi State basketball since 1957-58, having been associated with 11 head football coaches and eight head men's basketball mentors through the years at MSU.

Beginning his 27th year with the MSU Basketball Radio Network, color analyst Jim Ellis will again team with Cristil this basketball season to form one of the finest broadcasting tandems in the SEC. Ellis was named the "Outstanding Broadcaster in Mississippi" in both 2002 and 1999. In 2007, he was honored by the Mississippi Chapter of the National Football Hall of Fame for his contributions to amateur football. A native of West Point, Miss., Ellis attends to the behind-the-scenes technical aspects of the operation that keep the broadcasts on the air, in addition to his on-air duties as the Bulldogs' insightful color commentator.

Ellis, a 1969 Mississippi State alumnus, is probably best known as the ever-popular "Voice of the Baseball Bulldogs," serving as the producer-director of one of the nation's largest collegiate baseball radio networks for the past 31 years. In addition to teaming with Cristil on the MSU football and men's basketball radio broadcasts, Ellis in the past handled play-by-play chores for the Lady Bulldog basketball team, a job that now belongs to Bart Gregory. During his stint at his alma mater, Ellis has also handled the play-by-play basketball and football duties for various national and regional TV networks.

Starkville, Mississippi, is the easy answer for "outside the box" business expansion and relocation opportunities. Our growing economy offers state-of-the-art technology and strong business and industry support. First-class shopping, dining, golfing and cultural opportunities offer life and play from a different angle. Adjacent to Mississippi State University and abundant in southern charm, Starkville offers big city resources with affordable hometown hospitality. If you're ready to experience life, work and play from a different angle, the answer is clear: Starkville, Mississippi.

CITY BACKGROUND

Founded in 1831 under the name "Boardtown," Starkville was incorporated and received its charter in 1837. Renamed for General John Stark, a Revolutionary War hero, Starkville is a thriving community located in the heart of Mississippi, easily accessible to metropolitan areas, such as Jackson, Birmingham and Memphis - and just 25 minutes from the Natchez Trace Parkway.

MISSISSIPPI STATE UNIVERSITY

A college town for more than a century, Starkville is surrounded by the energy and enthusiasm of the "People's University." Boasting an enrollment in excess of 18,000 students, Mississippi State University is the largest university in the state. MSU serves up exciting SEC sports action with its championship football, basketball and baseball teams. The university is also a national leader in veterinary medicine, agricultural research and engineering. Plus, MSU is home to both the highly acclaimed Lyceum Series and the Mississippi Piano Showcase, attracting the best cultural talent from around the world.

When you visit the campus, be sure to stop at the John Grisham Room at the Mitchell Memorial Library where America's best-selling author and 1977 MSU alum exhibits a personal collection of papers and publications. While at the library, you can also visit the Charles H. Templeton Sr. Music Museum, which showcases over 22,000 pieces of sheet music, records and musical instruments from the 1890s Ragtime Era.

Don't miss the other complimentary tours available at MSU where visitors may watch how the university's famous Edam cheese is made, taste MSU wine, juice and jellies that are produced from muscadine grapes.

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

Spectacular natural scenery flourishes every season in our part of the world. A year-round temperate climate makes Starkville an excellent destination for outdoor enthusiasts. Offering visitors a national wildlife refuge for hunting, picnicking, bird-watching, and hiking - as well as plentiful lakes for fishing - Starkville can't be beat.

Those who have discovered the 48,000-acre Noxubee National Wildlife Refuge know that it is an outdoor paradise, and a place where America's symbol of freedom, the bald eagle, as well as alligators, red cockaded woodpeckers, bobcats and wild turkeys call home.

Nearby are the John W. Starr Memorial Forest, an 8,200-acre natural woodlands park, and the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, offering 1,000 miles of shoreline and 110,000 acres of land and water for play.

RICH HISTORY

Learn about Starkville's past with a visit to the Oktibbeha County Heritage Museum, where local artifacts are on display in a restored GM&O Railroad Depot. Enjoy a leisurely walking tour of one of Starkville's five historic districts. Make sure to explore the Cotton District, a thriving example of the architectural theory of "new urbanism." This revived district, which boasts the charm of Old Charleston or the French Quarter in New Orleans, once housed local cotton mill workers.

HOSPITALITY

Starkville is proud of its Southern hospitality, and our dining and lodging options are no exception. With more than 50 restaurants offering everything from down-home cooking and mouth-watering barbecue to fine dining and exotic cuisine, there is something to please every palette. Our lodging options range from national hotel chains to a full-service historic hotel, perfect for families or romantic weekend getaways.

HISTORIC LODGING

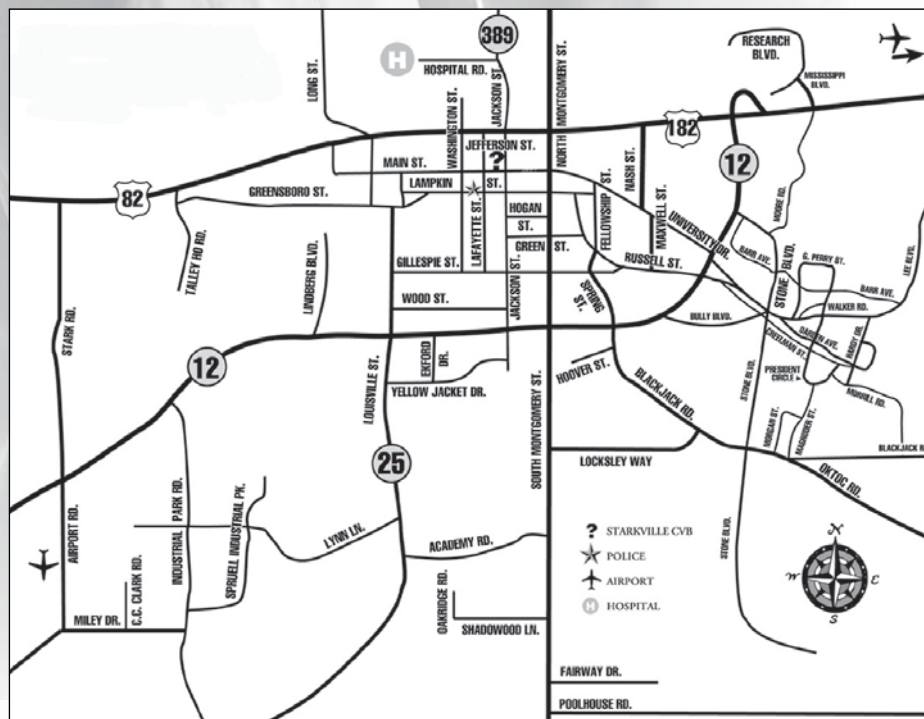

The historic Hotel Chester, a full-service hotel located in downtown Starkville, has been newly renovated with accommodations that take you back into time.

GOLFING

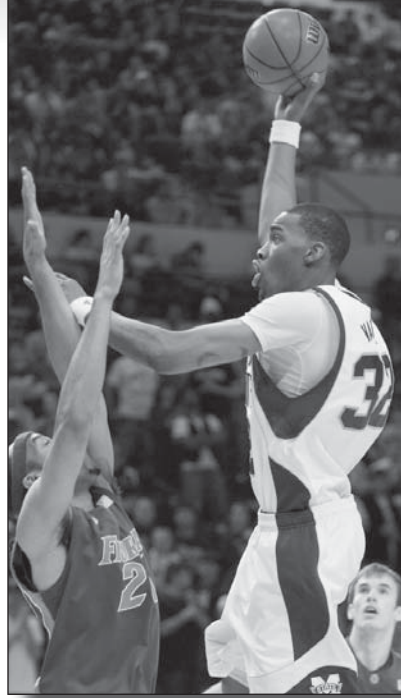

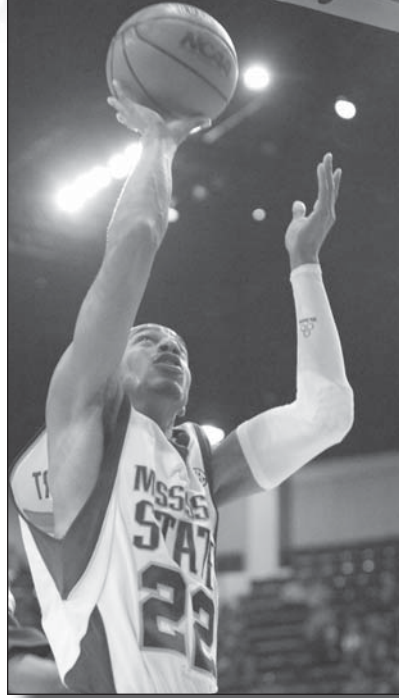

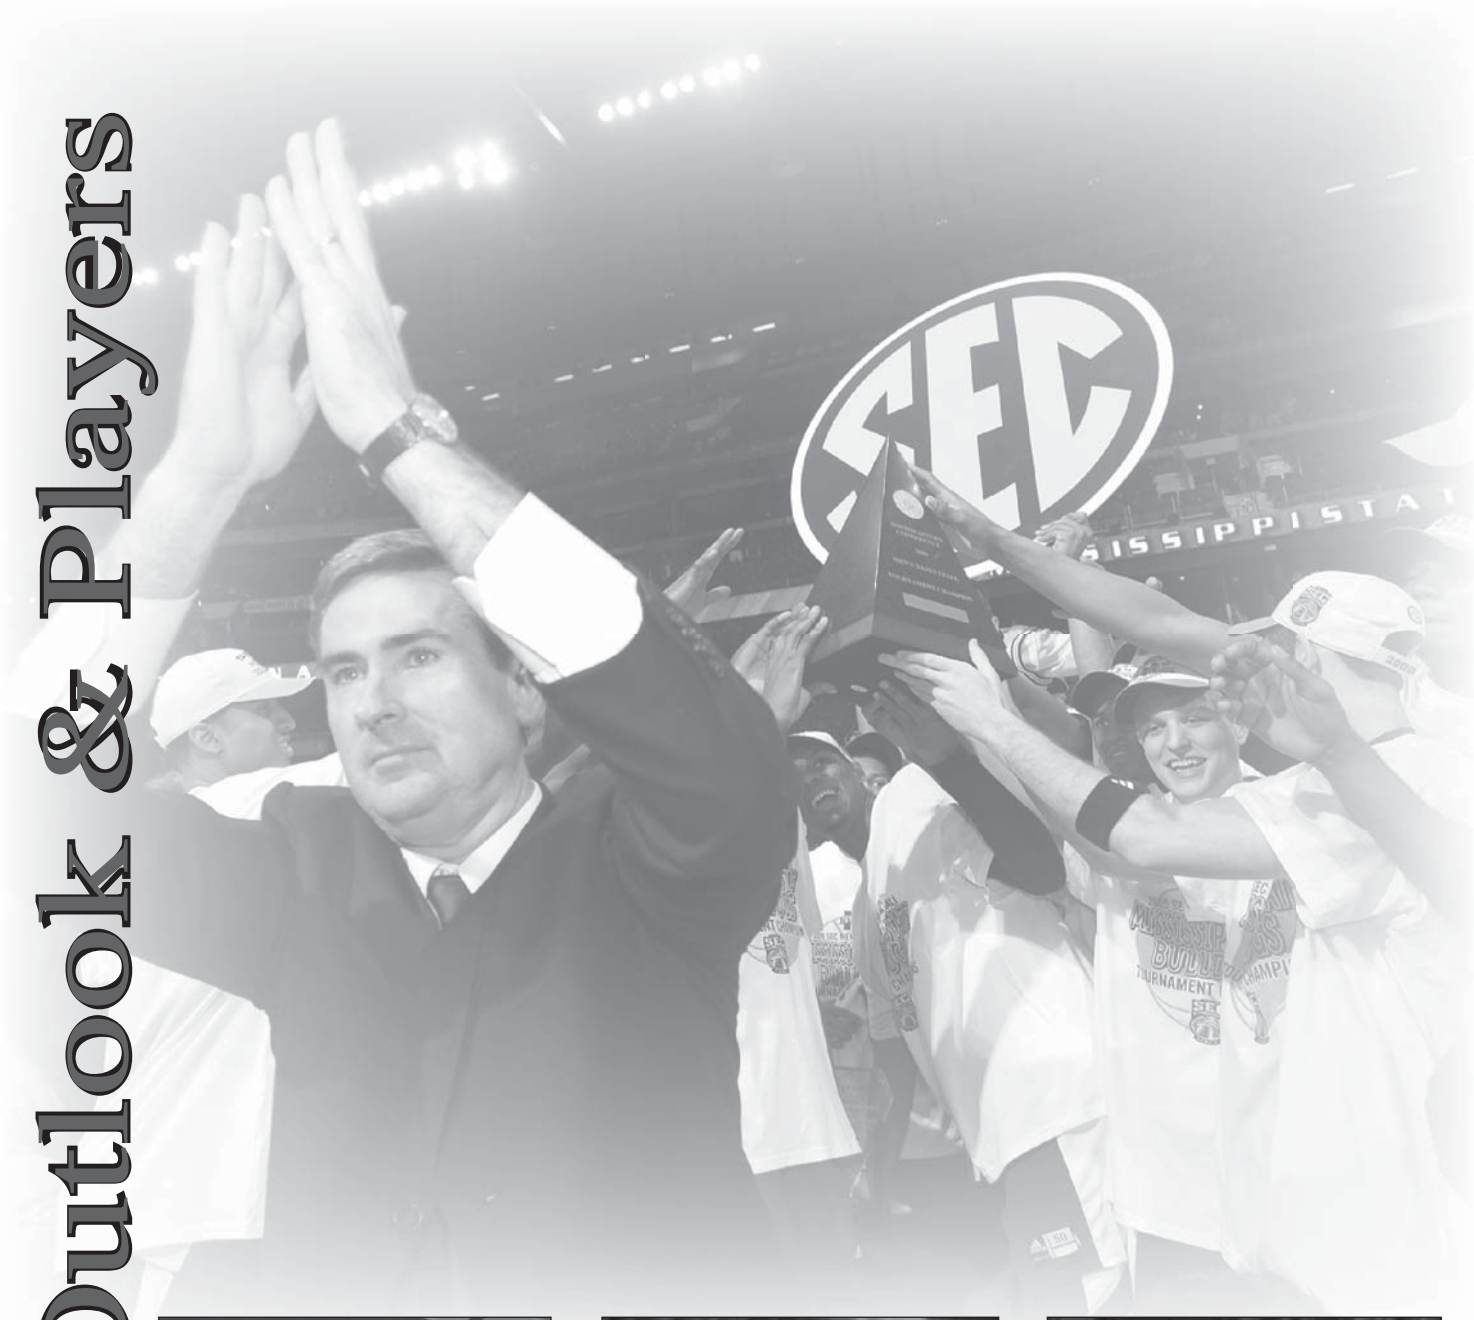

MSU's public golf course is rated by Golf Digest as one of the nation's "Best Places to Play." Located minutes from Starkville is the Old Waverly Golf Club - the site of the 1999 U.S. LPGA Women's Open Championship - which is named "One of the Top 100 Courses in the Nation" by Golf Digest.

ENTERTAINMENT

Starkville offers big-city entertainment choices as well. One of the smallest towns in the nation that touts a symphony orchestra and chorus, Starkville also actively supports a community theater. Top-name entertainers and speakers are brought to town through the Lyceum and LECTERN Series, as well as through Music Maker Productions. The Blackfriars Drama Society, the Madrigal Singers, art exhibits, award-winning Mississippi State faculty concerts, as well as exciting year-round events, such as rodeos and horse shows at the Mississippi Horse Park, all add to the numerous cultural activities available.

2009-10 Outlook & Players

CHAMPIONSHIP MENTALITY AT MISSISSIPPI STATE

Not until a magical four-game run that culminated with the SEC Tournament title did anyone outside the city limits of Starkville really begin to take notice.

But when Mississippi State survived an epic 64-61 battle against Tennessee on national television in Tampa to grab yet another championship under the tutelage of Rick Stansbury, the second-longest tenured coach in the Southeastern Conference, all of a sudden the Bulldogs became the media darlings for the 2009-10 campaign with Top 25 projections and talk of more league crowns and a deep run in the "Big Dance."

And who's to argue with the prognosticators, especially considering all the necessary ingredients are in place to turn the hype into reality.

For starters, Stansbury has an experience-laden squad that returns an intact lineup from last year's 23-13 tilt that resulted in the program's 10th NCAA Tournament bid.

How experienced, you ask?

Just look at the numbers.

Mississippi State returns 96.9 percent of its scoring, 95.7 percent of its rebounding and 96.1 percent of its minutes logged.

Oh, and don't forget the depth. Five of the Bulldogs' first six players off the bench return.

These are the luxuries Stansbury hasn't enjoyed since the 2003-04 campaign when his team last won the overall SEC regular-season title and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

"This time of the year compared to this time last year there's not so many unknowns," acknowledged Stansbury, whose 231 wins are the most in program history. "And we have some different flexibility to play different people different ways, which is good."

Yet, despite the flexibility and various combinations the 12th-year coach is afforded, it's the return of forward Jarvis Varnado, one of the nation's premiere players, that has this pristine and rolling campus buzzing.

The 6-foot-9 senior led the Bulldogs with a 12.9 scoring clip in 2009 and garnered national attention by leading the country with 170 blocked shots, both a school and SEC single-season record. He enters his final season wearing the Maroon & White needing just 18 more rejections to tie Shaquille O'Neal's league mark of 412 and only 141 more to tie the NCAA record of 535 set by former Louisiana-Monroe standout Wojciech Mydra.

"SWAT" COMES BACK

But back in May, it was questionable whether those records would be shattered. Dreams of playing in the NBA weighed heavily on Varnado's mind, but after briefly testing the waters and seeking advice from numerous sources, he felt returning for his senior season would enhance his first-round draft status for the summer of 2010.

And with that much-welcomed decision from the fans to return, the hype magnified to levels this program hasn't witnessed in several years.

"He's got a chance to achieve something that's never been done before," Stansbury said of his star forward. "Breaking an NCAA record is special."

The key, though, for MSU is for even more points and rebounds for Varnado, who led MSU with a 12.9 scoring clip a year ago to go along with his 8.8 rebounds.

The goal, at least from the coaches'

Senior co-captain Jarvis Varnado (top) needs just 142 more blocks to own the NCAA career record, while fellow senior and co-captain Barry Stewart is 57 made 3-pointers shy of the MSU career record.

DECADE OF CHAMPIONS AT MISSISSIPPI STATE

standpoint, is to average a double-double.

Yet, despite all of Varnado's accolades, including All-SEC honors, defensive player of the year and SEC Tournament MVP, he isn't a one-man show.

In fact, it's a cast loaded with talent, starting with senior guard Barry Stewart, who ranks 21st on the school's scoring list with 1,178 points and is just 56 3-pointers shy of tying Darryl Wilson's career mark of 258. Last year he drained 72, the fifth-highest in a single season at MSU.

Then there's point guard Dee Bost, whose 10.9 points per outing were the fourth-highest on the team. Along the way, the Concord, N.C., product set freshman records in assists (156), free throws made (122) and free throws attempted (170), while making his way to second in the charts with 52 steals and 161 3-pointers attempted.

3-POINT ASSASSINS

And don't forget junior guards Ravarn Johnson and Phil Turner.

As one of the top 3-point shooters in the SEC, Johnson drained 83 to become only the second player in school history to make 80 or more in a single season, and he was instrumental in MSU connecting on a school-record 296. Turner also did his part, hitting 46. In fact, it was Turner's trey with 1:31 left against the Vols that gave the Bulldogs the lead for good.

But last year's run and the hope for this season doesn't stop with the starters.

Mississippi State returns 96.9 percent of its scoring, 95.7 percent of its rebounding and 96.1 percent of its minutes logged.

Thanks to the play of reserves Kodi Augustus, Twany Beckham, Riley Benock, Elgin Bailey and Romero Osby, there was very little drop off when the starters left the floor for a breather.

And as the year progressed, so did their play.

Beckham proved to be an invaluable backup at the point, while Augustus became a duel threat inside and out.

However, Beckham's sophomore campaign ended before it ever started.

Back in September, doctors discovered numerous bone spurs in both hips that needed to be removed.

The two surgeries meant he was done for the year.

Sure. That leaves a void in the backcourt depth, but that doesn't mean there aren't answers.

And the answer is having the versatile Stewart also serve as the backup to Bost.

AUGUSTUS COMES ON STRONG

As for Augustus, he became so invaluable down the stretch that against Washington in the NCAA Tournament, CBS tabbed him as the Chevrolet Player of the Game.

AT MISSISSIPPI STATE

His dominant play was huge considering the injury Bailey suffered.

After all, he was making a bid for most improved player honors when the ankle injury in the home finale against Florida sidelined him for the remainder of the season.

Still, if he continues the pace he established prior to the injury, his presence could give the Bulldogs one of the deepest frontcourts in the nation.

But the excitement doesn't stop with the veterans.

Stansbury signed one of the most highly-regarded recruiting classes in school history, one that features the heralded likes of Renardo Sidney, John Riek, Shaun Smith and Wendell Lewis.

Experts say Sidney and Riek are already primed for the NBA and that their presence at MSU could be the final piece of the puzzle to push the Bulldogs deep into the NCAA Tournament.

At the same time, Stansbury is quick to add Lewis will be just as valuable inside, while Smith is the type of guard that could play any position in the backcourt.

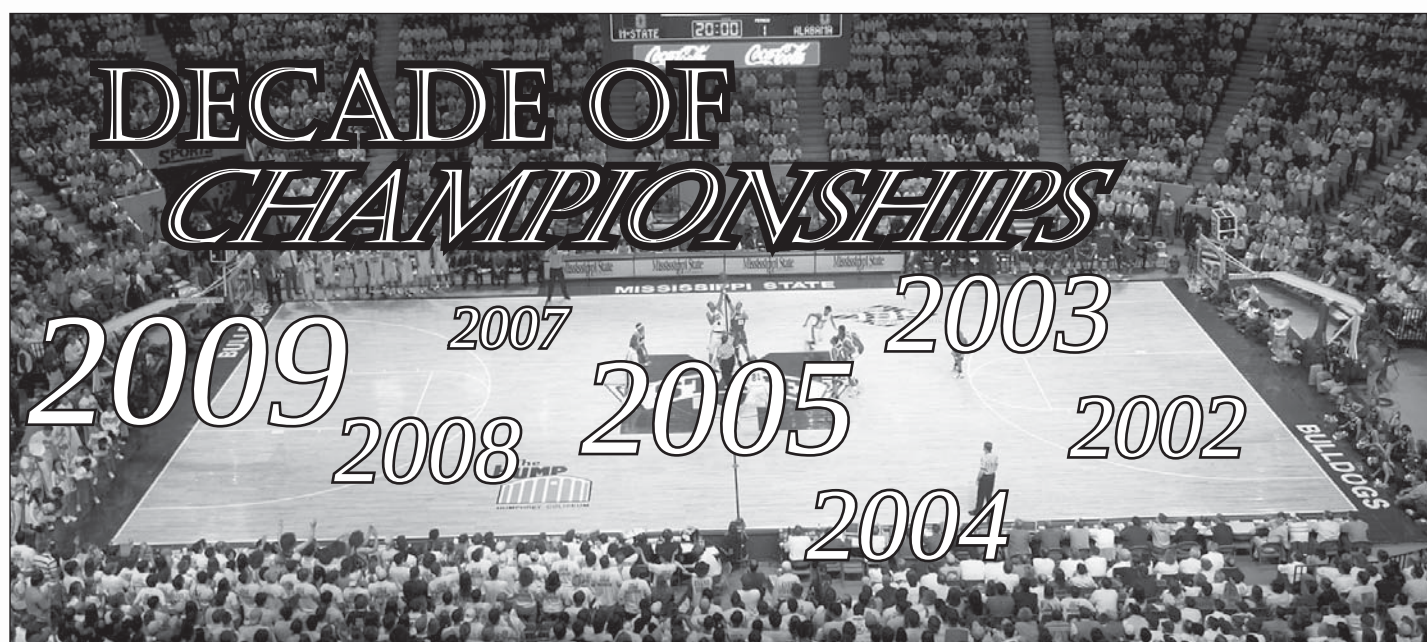

Expectations? Yes, they are high. But it's those expectations this program is glad to welcome each and every year.

"Our goal every year is to win championships," Stansbury.

That's not just talk. He's got the rings to prove it.

With the aid of assistants Phil Cunningham, Robert Kirby, Marcus Grant and Talvis Franklin, MSU head coach Rick Stansbury (sitting) has won a school record 231 games entering his 12th year on the Bulldogs' bench.

- ✓ Scoring Average: 10.9, 8th
- ✓ Assists: 156, 1st
- ✓ 3-pointers made: 54, 3rd
- ✓ 3-pointers attempted: 161, 2nd

- ✓ Free throws made: 122, 1st
- ✓ Free throws attempted: 170, 1st
- ✓ Minutes average: 31.6, 6th

PERCENTAGE TELLS THE STORY

●To look at the success, or the lack thereof, Mississippi State had, just look at shooting percentages. In games the Bulldogs shot 45 percent or better, they were 16-2. But when they shot less than 45 percent, they were 7-11.

SETTING A SCHOOL RECORD

●Against Alabama, MSU attempted 39 3-pointers, breaking the school-record set against Nicolls State (11-21-04) and Auburn (2-14-09). On the year, MSU attempted a school-record 819.

KNOCKING DOWN THE 3S

●If there's one team that enjoyed success beyond the arc last year, it was Mississippi State. MSU set a single-game school record with 16 against Arkansas and set a season record with 296.

VARNADO'S BLOCK PARTY

●Does junior forward Jarvis Varnado have a shot at the NCAA blocked shots record owned by Wojciech Mydra (535) of Louisiana-Monroe set from 1998-2002? Yes he does. Varnado has 394 for his career, which means he's 141 shy of tying the mark. To reach 535, he needs to average 4.4 blocks an outing based on the notion he'll see action in a minimum of 32 more games.

AS THE MEN DO, SO DO THE WOMEN

●While the Mississippi State men led the SEC and were second in the nation in blocked shots (7.5) per outing, the Lady Bulldogs (6.2) finished tops in the SEC and fifth nationally. Jarvis Varnado led the nation with 170 and Lady Bulldog standout Chanel Mokango was ninth with 97. Mississippi State was the only BCS school where both the men and the women led their conference in blocked shots.

MAKING THE 3S OFF THE COURT

●This past semester, MSU not only excelled on the court, they put up impressive numbers in the classroom, too. The 16 players on the roster posted an overall GPA of 2.68, the second-highest average in two years. Seven players finished with a GPA of 3.0 or better, while two had a 4.0.

BULLDOGS CONCLUDE YEAR WITH ANOTHER NCAA APPEARANCE

Mississippi State wrapped up yet another successful campaign on the hardwood with a 23-13 ledger and the school's 10th trip to the NCAA Tournament. Yet, it's what the Bulldogs achieved in Tampa, Fla., in mid-March that will forever be engrained in the minds of the fans — claiming the program's third SEC Tournament championship. En route to the title run, MSU knocked off Eastern Division co-champs Tennessee and Florida and overall SEC champion LSU to punch its ticket to the "Big Dance," the sixth with Rick Stansbury at the helm.

The Bulldogs also won 20-plus games for the 14th time in school history, including eight under Stansbury. And all of this was achieved, mind you, without a single senior in the starting lineup. Already, most national pundits have MSU in their 2009-10 pre-season Top 25.

BULLDOGS PROVE TO BE TRUE ROAD WARRIORS

Entering the 2009-10 campaign, no team in the SEC's Western Division has enjoyed more success on the road in the last 10 years than Mississippi State. In the 106 games away from Humphrey Coliseum, the Bulldogs have posted a 46-60 (.434) ledger. LSU is second with 34 wins, followed by Alabama with 27. Overall in the SEC, MSU ranks fourth. Kentucky is tops with 59, followed by Florida (52) and Tennessee (49).

During that same span, State was the only team to go undefeated, posting a 12-0 mark in 2003-04.

MSU KNOWS HOW TO WIN GAMES AT 'THE HUMP'

Over the course of the last decade, Mississippi State's Humphrey Coliseum has become a difficult venue for opposing teams. Since the 2006-07 season, the Bulldogs have posted a 39-11 mark for a .780 winning percentage. With a 13-5 mark last year, the Bulldogs have reached twin-digit home wins during each of coach Rick Stansbury's 11 seasons at the MSU helm.

Mississippi State is now 135-33 (.804) overall at Humphrey Coliseum under Stansbury's direction, including a 65-23 (.739) SEC mark and a 70-10 (.875) record against non-conference opponents.

The Bulldogs have compiled a 32-season composite record of 341-131 (.722) at "The Hump" since Mississippi State's basketball facility opened prior to the 1975-76 campaign.

MSU ENJOYED MORE NON-CONFERENCE SUCCESS

With last year's 10-6 mark, MSU has compiled a dominant 121-39 (.756) record against non-conference opponents during the Rick Stansbury era (since 1998-99), including a 113-30 (.790) regular-season mark versus non-league foes.

MISSISSIPPI STATE'S RECORD WHEN . . .

During the Rick Stansbury era, the Bulldogs are: 182-27 when leading at halftime (17-2 last year); 162-32 when shooting 45 percent or better from the field (16-2); 190-61 when the opposition shoots less than 45 percent from the field (20-9); 184-68 when out-rebounding or tying opponents (11-2); and 140-25 when holding opponents to 65 points or less (12-2).

Last spring was ranked by the Birmingham News as the sixth-best senior in Alabama.

Back in April, Wendell Lewis became member No. 2 of the 2009 signing class when he inked his letter of intent.

The versatile 6-foot-8 center rose high in the recruiting ranks his senior season at Selma High School and is expected to be an immediate contributor for the Bulldogs this year.

He chose MSU over other SEC rivals Auburn, Georgia, Alabama and Ole Miss, in addition to Middle Tennessee State, South Alabama and Western Kentucky.

"He's a terrific young man that comes from a great family. We truly feel and expect that his best basketball days are ahead of him," 12th-year MSU coach Rick Stansbury Said.

Lewis, who played in the Mississippi-Alabama All-Star game, was ranked the 27th-best center prospect by ESPN.com.

"He played a little different role for our team than he will at the next level," Selma head coach Woody Jackson said. "For us in high school, he stayed near the goal and drew a lot of double and triple-teams, which opened up our perimeter a good bit. But in college, he'll probably be a four-spot guy that has three-spot skills."

"He has outstanding hands, a good outside shot and can put the ball on the floor."

High School

●As a senior, Lewis led his team in points, (16.5), rebounds (11.2) and blocks (3) en route to earning team MVP honors.

●He earned all-state honors and was instrumental in leading his team to a 21-11 ledger that included a berth in the Class 5A state tournament.

John Riek is the first 7-footer to play for MSU since Marcus Campbell from 2002-2005.

In May, John Riek became the fourth and final member of the 2009 MSU signing class when he chose to continue his playing career with Rick Stansbury's Bulldogs.

A native of Khartoum, Sudan, the 7-foot-1, 250-pound Riek comes to MSU after spending the last year at IMG Academy in Bradenton, Fla., rehabbing a knee he had surgery on in July of 2008.

Once listed as a five-star recruit by Scout.com, Riek caught the attention of both college coaches and NBA scouts with an impressive showing at the Nike Hoop Jambo-ree and the LeBron James Skill Academy in the summer of 2007.

Known for his shot-blocking and rebounding skills, Riek turned heads with an 18-point effort in a 24-minute game on the final day at the LeBron James Skill Academy.

He originally committed to Cincinnati before deciding on Mississippi State.

"We're very excited to have John join our family," Stansbury said. "Now, he's in the process of getting back to where he was before the knee injury. It's a slow process, but we're willing to take a chance on him since he's such a great kid. Again, he's nowhere near where he once was as a player, but it's our job to help him get back to that level that had him going straight to the NBA. That's our goal."

Riek, who possesses a striking 7 foot, 8 ½ inch wingspan, came to the United States in January of 2006 from Ethiopia, where he was reared after his family fled from war-ravaged Sudan.

High School

● Attended Winchendon (Mass.) after transferring from Our Savior New American in New York. Spent final high school year at Bradenton Prep in Florida rehabbing his knee.

MISSISSIPPI STATE UNIVERSITY

HEAD COACH RICK STANSBURY

Consistency is a key ingredient to the recent success enjoyed by the Mississippi State University basketball program. It is that consistency stressed in the players' daily activities on and off the basketball floor that has translated into the program's recent run of national prominence gained under head coach Rick Stansbury.

A decade's worth of consistency is about to be realized for MSU's 10th-year head basketball coach, as Stansbury enters the 2007-08 campaign seven wins shy of surpassing his former mentor Richard Williams to become the all-time winningest basketball coach in school history. With a nine-year coaching record of 185-104 (.640) at the Bulldog helm, Stansbury has guided seven State squads (4 NCAA & 3 NIT) to postseason tournament appearances and six clubs to 20-win campaigns. Prior to Stansbury taking over MState's head coaching duties in 1998, the Bulldogs had totalled seven postseason tournament berths and seven 20-win seasons in the school's 86 previous years of basketball competition.

The Bulldogs have averaged 22 wins per season over the last six years (2002-07), including winning an outright SEC overall championship in 2004, back-to-back SEC West crowns in 2003 and 2004, a third SEC West championship in five years a season ago, and an SEC Tournament title in 2002.

Most recently, Stansbury piloted last year's youthful 21-14 State squad to a share of its third SEC Western Division crown in the last five years en route to advancing to the national semifinals of the 2007 MasterCard NIT. Prior to that, MSU made five consecutive postseason tournament appearances (2001-05) for the first time in school history, including a streak of four straight NCAA Tournament berths from 2002 through 2005.

MSU's recent streak of collecting hardwood hardware was highlighted by the 2003-04 State squad claiming the school's first outright SEC title since 1962-63 with a school-best 14-2 league mark and 26-4 overall record. For MSU's 2003-04 successes, which included an undefeated season (8-0) in SEC road play, a No. 4 regular-season national AP ranking and a school-best No. 2 NCAA Tournament seeding, Stansbury was named the SEC's AP Coach of the Year. He also collected district coaching honors from the NABC and USBWA.

MState's recent success string began with the 2001-02 Bulldog team claiming the school's second SEC Tournament title on the way to establishing a new single-season standard with 27 victories.

STATE SUCCESS DURING RICK STANSBURY ERA

✕ Entering his 10th season at the Mississippi State helm with a career head coaching record of 185-104 (.640), Rick Stansbury begins the 2007-08 campaign seven victories shy of surpassing his former mentor Richard Williams (191-163; 1987-98) to become the all-time winningest basketball coach in school history.

✕ The Bulldogs have averaged 20.6 wins per season and have participated in postseason tournament play seven times (4 NCAA & 3 NIT) in the nine seasons since Rick Stansbury became Mississippi State's head coach in 1998... Prior to Stansbury's hiring as MSU's head coach, MSU had made seven total postseason tournament appearances in the school's 86 previous seasons of basketball competition.

✕ Mississippi State recently made five consecutive postseason tournament appearances (2001-2005) for the first time in school history, including a streak of four straight NCAA Tournament berths from 2002-2005... In addition, the 2003-04 State squad earned an all-time, school-best No. 2 seed in the Atlanta Regional of the 2004 NCAA Tournament after claiming MSU's first outright SEC overall championship since the 1962-63 campaign.

✕ The Bulldogs have reached the 20-win mark six times in the nine previous seasons under Rick Stansbury's guidance, including State's recent school-record streak of four consecutive 20-win seasons (2002-2005) in which they posted 27 and 26 victories during the 2001-02 and 2003-04 campaigns, respectively.

✕ Mississippi State has averaged 22.2 wins per season over the last six years (2002-2007), including winning an outright Southeastern Conference overall championship in 2004, back-to-back SEC West crowns in 2003 and 2004, a third SEC West championship in five years a season ago, and an SEC Tournament title in 2002.

✕ Mississippi State rates as the winningest basketball program in the SEC's Western Division (185-104 record) and third-winningest Southeastern Conference program overall (behind SEC East foes Kentucky and Florida) spanning back to the 1998-99 campaign.

✕ The Bulldogs made regular-season appearances in the Top 25 national polls during four consecutive seasons (2002-2005), including a season-best No. 11 ranking by The Associated Press in 2004-05 and a season-high No. 4 national AP ranking during MSU's 26-4 SEC Championship season of 2003-04.

✕ Mississippi State ranks tied for second with LSU in the SEC (behind Florida's 32 recipients) with a collective total of 27 SEC Academic Honor Roll recipients in the nine seasons that Rick Stansbury has been at the Bulldog helm... MSU's 20 total academic honorees over the past five seasons combined lead the conference.

HEAD COACH RICK STANSBURY

With four NCAA Tournament appearances (2002-05), three National Invitation Tournament showings (2007, 2001 & 1999), as well as an overall Southeastern Conference championship (2004), three SEC Western Division crowns (2007, 2004 & 2003) and an SEC Tournament title (2002) in his prior nine seasons at the Mississippi State helm, Stansbury has become the first coach in the school's 95-year basketball history to record four consecutive 20-win seasons (2002-05) as well as establishing school firsts with five straight post-season tournament appearances (2001-05) and four successive NCAA Tournament berths.

As an eight-year assistant coach on Richard Williams' MSU staff, Stansbury previously played an instrumental role in helping Mississippi State secure the talent that enabled the Bulldogs to enjoy their most successful decade ever on the hardwood. Stansbury's proven track record as a tireless recruiter and knowledgeable tactician made him the obvious choice to replace Williams as the school's 18th head basketball coach. Just one day following the retirement of Mississippi State's all-time winningest basketball coach, Stansbury succeeded his former mentor on March 13, 1998.

Following a 16-year collegiate stint in the assistant coaching ranks, Stansbury immediately made his presence felt as a head man by becoming the most successful first-year basketball coach in school history. His 1998-99 Bulldog club capped a successful 20-13 rookie campaign by advancing to the semifinals of the SEC Tournament and earning a berth in the 1999 National Invitation Tournament. Two years later, Stansbury's Bulldogs set the table for their subsequent run of three consecutive Southeastern Conference championships - regular season, divisional or tournament - by advancing to the quarterfinals of the 2001 TiVo NIT before being eliminated by eventual tournament champion Tulsa.

Having originally joined the Mississippi State University basketball family as an assistant coach on June 12, 1990, Stansbury immediately helped direct a senior-laden 1990-91 Bulldog ballclub to both the school's first Southeastern Conference basketball title and subsequent NCAA Tournament appearance in 28 years with a 20-9 overall record and 13-5 SEC mark.

All in all during his 17 prior seasons on the Mississippi State campus, including his previous eight-year stint as an MSU assistant coach (the last four seasons as associate head coach) under Williams' tutelage, Stansbury has been a part of 326 State victories and 11 postseason tournament teams. Highlighting his days as an MSU assistant coach, the Bulldogs exploded onto the national college basketball scene by advancing to the NCAA Sweet 16 in 1995 and then making a school-first appearance in the NCAA Final Four a year later in 1996. Since Stansbury's arrival on the State scene in 1990, the Bulldogs have also claimed the school's lone pair of SEC Tournament titles (2002 & 1996), two overall SEC championships (2004 & 1991) as well as five SEC West crowns (2007, 2004, 2003, 1996 & 1995).

A 1982 graduate of Campbellsville (Ky.) College and former four-year basketball letterman for the Tigers, MSU head basketball coach Rick Stansbury was inducted into the Campbellsville University Athletic Hall of Fame in 2003. As a senior, Stansbury helped lead Campbellsville to the school's first District 32 hoops title and an appearance in the 1981 NAIA Tournament.

As a result of Mississippi State's consistent roundball success during the past decade, Stansbury was recently tabbed by The Hoop Scoop as the nation's top-ranked 'Mid-Career' head coach in NCAA Division I men's basketball. In recognition of being regarded as one of the nation's most respected talent-seekers, Stansbury was most recently named the SEC's best recruiter by the Sporting News Yearbooks publication this past preseason. He was also previously ranked among the top 20 recruiters in the country during a survey of 113 NCAA Division I basketball coaches conducted in the 1990s by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer newspaper.

Since joining the highly competitive Southeastern Conference coaching ranks 17 years ago, Stansbury has helped recruit and develop a total of 14 all-SEC players, including current Bulldog standouts Charles Rhodes and Jamont Gordon, and five SEC All-Freshman Team selections, including last year's rookie tandem of Barry Stewart and Ben Hansbrough. In addition, Mississippi State has had four all-SEC players (Tyronne Washington-1999; Mario Austin & Derrick Zimmerman-2003; and 2003-04 SEC Player of the Year and All-American Lawrence Roberts-2005) as well as three all-America high school signees from the state of Mississippi (Jonathan Bender-1999; Travis Outlaw-2003; and Monta Ellis-2005) selected in the NBA Draft since Stansbury took over MSU's head coaching duties in 1998. Roberts and Zimmerman made their NBA debuts with the Memphis Grizzlies and New Jersey Nets, respectively, in 2005-06.

Dedicated to a program committed to keeping the state of Mississippi's best roundball talent at home, Stansbury is the man most responsible for MSU's recent trend of inking Mississippi high school players of the year. The Bulldogs have signed numerous Mississippi prep players of the year during his successful association with the team's basketball program. Stansbury was instrumental in securing in-state talent Monta Ellis of perennial State powerhouse Lanier High School in Jackson, Miss. Drafted by the NBA's Golden State Warriors in 2005, Ellis became MSU's fourth McDonald's High School All-

American signee over a recent seven-year span. Prior to Ellis, local Starkville (Miss.) High School product Travis Outlaw was selected in the first round of the 2003 NBA Draft (23rd pick overall) by the Portland Trail Blazers. Prior to that, Stansbury and his hard-working staff of assistants had inked McDonald's High School All-Americans during back-to-back years for the first time in school history with the signings of Mario Austin and Jonathan Bender. Bender recently retired from professional basketball after struggling through seven injury-plagued seasons with the NBA's Indiana Pacers. A highly touted prep standout at Picayune (Miss.) Memorial High School, Bender became a lottery pick (No. 5 selection overall by the Toronto Raptors) in the 1999 NBA Draft after breaking Michael Jordan's previous McDonald's All-American Game scoring record.

One of Stansbury's most lauded recruiting coups during his eight-year stint as an MSU assistant coach, Erick Dampier is presently participating in his 12th NBA season to rank third behind Hall of Famer Bailey Howell and former NBA All-Star Jeff Malone on MSU's all-time professional longevity list. Now in his fourth season with the Dallas Mavericks after a seven-year stint (1998-2004) with the Golden State Warriors and spending his rookie season (1996-97) with the Indiana Pacers, Dampier has totalled 5,957 points (8.3 ppg), 5,299 rebounds (7.4 rpg) and 1,069 blocked shots (1.5 bpg) in 714 career NBA outings entering the 2007-08 campaign.

Following State's unprecedented run to the 1996 NCAA Final Four, Dampier (10th pick overall) and Dontae' Jones, a New York Knicks first-round selection (21st), became the first Bulldog duo in school history to be chosen in the first round of the NBA Draft during the same year. Jones' arrival at State in 1995 from Northeast Mississippi Community College began a three-year run of first-team junior college all-Americans to sign with MSU. Horatio Webster and Detrick White, former high school and junior college teammates at Durant (Miss.) High School and Connors State (Okla.) College, followed suit the next two years.

HEAD COACH RICK STANSBURY

Along with having the staff's primary recruiting responsibilities during his productive stint as a Bulldog assistant coach, Stansbury was being groomed for his subsequent promotion to head coach. Under Williams' guidance, he was also charged with Mississippi State's all-important scouting duties, along with being actively involved in the program's schedule-making process and popular summer basketball camps.

Prior to joining the Mississippi State coaching staff at the start of the 1990s, Stansbury previously logged a six-year stint as an assistant basketball coach at Austin Peay State University in Clarksville, Tenn. Working alongside his good friend and former APSU head coach Lake Kelly, Stansbury was directly involved with a full scope of coaching responsibilities, including serving as recruiting coordinator. Similar to the success he has since helped bring to MSU's program, Stansbury helped guide Austin Peay to three consecutive winning campaigns, beginning with an Ohio Valley Conference Tournament championship and a subsequent NCAA Tournament second-round berth during the 1986-87 season in which the Governors posted a 20-12 mark.

During Stansbury's six-year association with Austin Peay's roundball program, the Governors compiled an 87-89 (.494) composite record, including a 40-40 regular-season conference mark and an 8-5 OVC Tournament record. With the team's postseason tournament success in league play, APSU landed a total of seven players, including two tourney MVPs, on the OVC All-Tournament team over a four-year span.

A native of Battletown, Ky., Stansbury's 16-year career as an assistant basketball coach began at his alma mater. While earning a double major in business and physical education from Campbellsville (Ky.) College (now Campbellsville University) in 1982, Stansbury was a four-year letterman as a backcourt performer. After helping lead the Tigers to the 1979 KMAC Tournament championship and a regular-season league title the following year, Stansbury averaged 12 points per game as a senior starter to help pace Campbellsville to the school's first District 32 crown and an appearance in the 1981 NAIA Tournament.

Setting out on his basketball coaching career while also completing his bachelor's degree requirements, Stansbury stayed on the following season (1981-82) as a student assistant on the late

Lou Cunningham's Campbellsville coaching staff. Stansbury would later hire Cunningham's son, Phil, as an assistant coach on his Mississippi State staff in 2000 after the two had previously worked together on Williams' MSU staff during the 1991-92 campaign.

Stansbury then served as a graduate assistant on coach Randy Vernon's staff at Cumberland College in Williamsburg, Ky. While earning his master's degree in business education, Stansbury helped direct the 1983-84 Indian club to a 31-5 mark and second-round appearance in the NAIA Tournament.

Five years ago in 2003, Stansbury was honored by his alma mater as an inductee into the Campbellsville University Athletic Hall of Fame, along with former Tiger head football coach

Sam Wickliffe. In October 1999, Stansbury was previously honored by the Campbellsville Alumni Association as a proud recipient of the school's Distinguished Alumni Award.

Most recently during the summer months, Stansbury has made off-the-court contributions to society by donating his time and energy to Camp Rising Sun, a camp located in nearby Columbus, Miss., that caters to children ages 6-14 who are being treated, or have been treated, for cancer. On a regional scale, Stansbury volunteered in 2005 to serve on the organizing committee of Coaches Care, a group of coaches united to assist victims of Hurricane Katrina.

The son of the late Robert Stansbury and the late Norma Stansbury of Battletown, Ky., Stansbury is a 1977 graduate of Meade County High School in Brandenburg, Ky., where he was a four-year basketball letterman and three-time all-district performer. As a prep senior, Stansbury was voted the team's most improved player after averaging 15 points per game.

Stansbury's father, Robert, who had been the head coach's special guest during Mississippi State's run to the 2002 SEC Tournament championship earlier that year in Atlanta, passed away following a courageous battle with cancer just as preseason basketball practice tipped off in 2002. Ironically, the coach's mother, Norma, passed away on Nov. 17, 1998 in Florida on the day her son was making his MSU coaching debut in Jackson, Miss.

Stansbury, who will turn 48 on Dec. 23, 2007, is married to the former Meo Mellen of Roanoke, Va. They are the proud parents of three sons -- Isaac, who will turn 8 years old on Dec. 14, 2007; Noah, who will celebrate his sixth birthday on April 26, 2008; and Luke, who turned 3 years old this past July.

ASSISTANT COACH ROBERT KIRBY

Widely considered to be one of the most respected veteran assistants in the major college coaching ranks, Robert Kirby begins the 10th season of his second tour of duty with the Mississippi State basketball family. He has continued to serve as the school's top assistant basketball coach on the staff of Rick Stansbury since MSU's current head coach was hired in 1998. The tandem previously teamed up together for three seasons (1991-93) as assistant coaches on Richard Williams' State staff.

During the past nine seasons under Stansbury's direction, Kirby has helped guide the Bulldogs to an average of 20 wins per year, including a school-record 27 victories during the 2001-02 campaign along with the record-setting 2003-04 State squad posting a 26-4 overall record and 14-2 SEC mark. While playing an integral role in helping lead MSU to a recent string of four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances as well as last year's run to the MasterCard NIT Semifinals, Kirby's tireless efforts on the recruiting trail and daily coaching contributions on the practice floor helped the Bulldogs claim an SEC championship - regular season or tournament - for three straight seasons from 2001-02 to 2003-04. Along with MState's outright SEC overall hoops title coming in 2003-04, the Bulldogs have also captured three SEC Western Division crowns over the last five seasons. MSU's previous streak of three straight championship campaigns began with the Bulldogs winning the SEC Tournament title in 2002.

As with his previous stint on the Starkville campus, Kirby is actively involved in recruiting efforts for the Bulldogs, having been instrumental in securing Mississippi State's nationally ranked recruiting classes each of the past nine seasons since his return to MSU. Specializing in the daily instruction of State's frontcourt players, Kirby also assists with day-to-day scouting preparations and shares on-floor gameday coaching responsibilities.

In recognition of his two decades' worth of coaching achievements and recruiting prowess at six different schools through the years, Kirby

During his previous four-year coaching stint (1990-93) at Mississippi State, Kirby was a staff member on the 1990-91 Bulldog contingent that collectively claimed a share of the school's first Southeastern Conference basketball title since 1963 and first NCAA Tournament appearance in 28 seasons. A former collegiate front-court standout himself, he assisted with the day-to-day tutelage of Bulldog all-SEC forwards Cameron Burns and Greg Carter.

Prior to his initial four-year association with the Mississippi State basketball program, Kirby served a one-year stint as an assistant coach at Southeastern Louisiana University. One of the top all-around assistant coaching talents in all of collegiate basketball, Phil Cunningham begins his eighth season on Rick Stansbury's Mississippi State basketball coaching staff. He continues his association with MSU's 10th-year head coach after the two previously served together on Richard Williams' Bulldog coaching staff during the 1991-92 campaign.

During his second stint at MSU, Cunningham has taken on primary responsibilities in the areas of recruiting, player development with the Bulldog guards, scouting, and on-floor coaching duties. The Bulldogs' last eight recruiting classes have all been nationally recognized due largely in part to his relentless recruiting style, tremendous work ethic, and eye for talent.

On the court, Cunningham's daily contributions to the Bulldog basketball program have resulted in MSU's recent string of four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances as well as last year's run to the MasterCard NIT Semifinals. He has also played a significant role in Mississippi State's recent run of three straight championship seasons, highlighted by MSU's outright Southeastern Conference basketball championship in 2003-04 along with three SEC Western Division crowns over the past five seasons. The streak began in 2002 with the Bulldogs claiming the SEC Tournament title en route to winning a school-record 27 contests. With Cunningham on board, the Bulldogs have averaged 21 wins per year since the 2000-01 season, including the team's record-breaking 26-4 campaign (14-2 in SEC play) during the 2003-04 season.

For his yearly recruiting and coaching accomplishments in helping make Mississippi State a consistent SEC title contender, Cunningham was recently tabbed by Rivals.com as one of the nation's top 25 assistant coaches. He was also previously recognized by The Hoop Scoop recruiting publication as one of the top NCAA Division I men's basketball assistant coaches.

Having earned his master's degree in physical education with an emphasis in sports administration from MSU while he was serving as a graduate assistant coach during his prior stop at State, Cunningham returned to the Starkville campus in 2000 after spending the previous three seasons on Charles "Lefty" Driesell's coaching staff at Georgia State University. In spending his last two seasons in Atlanta as GSU's associate head coach, Cunningham was instrumental in helping transform the Panther team into what developed into one of the winningest basketball programs in the Atlantic Sun Conference. His tireless recruiting efforts at Georgia State proved pivotal in the Panthers landing successive conference player of the year recipients Thomas Terrell and Shernard Long.

Prior to rejoining Driesell at Georgia State in 1997, Cunningham spent the 1995-96 and 1996-97 seasons as an assistant coach on the staff of the 'Lefthander' at James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Va. Cunningham's 11-year stint as an NCAA Division I assistant coach was preceded by a three-year stay as head basketball coach at Sue Bennett College in London, Ky. Taking over a former junior college program making the jump to four-year competition in the NAIA, he paced SBC to 48 victories during his three seasons at the Dragon helm, including postseason tournament appearances during each of the school's first two years of postseason eligibility status.

A native of Campbellsville, Ky., and the son of the late Lou Cunningham - long-time coach at Campbellsville (Ky.) College (now Campbellsville University) - Cunningham spent the 1990-91 campaign as an assistant coach on his father's staff, helping lead the Tigers to the District 32 championship and an appearance in the NAIA Tournament. Like Stansbury, Cunningham earned his bachelor's degree in business administration from Campbellsville. Also a native Kentuckian, Stansbury graduated from the school in 1982.

Cunningham ranks among Campbellsville's all-time leaders in career assists despite playing his freshman year on Kentucky Wesleyan's 1986-87 NCAA Division II national championship team. As a senior starting guard at Campbellsville during the 1989-90 season, Cunningham topped the NAIA District 32 in assists and free throw percentage.

During his prep athletic career at Taylor County High School in Campbellsville, Ky., Cunningham was an all-state honorable mention backcourt performer as well as an all-conference shortstop in baseball.

A 17-year veteran of the collegiate basketball coaching ranks, Cunningham, 41, has one daughter, Shelby, 7.

ASSISTANT COACH MARCUS GRANT

One of the most versatile players and highly regarded student-athletes in Mississippi State's recent basketball history, Marcus Grant begins his fourth season working at his alma mater on Rick Stansbury's Bulldog coaching staff.

Now in his second season in an expanded role as an MSU assistant coach, Grant is charged with primary responsibilities in the wide-ranging areas of scouting preparation, on-floor gameday coaching, recruiting and scheduling. Grant spent his first two seasons back at his alma mater serving as the staff's coordinator of men's basketball operations.

Grant spent the better part of a decade starring in Finland as a perennial all-league standout in the Finnish Basketball Association since his graduation from Mississippi State in 1995. Most recently on the court, the former two-time Eurobasket All-Finnish League Import Player of the Year averaged 16.5 points, 6.8 rebounds, 4.0 assists and 2.0 steals per game in leading the Kouvola Kouvot club to the 2003-04 Finnish League championship. The previous season as a member of the Honka Espoo contingent, Grant averaged 20.9 points, 6.9 rebounds, 3.7 assists and 1.8 steals per contest in pacing the Playboys to the Finnish team title as the league's best import player of 2002-03.

Prior to helping lead two different clubs to the Finnish League championship in 2003-04 and 2002-03, Grant played three consecutive seasons (2000-02) with the Namika Lahti squad. In his first season with the club, he averaged 19.5 points, 11.5 rebounds, 3.4 assists and 2.3 steals per outing in leading Namika Lahti to the 1999-2000 Finnish League crown. Individually, Grant received his first of three Eurobasket All-Finnish League Import Player of the Year honors, in addition to being named to the 1999-2000 Eurobasket All-Finnish League First Team and All-Defensive Team. In subsequent seasons with Namika Lahti, he went on to average 23.9 points and 8.6 rebounds in 2000-01 and then averaged 19.3 points and 9.0 rebounds per game the following year to help pace the team to the championship finals of the Finnish League.

BASKETBALL SUPPORT STAFF

RICHARD AKINS

ASSISTANT STRENGTH COACH

Back for his second tour of duty at his alma mater after previously serving a 21-year stint on Mississippi State's athletic department staff, Richard Akins is once again charged with preparing the Bulldog basketball team for the day-to-day rigors of the Southeastern Conference hardwood wars.

Akins, who also coordinates the strength and conditioning program of the Lady Bulldog basketball team, returned to the Mississippi State athletic department family in a part-time capacity in 2005 after serving the prior two years as strength coach and assistant football coach at Heritage Academy in Columbus, Miss. In his first year at Heritage as coach of the squad's defensive linemen, Akins helped lead the 2003 Patriots to runner-up honors in the Academy AA state championship game.

During his previous association in a full-time capacity with MSU's strength and conditioning program, Akins accompanied the Bulldog basketball team to the 1996 NCAA Final Four and the NCAA Sweet Sixteen in 1995.

A native of Ethel, Miss., Akins first came to Mississippi State in 1975 following a two-year football career at Holmes Junior College. Upon completion of his undergraduate work at MSU in 1977, Akins entered the coaching profession at Grenada (Miss.) Junior High School. In 1979, he accepted a position on the football staff at Horn Lake (Miss.) High School. Four years later, Akins returned to his alma mater to begin a six-year stint as the supervisor of MSU's McArthur Hall athletic dormitory, where he was responsible for the daily management of the school's athletic student housing.

Having also earned his master's degree in physical education as well as completing a specialist's degree in administration during his prior working tenure at MSU, Akins, 52, is married to the former Cindy Strider of Grenada, Miss. They are the parents of one son, Ronnie, and one daughter, Beth.

LYNDA MOORE

ACADEMIC COUNSELOR

Beginning her seventh season with the Mississippi State athletic family, Lynda Moore helps monitor the day-to-day academic requirements and needs of the Bulldog basketball players as the program's academic counselor.

Having been associated with four NCAA Tournament basketball teams at MSU, including the 2004 SEC Champions, Moore has been instrumental in the team's recent success in the classroom. With a league-leading 20 total SEC Academic Honor Roll men's basketball recipients over the last five seasons, the Bulldogs have graduated a total of nine student-athletes since May 2004.

Along with her work with men's basketball at MSU, Moore also attends to the daily academic needs of State's volleyball, women's golf, women's cross country/track and field, and men's and women's tennis teams.

Moore joined Ray Berryhill's academic staff at Mississippi State in January 2002 after working as an adult literacy instructor at Southeastern Technical College in Georgia, where she organized ESL classes in addition to teaching GED classes.

Upon obtaining her bachelor's degree in English in 1997 from Stetson University in Deland, Fla., Moore worked as a teaching assistant at Mississippi College during the 1997-98 and 1998-99 academic years. While at the Clinton-based school, she pursued graduate work on her master's degree in English. During the latter portion of her stay in the Jackson area, Moore also served on the women's softball coaching staff at Belhaven College during the 1998 and 1999 seasons. In addition to her coaching and recruiting duties with the Blazers, she served as the tutor coordinator for Belhaven's athletic department.

Born in Yazoo City, Miss., Moore is married to Staff Sergeant David Moore, who serves as a recruiter for the Army National Guard on the Mississippi State University campus. They are the parents of three sons - Rylan James, 8, Corey Ross, 6, and Tanner Ray, 5.

SCOTT JOHNSON

ASSISTANT ATHLETIC TRAINER

Having joined the Mississippi State athletic family in August 2002, Scott Johnson begins his sixth season as the primary athletic trainer for coach Rick Stansbury's Bulldogs. Johnson has been associated with three NCAA Tournament teams during his Starkville stint, including MSU's 2003-04 SEC championship club.

Charged primarily with the day-to-day medical requirements of the Bulldog basketball team, Johnson also attends to the daily training needs of the Mississippi State men's and women's golf teams.

With more than a decade's worth of experience in the sports medicine field, Johnson previously served a four-year stint as an assistant athletic trainer at McNeese State University in Lake Charles, La. Working primarily with the men's basketball team, Johnson was affiliated with the Cowboys' back-to-back Southland Conference titles and consecutive postseason tournament appearances, including a first-round NCAA Tournament meeting with MSU in 2002. All total, he has been involved with five NCAA Tournament basketball teams.

While earning his master's degree in secondary education from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, Johnson spent three seasons (1995-98) as a graduate assistant athletic trainer for the Mocs. During his tenure in Chattanooga, he served as the head athletic trainer for the men's basketball team and accompanied the 1996-97 UTC squad to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen.

A native of Jacksonville, Fla., Johnson earned his bachelor's degree in athletic training in 1995 from the University of West Alabama in Livingston. While at West Alabama, Johnson served as the head student athletic trainer for the Tigers' baseball and men's basketball teams.

A certified athletic trainer and a member of the National Athletic Trainers' Association, Johnson, 36, is married to the former Rindy Zeringue, who was an all-Southland Conference high jumper at McNeese State.

Prior to joining the Mississippi State family in 1987, Rosinski worked three years as an undergraduate and graduate assistant in the sports information office at the University of South Carolina. A 1985 graduate of USC's School of Journalism with a bachelor's degree in public relations, he served as the publicist for the South Carolina women's basketball team.

A member of the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) and United States Basketball Writers Association (USBWA), Rosinski has received numerous CoSIDA awards for his publication efforts through the years.

Rosinski, 44, is married to the former Nadine Jackson of West Columbia, S.C., who works as an administrative secretary in Mississippi State's College of Business & Industry. They are the parents of one son, Jackson, 8.

BULLDOGS ENTER 2006-07 CAMPAIGN SPORTING 15-GAME ROAD WIN STREAK VERSUS NON-CONFERENCE OPPONENTS

In a string that extends all the way back to the 2000-01 campaign, the Mississippi State Bulldogs enter the 2006-07 season sporting a nation's-best, 15-game road winning streak against non-conference opposition. Highlighted by road wins over the likes of Arizona, Pittsburgh, Xavier and Charlotte, MSU's current non-SEC road win string will face four stern tests this coming year at Clemson (Nov. 21), Miami of Florida (Dec. 11), George Mason (Dec. 30) and Missouri (Jan. 2).

MSU 77, CENTENARY 55
Starkville, MS

Mississippi State's Ravern Johnson hit five 3-point baskets and scored a team-high 15 points as the Bulldogs defeated Centenary College 77-55 in a season-opening men's basketball game at Humphrey Coliseum.

The Bulldogs scored the game's first seven points and never trailed in the contest. MSU improved to 9-2 in season openers under coach Rick Stansbury and 76-21 all-time. MSU set the tone from 3-point range early. Dee Bost and Johnson hit back-to-back 3-pointers to help the Bulldogs spring from the gates. Those two treys would be the first of 10 for the hosts in the contest. The early lead stretched to double digits at 17-7 on a jumper from Riley Benock.

In the opening half, the Bulldogs used a five-on-five rotation as the search for consistency and set lineups will continue in non-conference play. Another 7-0 run allowed the Bulldogs to take their largest first-half lead, at 30-15. In the opening half, the Bulldogs only shot 36.7 percent from the field, yet managed a 34-20 halftime lead.

In the second half, the defensive pressure allowed the lead to grow quickly. A jumper by Jacquese Holcombe ran the advantage to 51-31 with 13:03 remaining. MSU took its largest lead at 27 points on two different occasions in the closing minutes.

Also scoring in double-digits for MSU were Barry Stewart and Elgin Bailey with 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Nick Stallings paced the Gents with 16 points.

MSU 88, LOUISIANA-MONROE 49
Starkville, MS

Junior guard Barry Stewart connected on three of his six attempts from long range and scored 17 points to lead the Mississippi State Bulldogs to a commanding 78-49 victory against the visiting Louisiana-Monroe Warhawks.

Stewart finished the game 6-of-9 shooting to go along with an assist, block and steal. Jarvis Varnado swatted nine shots by halftime and finished with that total to go with 11 rebounds for the game. Outstanding freshman point guard Dee Bost handed out seven assists and shot 3 of 6 from behind the arc to score 14 points.

Sophomores Elgin Bailey and Kodi Augustus notched nine and eight boards, respectively, while sophomore Ravern Johnson grabbed four rebounds and scored 10 points. Augustus also scored a career-high 12 points.

Starkville native, junior Jarvis Hill led the Warhawks with 19 points on 8-of-17 shooting and four rebounds.

State suffocated ULM from the tip as the Warhawks connected on just three of their first 16 attempts from the floor.

Conversely, State drained five of their first seven treys and never trailed en route to a 35-24 advantage at the half.

MSU quickly stormed out to a 55-35 lead in the second stanza on an 18-4 run, capped by a made three-point conversion from the charity stripe by Bailey. From that point forward the Bulldogs dominated, finishing on a 10-2 streak.

MSU 102, NORTH ALABAMA 61
Starkville, MS

Junior Jarvis Varnado blocked seven shots and matched a career-high 16 points to power the Bulldogs to a 102-61 victory against the North Alabama Lions in first-round action of the Legends Classic at Humphrey Coliseum.

He also slammed the boards for 14 rebounds to record his first double-double of the young season. Tying for the team lead was fellow junior Barry Stewart, who drained 3-of-5 treys for 16 points. Sophomores Elgin Bailey and Kodi Augustus continued their solid play with a combined 18 points and 12 rebounds, while Bailey had 10 points.

Freshman Romero Osby finished with 15 points, while Dee Bost tallied 10 assists.

MSU, which hasn't trailed at all this year, stormed out of the gates behind three Varnado blocks in the first three minutes, while hitting five of their first seven attempts from the floor. Midway through the first half, State staked a 20-2 run, sparked by back-to-back threes from Osby and sophomore Riley Benock to hold a 48-30 halftime advantage.

North Alabama took the initiative into the second stanza, however, by scoring six straight points to start the half.

MSU eclipsed the 100-point mark for the first time since scoring 101 against Bradley in the second round of the NIT in 2007, while State's bench accomplished a rare feat by combining for an impressive total of 47 points.

MSU 84, FAIRLEIGH DICKINSON 58
Starkville, MS

Junior Jarvis Varnado blocked eight shots and became Mississippi State's all-time leader in that category as the Bulldogs upended Fairleigh Dickinson in the second round of the Legends Classic, 84-58, at Humphrey Coliseum.

Varnado, who also recorded his second-straight double-double with 14 points and 16 rebounds, broke Erick Dampier's total of 249 blocks set from 1994-96.

As a team, MSU swatted away 15 shots, one shy of tying the school record set last year against Georgia.

The Bulldogs, who led from start to finish, also forced 19 turnovers and collected seven steals, while limiting the Knights to 16-of-66 shooting after misfiring on their first 16 shots.

Offensively, Barry Stewart and Raven Johnson rounded out the double-digit scoring with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Sophomore Phil Turner tied a season high with eight points on 3-of-4 shooting while freshman Twany Beckham notched two steals and four points in his Maroon and White debut.

FDU junior guard Cameron Tyler hit just 3 of his 15 attempts from the floor but managed 16 points to lead the Knights in scoring, followed by Terence Grier with 10.

MSU freshman point guard Dee Bost handed out six assists to give him an SEC-best 27, and the Bulldogs improved to 4-0 for the first time since 2003-04.

MSU 76, ST. BONAVENTURE 71
Olean, NY

Mississippi State scored the game's final five points to hold off St. Bonaventure 76-71 in front of a sellout crowd at the Reilly Center.

The Bulldogs won their first road game of the young season and moved to 5-0 for the first time since the 2003-04 squad won their first 13 games. Still, the contest was not without its dramatic moments at the end. MSU appeared to have things well in hand, taking a 63-48 lead with 9:31 remaining.

However, defensive pressure and some turnovers allowed the Bonnies to stage one final rally. SBU tied the game 71-all on a 3-point basket from Chris Matthews, capping a 10-2 run. The tie was short lived as Twany Beckham broke the tie by hitting one of two free throws with 1:21 remaining. A basket by Raven Johnson upped the advantage with 18 seconds remaining. Johnson returned to the line to sink a pair of game-clinching free throws with one second left.

Jarvis Varnado had a huge night for the Bulldogs with 19 points, 12 rebounds and six blocks. Raven Johnson added 18 points and seven rebounds for the Bulldogs.

Ray Blackburn paced the Bonnies with 22 points. Andrew Nicholson scored 13 points, while Chris Matthews and Jonathan Hall each added 10 points.

For the contest, the Bulldogs shot 42.4 percent from the floor (25 of 59) and was 5 of 13 from 3-point range.

WASHINGTON STATE 63, MSU 52
Newark, NJ

A spirited second-half rally fell short as Mississippi State dropped a 63-52 decision to Washington State in a semifinal round matchup of the Legends Classic at the Prudential Center.

The Bulldogs trailed by as many as 17 midway through the second half. A 9-0 run helped MSU cut the deficit to six before a more-experienced Cougars squad pulled away for the final margin.

MSU lost for the first time on the young season, falling to 5-1. Washington State, a member of the Pac 10 Conference, improved to 5-0.

The lead changed hands on a couple of occasions in the opening half. A Barry Stewart 3-point basket gave MSU its largest lead of the afternoon at 18-15, but WSU ended the half on a 20-8 run. That run including a pair of baskets from Aron Baynes, who was 6 of 6 in the opening half.

In the second frame, WSU's physical defense in the opening stages allowed the Cougars to stretch the advantage to 52-35 with less than 10 minutes remaining. But another 3-point basket by Stewart sparked a 9-0 run as the Bulldogs closed the deficit to 52-44. MSU would then cut the lead to six points, before making turnovers on three of the game's next four possessions.

Kodi Augustus and Stewart each had 10 points to pace the Bulldogs. Dee Bost added eight points, while Romero Osby and Raven Johnson each added seven.

GAME 7: Nov. 29, 2008

Texas Tech 77, MSU 73
Newark, NJ

Mississippi State could not match a hot-shooting Texas Tech ball club and fell to the Red Raiders 77-73 in the third place game of the Legends Classic at the Prudential Center.

Known for an always-shooting offensive attack, the Red Raiders rammed home 10 3-point baskets to earn the victory.

MSU, which has started the season strong from the foul line, could not convert Saturday, as the Bulldogs only hit 17 of 31 free throws in the contest.

Trailing 9-5, Texas Tech used a 14-1 run to take the lead for good in the basketball game. The Red Raiders led by as many as 11 in the opening half and took a 42-34 lead into the intermission.

The Bulldogs used a strong offensive second half from Kodi Augustus and strong inside play from Jarvis Varnado to crawl back into the game. Still the Bulldogs never could get over the hump. Dee Bost rammed home a 3-pointer to cut the deficit to 49-47 with 14:00 remaining.

MSU trailed by no more than seven points but also could get no closer than that two-point spread the rest of the way.

For the Bulldogs, Augustus and Bost each had 16 points for game-high honors. Bost hit three 3-point baskets. Varnado added 11 points, while Raven Johnson scored nine points. Varnado also had a team-high 10 rebounds.

John Roberson led Texas Tech with 13 points, while Okorie and Tyree Graham each added 11 points.

GAME 8: Dec. 6, 2008

MSU 76, Alabama State 67
Starkville, MS

An explosive game from All-America candidate Jarvis Varnado led the Mississippi State Bulldogs to a 76-67 victory against the visiting Alabama State Hornets at Humphrey Coliseum.

Varnado recorded several career highs in the game, including 22 points on a career-most 10 made field goals in just 13 attempts. Varnado also notched nine boards and eight swats.

Following just behind Varnado was outstanding sophomore shooting guard Raven Johnson, who also set a new career mark in points scored with 21 on a career-best seven field goals made. Johnson also drained 3-of-4 three-pointers and grabbed five rebounds. Rounding out State scorers in double digits was freshman point guard Dee Bost with 10. He also had five assists.

Senior guard Andrew Hayles led the Hornets with 16 points on 6-of-16 shooting while senior forward Chief Kickingstallionsims totaled six blocks and 12 points.

The Bulldogs registered their largest lead of the game midway through the first half, leading 24-12. The Hornets came storming back, however, and tied the score with a jumper from senior Brandon Brooks with just 3:05 remaining in the half. State nursed a 38-37 halftime advantage.

MSU held a small lead throughout the second half but saw Alabama State hit back-to-back three-pointers to close the gap to 60-57 at the 6:22 mark.

GAME 9: Dec. 10, 2008

Charlotte 70, MSU 64
Starkville, MS

A furious run in the final minutes fell short for Mississippi State as the Bulldogs dropped a 70-64 decision to the visiting Charlotte 49ers at Humphrey Coliseum.

After trailing by as many as 24 points with 7:14 remaining in the game, a dunk by junior Barry Stewart woke up the Bulldogs, as they outscored Charlotte 22-4 the rest of the way.

Still, the deficit was too much to overcome to pick up the win. With the loss, Mississippi State dropped its first home contest in the last 10 outings at Humphrey Coliseum.

State had won 13 of its last 14 at home.

Freshman point guard Dee Bost hit a season-high 6-of-8 free throws to lead MSU in scoring with 15 points, while fellow freshman Romero Osby drained a perfect 4-of-4 free throws to record 10, his second double-digit performance of the season.

Stewart also connected on all four of his free throw attempts for 10 points to round out State scorers in double digits.

Senior forward Lamont Mack notched a game-high 19 points and eight rebounds to lead the 49ers.

State managed just 17 field goals, tied for eighth-least under Stansbury's leadership. Following suit, the 30.1% mark from the field was the Bulldogs' fourth-worst under Stansbury and worst since 2005. The game also marked Charlotte's first-ever win against MSU.

GAME 10: DEC. 13, 2008

MSU 79, South Alabama 60
Starkville, MS

Hot shooting and another powerful performance from star center Jarvis Varnado led Mississippi State to a 79-60 victory against South Alabama at Humphrey Coliseum.

Varnado put up eight points, six blocks and six rebounds by halftime to finish the game just a point shy of his career high of 22 points on 9-of-11 shooting, along with eight rebounds and six blocks.

Following their worst offensive production of the season against Charlotte, MSU hit 29 of its 54 shots for 53.7 percent, its second-best offensive performance of the season.

In his first start of the season, Phil Turner came up with a season-high 10 points on 3-of-6 shooting and a perfect 4 of 4 from the charity stripe, as well as recording four assists. Sophomore shooting specialist Raven Johnson rounded out State scorers in double digits with 12 on a 3-of-4 effort from behind the arc.

Senior forward Brandon Davis was one of two Jaguars in double digits, leading USA with 19 points on 7-of-19 shooting. Senior guard Dominic Tilford put up 11 points after draining 3-of-6 treys.

MSU put the game out of reach in the second half after orchestrating a 15-0 run, sparked by a layup from freshman Dee Bost with 17:22 remaining in the game. MSU slowly stretched its lead throughout the remainder of the game.

GAME 11: DEC. 18, 2008

Cincinnati 75, MSU 63
Cincinnati, OH

Things got away from the Mississippi State men's basketball team late in the first half as a half-ending 15-0 run sparked the Cincinnati Bearcats to a 75-63 victory at the U.S. Bank Arena.

The Bulldogs, however, didn't quit

After sprinting to a 47-29 halftime advantage, the Bearcats tacked on the first four points of the final half. MSU then turned up the defensive pressure and ripped off a 19-4 run. Raven Johnson and Dee Bost each rammed home 3-point baskets during that run. Jarvis Varnado also continued his monster night in the paint. Varnado hit a layup to cap the run, cutting the UC lead to 57-50 with 9:22 remaining.

The Bulldogs would get no closer than seven points on two occasions in the final half. Varnado led the Bulldogs offensive attack with 24 points and six rebounds in 31 minutes of play. The nation's premier shot blocker also added four blocks. Phil Turner was the other Bulldog in double figures with 12 points.

UC received a game-high 16 points from Deonta Vaughn. Also in double figures were Dion Dixon with 14 points, Yancy Gates with 12 points and Larry Davis with 12 points.

The teams were close for most of the first half. The Bulldogs only held two leads in the game - at 6-5 and 16-15. That final lead came after a 6-0 run, which included a steal and layup by Turner. The Bulldogs closed within 29-27 on a putback with Varnado with 4:38 left in the half.

However after that made basket, it was all Bearcats, who closed the half on a 15-0 run. That run included four different 3-point baskets.

MSU 74, Nicholls State 68
Jackson, MS

Junior all-star Jarvis Varnado once again dominated for Mississippi State to lead the Bulldogs to a 74-68 triumph against the Nicholls State Colonels at Jackson's Mississippi Coliseum.

Varnado tied his career high with 24 points on 8-of-9 shooting. Currently leading the nation in blocks per outing with 6 per game, Varnado matched that total against the Colonels to go along with his six rebounds. He is also ranked ninth nationally and second in the Southeastern Conference in rebounding.

Sophomore Raven Johnson also had a career-best night with eight rebounds to go along with 11 points and two steals. Freshman Dee Bost jumped into the MSU all-time freshman assists Top 10 with six for a total of 55 on the season. Bost also claimed a career-high-tying five rebounds.

Sophomore Phil Turner added 11 points on 9-of-12 shooting from the charity stripe coupled with five rebounds.

Nicholls State sophomore Anatoly Bose gave MSU fits from behind the arc, scoring a team-high 20 points on 4-of-6 shooting.

After carrying a comfortable 34-22 advantage out of halftime, Mississippi State stretched its lead to 20 (47-27) at the 16:05 mark with a Stewart trey. Refusing to lose intensity, the Colonels responded with a 16-5 run, capped by a Chris Illes jumper to close the MSU advantage to 61-51 with 6:28 remaining.

The hard work continued for NSU, as Bose hit back-to-back 3s to thin the Bulldog lead to just 68-62 with 2:54 left in the game. Mississippi State would register its last eight points from the free-throw stripe to secure the victory.

San Diego 64, MSU 61 ot
Starkville, MS

In the first overtime session of the season for Mississippi State, the Bulldogs dropped a 64-61 decision at Humphrey Coliseum to San Diego.

Tying a season high with 17 points, junior shooting guard Barry Stewart hit 6-of-7 free throws, dished out four assists and registered two steals to lead MSU, while freshman point guard Dee Bost put up 13 points and stole the ball a season-high four times. Sophomore Phil Turner also notched a season-high eight rebounds.

Jarvis Varnado recorded the team's only double-double, his fifth of the year, with 10 points and 13 rebounds. The junior also blocked six shots, placing him as just the fifth player in SEC history to register at least 300 blocks in a career.

Sophomore guard Trumaine Johnson led the Toreros with 17 points, while senior center Gyno Pomare also pulled down a double-double after scoring 10 points and claiming 15 rebounds.

After trailing 25-24 at halftime, State put together several small runs to gain a 40-32 lead with 14:23 remaining, but San Diego responded with a 15-5.

A pair of Stewart free throws put MSU ahead 53-49 with 1:01 remaining, but Johnson responded with two free throws to pull within two at the 0:49.3 mark. After an MSU turnover, Pomare tipped the ball in to tie the score at 53-all. State had a chance to win in regulation, but missed three shots under the game in the closing seconds.

The two teams traded buckets for the majority of the extra stanza, but a jumper from junior guard De'Jon Jackson put the Toreros up by four with just 46 seconds left.

GAME 15: JAN. 5, 2009

MSU 95, Western Kentucky 67
Starkville, MS

Two shooters tallied record-breaking numbers as Mississippi State exploded on offense to take down reigning Sweet Sixteen participant Western Kentucky Hilltoppers at Humphrey Coliseum.

Raven Johnson fell just one point shy of his career high of 21 points by halftime and finished the night with 26 on a 6-of-7 mark from behind the arc - the best single-game performance all-time for an MSU player from that range. Johnson helped State match its best single-game team three-point total of 14.

Freshman Dee Bost surpassed his previous high point total with 18 on 7-of-12 shooting and added four rebounds while junior shooting specialist Barry Stewart set a new season mark with 18 points on a 4-of-6 performance from three. Ranked second in the league in rebounding, junior Jarvis Varnado grabbed 10 boards to help State gain a 32-30 rebounding advantage.

After a few close minutes to begin the game, State then held the Hilltoppers scoreless for over six minutes and put up a 17-0 run while forcing WKU to miss eight consecutive shots from the floor. MSU carried a 47-25 lead into the half.

Western Kentucky refused to let up in the second stanza however, and pulled to within 16 several times.

Mississippi State's 66.6 percent mark from the floor was the best single-game offensive efficiency of any Rick Stansbury squad.

GAME 17: JAN. 14, 2009

MSU 83, Alabama 74
Starkville, MS

A pair of double-double efforts powered the Mississippi State Bulldogs to the team's first second-half comeback victory of the season with an 83-74 win against the visiting Alabama Crimson Tide at Humphrey Coliseum.

The win was the fifth-straight for the Bulldogs against their border rival.

Junior Jarvis Varnado and freshman Dee Bost recorded the double-doubles for MSU. Varnado grabbed 10 boards and scored 11 points while Bost handed out 10 assists - a tie for his season high - and notched 13 points for MSU's first two double-double performance since last year's matchup against Memphis in the NCAA Tournament.

Sophomore Phil Turner led State scorers with a career-high matching 17 points on 6-of-9 shooting, including 3 of 4 from behind the arc. Junior Barry Stewart added 13 points while freshman Romero Osby had eight points and six boards.

For the Tide, junior guard Mikhail Torrance led the game with 20 points on 6-of-9 shooting while senior guard Gee had 15 on a 7-of-17 effort.

The Bulldogs trailed 36-33 at the break after struggling on offense during the first half. State reeled off a 13-5 run out of halftime to regain the lead at the 17:44 mark with a Stewart trey. During the run, the Bulldogs seemed to be pulling away, gaining their largest lead of 13 with a layup from freshman Twany Beckham at the 6:52 mark to put MSU ahead 72-59.

The Tide responded with a 9-0 run, however, to eventually pull within four with just 1:43 remaining. With several free throws and buckets traded back and forth, the play of the game came with 46.8 seconds left. Stewart stole a Hollinger pass and handed it off to Bost, who hurled it downcourt to a wide-open Varnado, and the resulting jam brought the crowd to its feet and put the score at 75-68.

MSU 73, Vanderbilt 66
Starkville, MS

With a 73-66 victory Vanderbilt, Mississippi State coach Rick Stansbury moved into Mississippi State's top spot with 90 Southeastern Conference victories.

Call it a complete win for the Bulldogs.

State was led by standout sophomore shooting guard Ravern Johnson, who tied for game high with 18 points on a 4-of-6 effort from behind the arc. Freshman point guard Dee Bost, ranked third in the conference with 4.65 assists per game, handed out six and brought down 16 points. The final outstanding underclassman performance was provided by Phil Turner, who registered a career-high four steals and shot 4-of-7 from the field for 14 points.

For the Commodores, freshman forward Jeffrey Taylor led the team with 18 points on 8-of-14 shooting, while reigning co-SEC Freshman of the Year A.J. Ogilvy pulled down 14 points and six rebounds.

MSU trailed the majority of the first half but pushed ahead late to hold a 32-27 advantage at the break.

After a tight first few minutes to open the second frame, Mississippi State reeled off a 14-3 run and stretched its lead to 60-44 with a layup from freshman Romero Osby. Holding a solid two-possession lead throughout the remainder of the half, Vanderbilt challenged down the stretch, pulling within six with 1:51 remaining on 3-pointer by Jermaine Beal.

A clutch performance from the charity stripe in the final minute for MSU served as the deciding factor, sealing the victory. State ended the game hitting 18-of-22 free throws for 81.1 percent.

GAME 19: JAN. 21, 2009

LSU 81, Mississippi State 57
Baton Rouge, LA

Another monster night by LSU's Marcus Thornton proved too much for the Mississippi State.

After scoring 38 points last season in MSU's Humphrey Coliseum, Thornton poured in 31 more points as the Tigers rolled 81-57 at the Pete Maravich Assembly Center.

MSU saw its modest five-game win streak snapped. Meanwhile, LSU stretched its home court win streak to 17-straight games, including the first 14 games of this season.

MSU had actually won the last four in this lengthy series, including the last two played in this building. Wednesday would prove much different. The Bulldogs never led in this contest. MSU did trim a 13-point first-half deficit, trailing only 36-30 at the halftime. A Jarvis Varnado dunk meant the Bulldogs only trailed 38-35 with 18:42 left in the contest.

From there, it was all Thornton, who tallied his sixth 30-plus point performance in his two years with the Tigers. Thornton and Bo Spencer hit back-to-back 3-point baskets during an 11-0 run as the Tigers grabbed a 49-35 lead. Thornton then reeled off three straight treys as the Tigers pretty much removed all doubt from the contest.

The long-range bombing eventually allowed the hosts to stretch that 11-0 run into a 27-7 run. LSU held a 44-24 advantage in rebounding. The Bulldogs had nine assists and 11 turnovers, while the Tigers had 16 assists and 11 turnovers.

Varnado led the MSU offensive attack with 18 points. For LSU, Tasmin Mitchell had 24 points.

Mississippi State 67, Georgia 61
Athens, GA

Mississippi State built a 19-point lead and later held on for a 67-61 victory against the Georgia Bulldogs at Stegeman Coliseum.

Ravarn Johnson opened a monster night by draining a 3-point basket on his first shot attempt. After a basket by Jarvis Varnado, steal by Barry Stewart and layup by Phil Turner, the visiting Bulldogs had sprinted to a 7-0 lead.

The advantage swelled to 15-2 less than two minutes later when Turner drained a 3-point basket. A 3-point basket by UGA's Ricky McPhee cut the lead to 19-11. The M-State Bulldogs would eventually hit four of their first six shots from 3-point range and opened the game's largest lead at 30-11 with 9:05 remaining in the half.

Behind a 3-point basket by Trey Tompkins and a pair of baskets by Corey Butler, the hosts slowly climbed back into the contest. Despite an amazing 16 first-half turnovers, Georgia ended the half on a 15-6 run and only trailed 36-24 at the intermission.

Still, UGA had one last stand. A 3-pointer by Dustin Ware cut the deficit to 64-61 with 21 seconds remaining. However, UGA missed five of its final six shots and MSU hit enough free throws for the win.

For the contest, MSU hit 23-of-56 shots from the field, 9-of-24 shots from 3-point range and 12-of-19 shots from the foul line. UGA held a 41-32 rebounding advantage. MSU had eight assists and 13 turnovers, while UGA had seven assists and 22 turnovers.

Johnson led MSU with 21 points - all in the opening half.

McPhee paced UGA with 15 points, while Dustin Ware scored 14.

GAME 23: FEB. 7, 2009

Mississippi State 86, Arkansas 77
Starkville, MS

Despite a 15-point deficit at the half, Mississippi State stormed back in the second frame behind a school-record 16 3-pointers to defeat Arkansas 86-77.

The fifteen-point deficit was the largest overcome by MSU this season, as the win also handed State a season sweep of the Razorbacks, its first since 2005.

Dee Bost set a new season standard with 25 points on 6-of-8 shooting from behind the arc while also dishing out seven assists without any turnovers. Sophomore Phil Turner pulled down the game's only double-double with 16 points on a 4-of-6 performance from behind the arc and claimed a game-high 11 rebounds. Both players set new personal marks for most 3s drained in a game.

Barry Stewart scored a season-high 22 points and was 9 of 10 from the charity stripe. Fellow junior Jarvis Varnado, who leads the nation in blocks, swatted seven, scored 10 points and grabbed eight boards.

Courtney Fortson led the Razorbacks with 19 points. Three other Arkansas players scored in double digits, including junior big-man Michael Washington, who had 14 to go along with his seven rebounds.

The Bulldogs couldn't stop the Razorbacks in the first half, as they hit 62.8 percent of their shots.

A series of huge runs inched State closer in the second half, however, as MSU opened the frame on a 12-2 run. A trey from sophomore Riley Benock sparked an even bigger push for State later in the half, as Benock brought down another three with 8:11 remaining to give MSU its first lead of the game on their way to a 17-2 run.

LSU 97, Mississippi State 94 (2ot)
Starkville, MS

In Mississippi State's first double-overtime thriller since the 1997-98 season, the LSU Tigers squeaked by 97-94 at Humphrey Coliseum.

All-SEC junior Jarvis Varnado easily surpass his previous career high with 31 points to go along with his eight rebounds and six blocks. Reigning SEC Freshman of the Week Dee Bost followed with 20.

Senior Brian Johnson pulled down a season-high seven points and four rebounds while sophomore Phil Turner matched a career high with 11 rebounds. Junior Barry Stewart scored 10 points.

MSU was never able to possess the lead in the first overtime. Senior guard Terry Martin was sent to the line with 1:04 remaining and the LSU advantage at 81-80 with the opportunity to put the game at three points. GAME 25: FEB. 14, 2009

Auburn 91, Mississippi State 76
Auburn, AL

Mississippi State erased a 17-point first-half deficit Saturday afternoon, but it wasn't enough in a 91-76 loss to Auburn at Beard-Eaves Memorial Coliseum.

Tigers guard Tay Waller scored a career-high 32 points and the Tigers posted their highest points total as a team for the season. Defensively, MSU gave up 13 3-point baskets - the most by a Bulldogs' opponent this season.

Auburn snapped a four-game losing streak in the series.

Auburn established its offensive presence early, hitting six of its first seven 3-point attempts from the field. Waller hit his first five 3-point baskets.

Auburn lead to as many as 17 points at 32-15 with 11:09 left in the half. From there, MSU supplied most of the offensive firepower for the rest of the half.

Behind explosive 3-point shooting from Dee Bost and Barry Stewart, the Bulldogs stormed back. A 25-8 MSU run caught teams back up 40-40 with 1:07 left in the half.

The Tigers lead 42-40 at the break.

Waller then hit his sixth 3-pointer of the contest to give Auburn a 45-40 advantage half a minute into the final half.

MSU then reeled off a 10-0 run taking its first lead of the second half and second lead of the contest. A free throw by Dee Bost gave the Bulldogs a 46-45 lead - it was their first advantage in the contest since a 2-0 lead earned on the game's opening possession.

Auburn quickly righted the ship and again found the shooting touch from long range. Including two more by Waller, the Tigers rammed home five of their first six 3-point shot attempts in the final half. An 18-4 run allowed the hosts to push back in front, 63-54 with 12:45 left in the contest.

Miss. State 75, South Carolina 70
Starkville, MS

A career night from sophomore Phil Turner powered Mississippi State Bulldogs to a 75-70 victory against South Carolina at Humphrey Coliseum to remain a perfect 4-0 against the SEC's Eastern Division.

Turner notched his third career double-double and set new career highs in both rebounds, with 14, and steals, with six, to complement his 16 points on 7-of-11 shooting.

Leading all scorers was standout sophomore Raven Johnson with 20 points on a 4-of-10 mark from downtown along with four rebounds. SEC Freshman of the Year candidate Dee Bost added 14 points, six rebounds and five assists, and experienced junior Barry Stewart finished with 10 points and seven rebounds.

All-SEC junior Devan Downey led the USC effort with 19 points on 7-of-21 shooting, while junior forward Dominique Archie added 11 points and nine boards.

After a slow start, MSU trailed in the game 23-13 with 10:22 remaining in the first half. State then reeled off seven straight and closed the gap to 37-33 at halftime.

Mississippi State stormed out of the break on a 13-2 run and took its first lead since the early minutes on a Johnson trey at the 17:32 mark. The Gamecocks responded by scoring seven-straight and tied up the score at 46-46 with 12:56 remaining. Eerily similar to the Bulldogs' last home outing, a double-overtime loss to Western Division power LSU, the game remained tight throughout the remainder of the half.

Nursing a 67-65 lead with under a minute remaining, Turner drained a trey as the game clock wound down to register the play of the game.

GAME 27: FEB. 21, 2009

Alabama 87, Miss. State 85 (2ot)
Tuscaloosa, AL

Double overtime basketball games continue to be tough luck outings Mississippi State, as for the second time in two weeks the Bulldogs fell in double overtime, this time losing 87-85 at Alabama.

Earlier, MSU lost 97-94 in double-overtime to LSU.

The Tide snapped a six-game losing streak to Mississippi State.

The Bulldogs actually held the lead for most of the game's final half. MSU enjoyed a 30-29 halftime advantage. A 7-2 run to open the half pushed that lead to 37-31 with 18:19 remaining. MSU would maintain that defensive intensity, going up 49-40 with 13:56 remaining.

From there, Bama reeled off a 12-3 run. An Anthony Brock layup tied the game 52-52 with 8:09 left.

Alabama actually held two different four-point leads before MSU battled back to force overtime.

In the first overtime, UA built a four-point lead again and held that push until Barry Stewart tied the game 74-74 on a 3-pointer with 1:05 left. This time, the Bulldogs had the potential final shot, but Stewart missed two shots. In the second overtime, back-to-back 3-point baskets by UA's Alonzo Gee broke the Bulldogs' back. Still down one, the Bulldogs could not get two different shot attempts to go down in the final 11 seconds.

Gee paced the Tide with 28 points.

For the Bulldogs, Stewart led the way with 20 points and 10 rebounds for his first double-double of the season. Dee Bost added 17 points, while Varnado scored 16 points and grabbed 11 boards before fouling out in the first overtime.

GAME 28: FEB. 25, 2009

Tennessee 81, Miss. State 76
Knoxville, TN

Mississippi State could not keep the pace in the game's final half, as Tennessee racked up a 81-76 victory at Thompson-Boling Arena.

The Bulldogs held an eight-point lead midway through the first half. Tennessee only led 31-28 at halftime. However, the Bulldogs could not keep pace when the Volunteers found another gear offensively in the game's final 20 minutes.

The lead changed hands nine times and the score was tied six times in a competitive first half. Tennessee suffered through a six-minute drought without a field goal. That stretch of play allowed MSU to open up a six-point advantage, at 17-11. Minutes later, a trey by Ravern Johnson stretched the lead to 25-17.

Over the final 7:13 of the half, the Bulldogs went cold. A layup by UT's Brian Williams gave the Volunteers the lead at 27-2, one they never relinquished. The first half ended with four-straight turnovers by MSU, as the Vols closed the half on a 14-3 run.

In the second frame, the Volunteers held the upper hand most of the way. The Bulldogs got no closer than 37-35 a couple of minutes into the half. UT eventually stretched the lead to 70-59 with 3:03 remaining. The Volunteers missed 4-of-10 free throw attempts to allow the MSU to close back within three points in the final half minute.

For the contest, the Bulldogs hit 25-of-53 shots from the field, 11-of-30 shots from 3-point range and 15-of-19 shots from the foul line. The Volunteers were 31-of-65 shooting, 6 of 18 from 3-point range and 13 of 18 at the foul line.

Scotty Hopson led all scorers with 21 points, while Barry Stewart paced MSU with 20 points.

GAME 29: FEB. 28, 2009

Auburn 76, Miss. State 58
Starkville, MS

Mississippi State bolted out to a 7-2 lead to open the game, but from that point it was all Auburn, which claimed a 76-58 win at Humphrey Coliseum.

It was the fifth loss in the last six games for the Bulldogs.

Leading MSU was standout junior Jarvis Varnado, who sank 6-of-11 shots from the field for 14 points. He also grabbed a game-high nine rebounds.

Sophomore Phil Turner and freshman Dee Bost each pitched in 12 points and combined for 14 rebounds, while All-SEC junior Barry Stewart claimed 11 points and three steals.

Freshman guard Frankie Sullivan led the Tigers with 14 points on 4-of-5 shooting, while three others scored in double digits for Auburn.

State jumped out to a 7-2 lead to begin the game, but that would be the last time MSU would see the lead as Auburn responded with a 13-0 run and held the Bulldogs without a field goal for the next 8:22.

Taking a 38-21 lead into halftime, Auburn maintained a double-digit advantage throughout the remainder of the second half.

The bright spot for MSU was rebounding, as State out-rebounded Auburn 35-32 to win the battle of the boards for just the third time this season in SEC play. State's 58 points were the second-least for the squad this season in league competition (57 at LSU).

The win for Auburn, which earned the season sweep, at Humphrey Coliseum was its first since 2000.

GAME 30: MARCH 4, 2009

Miss. State 80, Florida 71
Starkville, MS

Mississippi State enjoyed Senior Night by breating Florida 80-71 at Humphrey Coliseum to snap a three-game slide.

A hot shooting night sparked the Bulldogs to the win, as sophomore Ravern Johnson hit 4-of-7 shots from downtown to finish with a team-high 15 points. Johnson now has 76 made treys on the season and stands third all-time at MSU in that category.

Defensive Player of the Year cadidate Jarvis Varnado finished with 13 points and eight rebounds while sophomore Kodi Augustus contributed nine points on 4-of-5 shooting and three rebounds off the bench.

Senior guard Walter Hodge led the game with 20 points for the Gators while sophomore big-man Alex Tyus put up 16 points and seven rebounds.

Both teams shot well during the first half, as the squads traded small leads throughout much of the stanza. State closed on a 10-3 run and held its largest lead of the game thus far at the break, 42-33.

While the intense scoring pace continued for MSU, the Gators cooled off and State put together several runs in the second half to slowly increase its advantage. An 18-5 MSU run capped by a Johnson trey gave the Bulldogs their largest lead of the game at 69-53 with 6:31 remaining.

Despite closing the gap to eight points with under a minute remaining, Florida saw State's solid shooting from the charity stripe secure MSU's second-straight victory against the Gators.

Mississippi State won the battle of the boards for the second-straight game, 38-34.

GAME 31: MARCH 7, 2009

Miss. State 82, Ole Miss 80
Oxford, MS

Mississippi State closed out the regular season with an impressive 82-80 come-from-behind win at Ole Miss.

With the victory, the Bulldogs avoided being swept by their arch-rivals for the first time since 1998 and earned the No. 3 seed heading to the SEC Tournament riding a two-game winning streak.

Barry Stewart rammed home four 3-pointers and scored a team-high 17 points to lead MSU, which snapped its three-game losing skid in Oxford.

There were 13 ties and nine lead changes. Neither team led by more than eight points.

Ole Miss started the contest strong, opening an 18-10 lead with 12:50 left before halftime. A 10-3 run by MSU cut the Rebels' lead to 21-20.

A layup by MSU's Twanny Beckham finally tied the teams at 27. Both teams were deadlocked 42-42 at intermission.

The second half also saw five ties before a pair of Kodi Augustus free throws finally allowed the Bulldogs to break on top 57-56. The Rebels then reeled off seven straight points with a Terrico White dunk giving UM a 63-57 lead.

This time, MSU would have the final answer. The teams became tied at 65-65 before Stewart rammed home a 3-point basket for a 68-65 lead. Seconds later, Bulldog Phil Turner hit a 3-pointer of his own to give his squad a 71-66 advantage, capping a 12-2 run by the Bulldogs.

The Rebels then closed within two on two different occasions, including 79-77 in the final half minute. Riley Benock hit a pair of free throws for an 81-77 lead. After Terrico White drained another 3-pointer for the Rebels, Dee Bost answered with one free.

GAME 32: MARCH 12, 2009

Miss. State 79, Georgia 60
Tampa, FL

Mississippi State's Jarvis Varnado and the rest of his Bulldog teammates ushered in the post-season on a very strong note, beating Georgia 79-60.

Varnado recorded his 15th career double-double with 14 points and 12 rebounds, while adding three blocks to that ledger. Kodi Augustus also added a career-high 19 points off the bench. The Bulldogs connected for nine 3-point baskets.

Earlier in the year, MSU claimed a 67-61 win at Athens. The tournament rematch had fewer tense moments, as MSU won for the fourth time in its last five conference tournament openers. MSU also made amends for a loss to Georgia in the semifinal round of last year's conference tournament.

MSU used a 10-0 run in the final minutes of the first half to open up a comfortable lead. A 3-pointer by Ravern Johnson gave MSU a 30-17 advantage with 5:49 left in the half. MSU then used an 8-3 run to ease out to a 40-26 lead at halftime.

A 3-pointer by UGA's Terrance Woodbury then cut the deficit to 47-42 with 15:13 left. Back-to-back 3-point baskets by Barry Stewart and Augustus sparked a 10-0 run to end the threat.

For the contest, MSU hit 28-of-55 shots from the field, 9-of-24 shots from 3-point range and 14-of-18 shots from the foul line. Georgia hit 26-of-62 shots from the field, 7-of-19 shots from 3-point range and 1-of-4 shots from the foul line.

GAME 33: MARCH 13, 2009

Miss. State 82, South Carolina 68
Tampa, FL

A spirited second-half rally lifted Mississippi State past South Carolina 82-68 in the quarter-final round of the SEC Tournament at St. Pete Times Forum.

MSU trailed the first 25 minutes of the game before finding its offensive rhythm, while moving to another gear in the rebounding department. The Bulldogs finished the contest strong, closing out the Gamecocks with a game-ending 18-7 run. It was MSU's first win against USC in three SEC Tournament meetings.

MSU started things slowly, hitting only two of its first 11 shots from the field, while, the Gamecocks opened hot, quickly grabbing a 10-2 lead.

Behind the 3-point shooting of Barry Stewart and another spark from reserve Kodi Augustus, the Bulldogs slowly battled back. A Jarvis Varnado dunk cut the USC lead to 22-18 with 6:49 left in the half.

Thanks in part to strong offensive play by Zam Fredrick, the Gamecocks maintained their slight push, holding a 36-32 lead at the intermission.

MSU finally got over the hump in the early stages of the second half. A Phil Turner dunk gave the Bulldogs their first lead of the game, at 43-42 with 14:57 remaining.

The teams were then tied four times before Stewart gave his squad the lead for good with yet another 3-point basket. That they gave MSU a 58-55 lead with 7:04 left in the contest. It also opened a 7-0 run with Bost ramming home another 3-pointer for a 62-55 MSU advantage.

GAME 34: MARCH 14, 2009

Miss. State 67, LSU 57
Tampa, FL

Mississippi State advanced to the SEC Tournament finals with a stunning 67-57 victory against 20th-ranked LSU in the St. Pete Times Forum.

MSU is playing in the SEC Tournament championship game for the fifth time in school history and fourth time since 1996. The Bulldogs last played in the finals in 2003 and last won the tournament in 2002.

Jarvis Varnado led the MSU attack with 19 points and seven blocked shots. Phil Turner had another monster night on the glass, claiming 11 rebounds. The Bulldogs had an atypical day from 3-point range, only hitting three. MSU also shook off early free throw struggles. Defense and rebounding proved enough to offset those numbers as MSU knocked off LSU for the first time in three tries this season.

The Bulldogs took this contest over midway through the second half. A contest full of strong, physical defensive play swung when the Bulldogs put together a 15-6 run. Ironically, the Bulldogs built the lead thanks in part to strong minutes from reserves Brian Johnson, Riley Benock, Kodi Augustus, Twanny Beckham and Romero Osby.

After building the 49-41 lead, the Tigers scored the next four points but got no closer the remainder of the way. MSU closed out the contest with a 10-0 run to open a 63-47 advantage in the final minutes.

For the contest, the Bulldogs were 20 of 60 from the field and 3 of 16 from 3-point range.

GAME 35: MARCH 15, 2009

Miss. State 64, Tennessee 61
Tampa, FL

Remove all doubt. Mississippi State is going dancing.

The Bulldogs knocked off Tennessee 64-61 to win the SEC Tournament to become the fourth team in the history to win four-straight games in four days to claim the tournament crown.

It was the third title in school history, the first since 2002.

Sunday's contest was championship worthy, as there were 11 ties and 15 lead changes. The Bulldogs sprinted out of the gates, taking a 9-2 lead. UT quickly answered with a 7-0 run.

In the closing stages of the first half, Barry Stewart was fouled on a 3-point attempt. Stewart hit all three free throw attempts for a 34-30 lead. UT forced a 36-36 halftime when Tyler Smith hit a buzzer beater.

A pair of Stewart free throws in the second frame gave the Bulldogs a 46-41 advantage. The Vols answered with a 6-0 run. Minutes later, trailing 57-56, MSU took the lead for good on a Phil Turner 3-point basket with 1:31 left.

Turner also made his mark on the defensive end with a key steal with nine seconds left. After the subsequent foul, Turner hit a pair of free throws to seal MSU's sixth straight win.

Turner paced four Bulldogs in double figures with 12 points. Stewart and Ravern Johnson each added 11 points, while Jarvis Varnado had 10 points. Turner had a team-high 10 rebounds, while Stewart had eight rebounds and Varnado has seven rebounds. Dee Bost had a team-high five assists.

For their efforts in Tampa, Stewart and Varnado were named to the all-tournament team, with Varnado taking top honors as the MVP.

GAME 36: MARCH 19, 2009

Washington 71, Miss. State 58
Portland, OR

Mississippi State postseason magic ran out against Washington, 71-58 in a first-round game of the NCAA Tournament at the Rose Garden.

For the 13th-seeded Bulldogs, an exciting season ends at 23-13.

The Bulldogs hovered in the upper 20 percent range from the field for most of the day. MSU only converted five 3-point attempts and had to watch Jarvis Varnado battle through foul trouble most the contest. Washington's Jon Brockman, the Pac 10's premier big man, had a monster afternoon with 10 points and 15 rebounds.

MSU had the early lead in the opening stages of the game. The contest opened with a made 3-point basket by MSU's Barry Stewart. The Bulldogs then later led 10-6. A basket by UW's Elston Turner tied the teams 10-10. Dee Bost placed the Bulldogs ahead 12-10 on a layup.

From there, the Bulldogs lost their offensive touch. A 9-2 run by the Huskies allowed Washington open up a 19-14 advantage.

Washington finished the half a strong. A 3-point play by Quincy Pondexter in the final seconds gave the Huskies a 38-27 lead at halftime.

The Huskies, who won the battle of the boards 45-35, scored the first six points of the second half and were rarely threatened in the final 20 minutes. MSU got no closer than 13 points (at 57-44 with 6:39 left) until the closing minutes.

Pondexter finished with 23 points to pace Washington's offensive attack.

Barry Stewart led the Bulldogs with 14 points.

HALL OF FAMER BAILEY HOWELL

The greatest name in Mississippi State University basketball history received the greatest honor the sport has to offer on Sept. 29, 1997, as Bailey Howell was formally enshrined into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. Listed below are just some of the many accomplishments achieved by Bailey Howell during his record-setting three-year collegiate stint at Mississippi State and productive 12-year career in the National Basketball Association:

- ✕ Member of the Tennessee, Mississippi and MSU Sports Halls of Fame
- ✕ Namesake of the Cellular South Howell Trophy, presented annually at the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame and Museum to the top male basketball player among Mississippi's four-year senior colleges
- ✕ Two-time all-American and three-time, first-team all-SEC selection
- ✕ Consensus first-team all-American as a senior (1958-59) and consensus second-team all-American as a junior (1957-58)
- ✕ Ranked among the nation's top-10 statistical leaders in both scoring and rebounding during all three varsity seasons (1957-59)
- ✕ Ranked fourth nationally in scoring during junior (27.8 ppg) and senior (27.5 ppg) years
- ✕ Led the NCAA in field-goal percentage (56.8%) as a sophomore, while standing second among the nation's rebounding leaders as a senior (15.2 rpg)
- ✕ Owns MSU's career records for scoring average (27.1 ppg), rebounds (1,277), rebounding average (17.0 rpg), free throws made (682) and free throws attempted (892)
- ✕ Ranks second (behind Jeff Malone) on the school's all-time scoring list with 2,030 career points
- ✕ Owns MSU's single-game scoring (47 points vs. Union in 1958) and rebounding (34 rebounds vs. LSU in 1957) marks
- ✕ Served as team co-captain as a junior and tri-captain as a senior, helping lead coach Babe McCarthy's teams to a three-year composite record of 61-14, including an SEC title during his senior campaign
- ✕ Starred for 12 years in the National Basketball Association, having ranked among the NBA's all-time top-10 leaders in nine statistical categories upon his retirement in 1971
- ✕ Six-time NBA All-Star named to the All-NBA Second Team in 1963
- ✕ Member of two NBA World Championship teams (1968 & 1969) with the Boston Celtics
- ✕ Selected by the Detroit Pistons in the first round (second pick overall) of the 1959 NBA Draft

Presented to MSU forward Lawrence Roberts (left) in 2005 during the award's inaugural year, the Cellular South Howell Trophy is annually given to the top male basketball player among Mississippi's four-year senior colleges.

A member of the Tennessee, Mississippi and MSU Halls of Fame, Bailey Howell is honored in the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame and Museum in Jackson with a 10-foot cardboard cutout of the former all-American.

San Juan Shootout - Guaynabo, PR

* SEC Tournament - Nashville, TN

The 1908-09 Mississippi A&M team opened the school's first-ever basketball campaign with five consecutive wins under the guidance of head coach T.H. Werner.

The sport of basketball initially came into existence at the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College through the efforts of the sports editors of the school newspaper, The Reflector, during the early 1900s. During the three-year span from 1903 to 1905, a series of short editorials had aroused the interest of the students around campus. Urgent appeals, pleading for recognition of basketball as an intercollegiate sport, appeared during these years. In October 1906, the Faculty Committee on Athletics approved the application for the support of basketball by the athletic department. Without the availability of a gymnasium for practice, the team reported for outdoor practice sessions during the early part of November. While no official coach was available for basketball instruction, the team was comprised of the following students: E.R. Blanton, F.N. Chisholm, D.C. Miller, J.T. Pinkston, R.L. Proffit, C.G. Smith, and R.L. Steinwinder. A guard on the club, Steinwinder was elected the team captain. Due to the absence of teams at neighboring colleges, intercollegiate games could not be scheduled. The only game that was played during the first "season" was contested on the night of Nov. 26, 1906 in nearby Columbus, Miss., against the Columbus Athletic Club.

The game's outcome, a 41-10 win by the Athletic Club, was not relished very much by the A&M students. Consequently, interest in basketball dwindled somewhat around campus, and there were not any further attempts to revive the sport again until 1909.

Basketball returned to campus in 1909, with T.H. Werner at the helm for one season. Captained by H.B. Furman, the first

That first A&M edition reeled off five consecutive victories to open the season, including lopsided wins over less-talented athletic clubs from Brownsville, Tenn., (75-0) and Columbus, Miss. (61-1). The Reflector, the school newspaper, reported the back-to-back triumphs in a rather amusing way.

"A team from Brownsville, touring as an athletic association, came with the idea that they knew basketball. A large and enthusiastic crowd encouraged the A&M boys, and the splendid teamwork was practically uninterrupted."

On the team's visit to nearby Columbus two days later, The Reflector reported, "A&M spent too much valuable time looking at the good-looking girls to do themselves justice, and consequently scored only 61 points to one for the visitors."

That 1909 club finished the season with five consecutive low-scoring road losses to end the year with a 5-5 record. After not having a team for the 1909-10 hoops season, W.D. Chadwick, guided A&M for one rather uneventful campaign (2-4 record).

The A&M basketball program enjoyed tremendous success under the direction of Earle C. "Billy" Hayes, who tutored A&M track great Don Magruder Scott (in whose honor MSU's Scott

"official" A&M roundball game was played on the evening of Jan. 1. Coach Werner held the team together during the Christmas holidays, expecting to play Illinois, but instead took on the Columbus Athletic Club because of Illinois' decision to cancel its Southern trip. A&M's "official" basketball debut proved to be a successful one, with the home team claiming a 35-6 triumph.

Field is named) and other Olympians before becoming a very successful track coach at Indiana University. Hayes, whose 12-year tenure at A&M is tied for the school's longest stint (with Richard Williams) for a head basketball coach, posted a composite record of 124-54 from 1912 to 1924. A graduate of Albion College in Michigan, Hayes currently ranks as the school's fourth-winningest basketball coach of all-time behind Williams, Babe McCarthy and current State mentor Rick Stansbury. During these dozen seasons, Hayes' A&M clubs "claimed" four Southern Championships (1912-14, '16). The first Dixie title came in his initial year on the job, as A&M recorded a perfect 9-0 mark for the school's first and only undefeated basketball campaign in 94 seasons of competition.

The perfect season of 1911-12 was followed by outstanding records of 11-1 and 13-2 during the next two years, as A&M "claimed" its second and third consecutive Southern Championships. Having also "won" the title again in 1916, all claims but the 1914 championship were disputed by the other schools holding membership in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The bone of contention for the SIAA members generally centered around the fact that the colleges did not have uniform courts. Some courts were long and narrow with low ceilings, while others were irregular and in some instances had column or other obstructions in the playing court. The result was that the home teams most always won. As a result, the team that could schedule the most home games usually had the best winning percentage at the end of the season and, of course, "claimed" the championship.

Coach E.C. Hayes' first of his school-record 12 years at the Mississippi A&M hoops helm resulted in the only perfect basketball season (9-0 in 1911-12) in the history of Mississippi State University.

MSU BASKETBALL HISTORY

To eliminate the possibility of continued disputes among SIAA members, the Atlanta Athletic Club officials, in 1921, decided to organize a tournament to be held at a neutral site on a specially constructed court erected just for the tournament games. Open to all Southern college teams and played in the Atlanta Auditorium, the 1923 SIAA Tournament was captured by Mississippi A&M. With tourney wins over Furman, rival Mississippi, Georgia Tech and Tennessee-Chattanooga, Hayes' 1923 A&M contingent finished with a 15-4 overall record.

A&M went 13-8 the following year in Hayes' final season before leaving to become the head track coach at Indiana University in Bloomington. During his 12-year stint as head basketball coach at A&M, his teams never had a losing season and never finished lower than fourth among the more than 40 Southern schools. All of this was accomplished despite A&M not having an indoor basketball court or training facility until 1920.

Upon Hayes' departure in 1924, the A&M coaching reins changed hands five times over the next decade or so. K.P. Gatchell guided the 1924-25 club to a respectable 14-9 mark before giving way to Bernie Bierman, who directed A&M to records of 14-8 and 17-7 in his brief two-year coaching stint. Bierman, a University of Minnesota graduate, would later return to his alma mater to pace the Golden Gopher football teams to five national championships and seven Big Ten titles during a 16-year association with the U of M gridiron unit. The University of Minnesota's main athletic building and track & field stadium are presently named in his honor.

A 16th consecutive winning season (13-7 record) followed in 1927-28 under the guidance of first-year head man Ray G. Dauber, an Iowa graduate. However, five successive losing seasons ensued during this period, beginning with an 8-15 season in 1928-29 and a 5-8 mark the following year when A&M had to play all of its games on the road because a home facility was not available.

After not fielding a team for the 1930-31 campaign, three significant events occurred in 1932 that marked a new beginning for the school's basketball program. In the fall of 1931, the "Tin Gym" - A&M's first permanent gymnasium which later was used for intramural and recreational student activities on campus - was constructed at a cost of $12,000. With a seating capacity of 1,800 people, the Tin Gym era began with a 30-26 setback to LSU on Jan. 25, 1932.

One week later (Feb. 3, 1932), A&M became Mississippi State College after legislative action was approved. Later that year (Dec. 8-9) at the annual Southern Conference meeting in Knoxville, Tenn., Mississippi State became one of the 13 charter members of the Southeastern Conference, along with Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane, and Vanderbilt.

Mississippi State's first year in the SEC marked Dauber's last season at the hoops helm in Starkville. Despite a regular-season league mark of 3-9 (6-13 overall), State advanced to the finals of the inaugural SEC Tournament. Making the school's only previous appearance in the league tourney's title tilt before winning both the 1996 and 2002 crowns, Dauber's club bested Alabama and Vanderbilt in Atlanta before falling to league champion Kentucky in the title game. State's Frank Waits was chosen first-team all-tournament, while teammates Buford Taylor and George Pillow were second-team selections.

Mississippi State's first two decades competing in the SEC were mostly filled with losing campaigns and lower-division league finishes. Edwin (Goat) Hale, a graduate of Mississippi College, guided the team to a two-year mark of 20-17 before giving way to Notre Dame alumnus Frank Carideo. State posted winning seasons in 1935-36 and 1936-37, including a fourth-place SEC finish during Carideo's debut year. However, a pair of sub-.500 ledgers followed, and Carideo was replaced by Stanfield (Dick) Hitt to start the new decade.

Under Hitt's guidance, Mississippi State began the 1940s on a high note with four consecutive winning seasons (9-6, 12-10, 13-7 & 14-8), including a 13-7 SEC record and fourth-place league finish in 1943. Unfortunately because of World War II, State did not have a basketball team in 1943-44, and the short-lived success obtained earlier in the decade could not be duplicated when the roundball squad returned to action on the court the following year. Three successive losing seasons later, and Hitt was replaced by Paul Gregory, who would later pilot the MSU baseball contingent to four NCAA Regional appearances and a quartet of SEC titles during an accomplished 18-year coaching career on the diamond.

However, during Gregory's eight-year stint (1948-55) on the hardwood, the Maroons struggled through a composite record of 58-100 with only a pair of winning seasons (12-11 in 1952 & 11-10 in 1954). Perhaps the biggest event to take place on campus during the Gregory era was the opening of the "New Gym."

State claimed a 94-69 home win over the visiting LSU Tigers, Dec. 15, 1950, to begin a new era of Mississippi State basketball. Built at a cost of $550,000, the New Gym could hold around 5,000 spectators, many of whom often wielded deafening cowbells during home basketball games before the Southeastern Conference, in 1974, banned artificial noise-makers at games between SEC institutions. Over the next 25 seasons (1950-75), the New Gym would go on to be the site of 192 State victories (.688) and four SEC basketball titles.

The 1950s did signal the beginning of a turnaround for the Mississippi State basketball program, as State began to reel in some quality local roundball talent. Herbert (Hawkeye) Hargett, a set-shooting guard from Golden, Miss., became the first Mississippi State player to earn all-SEC basketball honors.

Mississippi State strung together home win streaks of 35 and 25 consecutive games en route to compiling a 25-year home record of 192-87 (.688 winning percentage) at the "New Gym," which later was renamed McCarthy Gym in honor of the late MSU coach.

Hargett, who averaged 18.8 points per game in 1950-51, garnered second-team all-league plaudits during both of his State campaigns after transferring from Sunflower Junior College.

Hargett's scoring record was broken the following year by second-team all-SEC standout Coyte (Red) Vance, who averaged 20.5 points during the 1951-52 season. The 6-0 forward from Conehatta, Miss., tallied 471 total points on the season, hitting 162 field goals and going 147-of-231 from the free throw line.

High-scoring junior college transfer Gerald Caveness and high school all-state guard Jim Ashmore, hailing from Booneville and Forest, respectively, continued the trend of local basketball talent staying home. Caveness, whose son (Gary) would suit up for MSU's hoopsters some 30 years later, collected all-SEC honors during each of his two collegiate seasons. Meanwhile, Ashmore's brilliant career was just beginning as Gregory gave way to a 31-year-old named Babe McCarthy in 1955 to explore a coaching career on the baseball diamond at State.

The image of Mississippi State's basketball program would change dramatically with the hiring of a young Mississippian named James Harrison "Babe" McCarthy. After State went 6-17 overall and 2-12 in the SEC in Gregory's last year, McCarthy was hired in July 1955 by legendary director of athletics C.R. "Dudy" Noble. A native of Baldwyn, Miss., and a former World War II transport pilot, McCarthy was working for an oil company in Clarksdale, Miss., when he was put in charge of Mississippi State's roundball fortunes. With his hiring, McCarthy became the first MSU mentor charged only with coaching duties of the men's basketball team.

The Maroons, paced by all-SEC guard Jim Ashmore's 22.3 points-per-game scoring average, improved to 12-12 overall and 6-8 in the SEC during McCarthy's initial season on the State bench. Despite the .500 record, the immediate prospects for roundball success looked much brighter as future State greats Bailey Howell, Jerry Keeton and Kermit Davis spent the 1955-56 campaign playing junior varsity because of the NCAA rule prohibiting freshmen from playing on the varsity squad.

Paced by Ashmore, a senior, and sophomore Howell, the 1956-57 Maroon contingent became the highest scoring team in school history en route to registering a 17-8 overall record and a 9-5 league mark. Ashmore (28.3 ppg) and Howell (25.9 ppg), both first-team all-SEC selections, finished the year ranked sixth and ninth, respectively, among the nation's scoring leaders. In his first varsity season, Howell also compiled a single-season school standard that will likely never be matched by averaging an amazing 19.7 rebounds per contest to rank sixth nationally. As a team, State ranked sixth in the NCAA averaging a school-record 84.8 points per contest, while earning a school-first No. 15 ranking in the final AP poll.

A year later, the Maroons reached the 20-win mark (20-5) for the first time in school history, again going 9-5 in league play and ending the year with a No. 15 national ranking in the AP poll. Individually, Howell earned his second of three first-team all-SEC honors as well as garnering consensus second-team all-America accolades. The Middleton, Tenn., native, who donned No. 52 during his brilliant collegiate career, finished the 1957-58 campaign as the nation's fourth-leading scorer (27.8 ppg) behind fellow future NBA Hall of Famers Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Seattle's Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas. A future NBA All-Star and Hall of Famer in his own right, Howell also ranked ninth in the country in rebounding (16.2 rpg) as a junior.

With all the team and individual successes enjoyed by Mississippi State during McCarthy's first three seasons in Starkville, nothing could compare, past or present, to what his talent-laden clubs would accomplish over the next five basketball campaigns. In their third and final varsity season together, tri-captains Howell, Keeton and Davis would spearhead the 1958-59 Maroon machine to the school's first-ever SEC basketball championship. Only an SEC-opening 97-66 loss at Auburn to start the new calendar year (Jan. 3) kept State from recording a perfect season. State opened with a nine-game winning streak and closed with a 15-game win string that included a 66-58 home triumph (Feb. 9, 1959) over top-ranked and defending national champion Kentucky. By the time the memorable season had come to a close, the Maroons were 24-1 overall, 13-1 in the SEC, and ranked third in the final Associated Press poll behind only Kansas State and league rival Kentucky.

Individually, Howell broke LSU standout Bob Pettit's SEC career scoring mark with 2,030 points, and finished his senior year ranked fourth in the nation in scoring (27.5 ppg) and second in rebounding (15.2 rpg). The second player overall selected in the 1959 NBA Draft by the Detroit Pistons, Howell would go on to become a six-time NBA All-Star in addition to playing for two World Champion Boston Celtics clubs.

During a rebuilding year, the 1959-60 State contingent turned in a 12-13 ledger (5-9 SEC mark), but did extend a home-court winning streak to 35 consecutive games before falling to Auburn (64-48 on Jan. 2) in the team's SEC lid-lifter. Despite the losing season, the Maroons again had reason for optimism as incoming freshmen Red Stroud, Leland Mitchell and Joe Dan Gold were starring for State's JV squad.

MSU BASKETBALL HISTORY

The rebuilding process was indeed a successful one, as Mississippi State proceeded to claim outright or a share of three successive SEC titles. With senior forward Jerry Graves leading a sophomore-laden team in both scoring (21.3 ppg) and rebounding (10.3 rpg) as a first-team all-SEC recipient, the 1960-61 Bulldogs went 19-6 overall and 11-3 in league play to finish one game ahead of both Kentucky and Vanderbilt atop the conference standings.

For the second time in four years, MSU posted the nation's best winning percentage (.960) by again registering a 24-1 overall record during the 1961-62 campaign. The Bulldogs made up for a 100-86 road loss to the Vanderbilt Commodores in mid-January with 12 straight SEC victories, including a first-ever triumph at second-ranked Kentucky (49-44 on Feb. 12), to tie the Wildcats for a share of the Southeastern Conference championship. With both Mitchell and Stroud earning first-team all-SEC honors and McCarthy collecting his second of three successive SEC Coach of the Year awards, the 1961-62 MSU club finished the season ranked fourth in both The Associated Press and United Press International polls.

State's run of four SEC basketball titles in five years was completed during the 1962-63 campaign under the senior leadership of Mitchell, Stroud and Gold. The veteran Bulldog trio helped pace McCarthy's last winning ballclub to a 22-6 overall mark and 12-2 ledger in league play, winning the SEC by two games over Georgia Tech and Auburn. The trio of Mitchell, Stroud and Gold concluded their MSU careers by helping the Bulldogs to a remarkable three-year composite record of 65-13 (.833), climaxed by the school's first-ever postseason appearance at the NCAA Mideast Regional in East Lansing, Mich. Upon dropping a 61-51 first-round decision to eventual national champion Loyola of Chicago, State rebounded with a 65-60 consolation win over Bowling Green at Jenison Field House.

The glory years of Mississippi State basketball had come to a close with the team's memorable 1962-63 season. Records of 9-17 and 10-16 followed in 1963-64 and 1964-65, respectively, and McCarthy was replaced by one of his prized pupils - fellow MSU alumnus

Joe Dan Gold. Though he departed the Starkville campus on the heels of two consecutive losing seasons, McCarthy left an indelible mark on the history of Mississippi State athletics by directing his alma mater to a 10-year record of 169-85 (.665) and four SEC titles in becoming the school's all-time winningest basketball coach. His impact on the university's basketball program can not only be appreciated by fully comprehending his unrivaled win-loss record, but the late Bulldog mentor's enthusiasm and charisma would have an everlasting effect on a wide-eyed math education major from Pearl, Miss. Richard T. Williams, who worked in MSU's physical education department and observed many of McCarthy's practices in the mid-1960s, would some three decades later surpass "The Babe" as the school's winningest hoops coach and return Bulldog Basketball back to the national limelight.

As is very often the case with any coach who succeeds a legendary coaching figure, Joe Dan Gold faced a very difficult task ahead of him at the tender young age of 23. The Benton, Ky., native and team captain of MSU's 1963 NCAA Tournament club was hired in March 1965 to replace McCarthy, who then went on to be the head coach at George Washington University before enjoying a successful coaching tour in the old American Basketball Association (ABA).

The third of four successive MSU graduates to hold the school's head basketball coach's position during a 30-year period, Gold put together back-to-back respectable records of 14-11 in his first two seasons at the MSU helm. Paced by all-SEC forward/center Dave Williams, the team's scoring and rebounding leader in both 1965-66 and 1966-67, the Bulldogs finished in a third-place tie in the SEC standings during Gold's debut campaign.

After a fifth-place league finish the following year (1966-67) en route to another 14-11 overall record, State struggled through three consecutive losing seasons with single-digit win totals (9-17, 8-17 & 6-18) each of the three years. The team's best SEC record during this span was 6-12 in 1968-69. Following a 6-18 season (3-15 SEC mark) in 1969-70, Gold was replaced by another MSU alumnus, Kermit Davis, to help direct the Bulldogs into the 1970s.

Appointed to guide the Bulldogs into the new decade, Davis was elevated to the position of head basketball coach at his alma mater after serving four years as an assistant coach for the Bulldogs. A native of Walnut, Miss., Davis, in 1955, became the first high school player signed by Babe McCarthy. Davis went on to become a three-year standout guard for McCarthy's squads, serving as a tri-captain for MSU's 1958-59 SEC Championship club.

Always a favorite among media members during his sensational 10-year coaching stint at Mississippi State University, the personable James Harrison "Babe" McCarthy guided the Bulldogs to 169 basketball victories and four SEC championships.

In his initial season at the Bulldog helm, Davis' troops went 15-10 and tied for fourth place in the SEC standings with a 9-9 league mark. For his efforts, Davis was named the SEC Coach of the Year by The Associated Press voters. The team's win total fell each of the next two years, from an even 13-13 in 1971-72 to 11-15 the following season. After rebounding with a 16-10 record (8-10 in the SEC) in 1973-74, the Bulldogs dipped to 9-17 the next year in their final season of home competition at the "New Gym."

As the Bulldogs were making plans to move into their new basketball facility to signal the beginning of a new era of Mississippi State athletics, the university lost perhaps its greatest basketball ambassador with the passing of James Harrison "Babe" McCarthy. McCarthy passed away, March 18, 1975, after an eight-month battle with cancer. Ironically, McCarthy was inducted into the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame during a ceremony in Jackson the previous night, though he was unable to attend because of his illness.

Named in honor of George Duke Humphrey, a former president (1934-45) at Mississippi State University, the Humphrey Coliseum era of Mississippi State hoops tipped off, Dec. 1, 1975, versus Indiana State. With freshman guard Ray White scoring a game-high 34 points in his MSU debut, the Bulldogs claimed a narrow 85-82 victory with a crowd of 5,483 fans in attendance at the team's new $6-million, 10,000-seat facility. Coach Davis' club would go on to win its first five games at "The Hump," including a 77-73 triumph of SEC power Kentucky, before settling with a 13-13 overall record and 6-12 league mark.

A near duplicate 14-13 campaign (6-12 in the SEC) followed in 1976-77 despite eight straight wins to open the season. After piloting the Bulldogs to a seven-year composite record of 91-91 with only two losing seasons, Davis was replaced by Ron Greene, who left his post at the University of New Orleans in May 1977 to become Mississippi State's 14th head basketball coach. In Davis' final game as MSU's head man (March 7, 1977), freshman center Rickey Brown hit for a school-record 18 field goals in 22 attempts against Auburn en route to a Humphrey Coliseum-record (for an MSU player) 40-point outing.

Greene's first and only season at the MSU helm produced the Bulldogs' most successful roundball campaign since winning their fourth SEC title in 1962-63.

With Greene winning consensus SEC

A three-time all-SEC honoree and first-round NBA draft pick in 1979, center Rickey Brown helped lead the 1978-79 Bulldog squad to the school's first-ever National Invitation Tournament appearance.

Coach of the Year honors, "the Greene Machine" rolled to an 18-9 overall record in 1977-78 with future NBA standouts Rickey Brown and Wiley Peck leading the way. Despite a 13-5 SEC record and second-place league finish behind national champion Kentucky, MSU did not receive a post-season tournament invitation. Upon leaving State after only one year to take over the coaching chores at his alma mater (Murray State), Greene gave way to East Tennessee State alumnus Jim Hatfield.

Inheriting the talents of all-SEC performers Brown, Peck and White, Hatfield's first Bulldog edition bolted out of the gates with eight consecutive wins to start the season, including an 80-73 victory over the host Louisville Cardinals in the championship game of the Louisville Holiday Classic just after Christmas. That 8-0 start vaulted MSU to the school's first national ranking (#18 AP; #13 UPI) since the 1962-63 season. Winning their last four regular-season league contests, the 1978-79 Bulldogs finished with a 19-9 overall mark (11-7 in the SEC) after dropping an 80-78 first-round home decision to Alcorn State in the National Invitation Tournament. The NIT berth marked MSU's first postseason appearance in 16 years.

Despite Brown averaging a team-best 20.5 points and a league-leading 14.4 rebounds per game as a first-team all-SEC pick in 1979-80, Hatfield's team fell below the .500 mark to 13-14 overall and 7-11 in the league. Though the Bulldogs had landed future NBA draft picks Jeff Malone, Terry Lewis and Kalpatrick Wells to begin the new decade, the records continued to dip to 8-19 and 3-15 in the SEC the next year. Following the club's worst season in 11 years, Hatfield was excused from his MSU post in favor of Southern Cal's Bob Boyd.

The Bulldogs' third successive non-MSU graduate to assume the school's basketball coaching reins, Boyd came to Starkville in 1981 after a successful 13-year coaching stint at his alma mater. Guiding the Trojans to an impressive composite record of 216-131 (.622), including a pair of 24-win campaigns (24-2 in 1970-71 & 24-5 in 1973-74), Boyd helped produce 11 NBA performers during his 13 seasons at the USC helm.

Known for their ball-control, defensive style of play, Boyd's Bulldog clubs managed but one winning season in five years. Following an 8-19 season (4-14 SEC mark) in Boyd's initial year on the job, the Malone-led Bulldogs improved to 17-12 overall and 9-9 in the league during the 1982-83 campaign. A senior all-America guard from Macon, Ga., Malone finished the season as the nation's No. 2 scorer (26.8 ppg) in being named the UPI's SEC Player of the Year. A three-time all-SEC performer, Malone broke Bailey Howell's career school scoring standard, Feb. 26, 1983, in Tuscaloosa, Ala., and finished his MSU career with a school-record 2,142 points. Picked 10th overall by the Washington Bullets in the 1983 NBA Draft, Malone enjoyed a productive 13-year NBA career with the Bullets, Utah Jazz, Philadelphia 76ers and Miami Heat before completing his pro career overseas following the 1995-96 NBA season.

MSU BASKETBALL HISTORY

After the team's win total was nearly halved the next year (9-19), the 1984-85 Bulldogs rebounded with a 13-15 overall record and fifth-place tie in the SEC standings with a break-even 9-9 league mark. Just a year after earning SEC Coach of the Year laurels by both the AP and UPI voters, Boyd surprised Mississippi State fans by announcing his resignation at the start of the league season. Effective at the conclusion of the 1985-86 season, Boyd made the announcement, Jan. 2, 1986, prior to the Bulldogs' SEC opener against the Alabama Crimson Tide. MSU limped through the "lame duck" season with a 6-21 regular-season mark (3-15 in the SEC), but did turn things around in the postseason by advancing to the semifinals of the SEC Tournament with wins over Vanderbilt and Auburn at Kentucky's Rupp Arena. Boyd, who left MSU to move back to his native California, compiled a 55-87 record in five seasons at Mississippi State.

Charged with the unenviable task of trying to resurrect the Mississippi State basketball program, Richard T. Williams became the school's 17th head basketball coach, March 19, 1986, after spending the 1984-85 and 1985-86 seasons as an assistant coach on Bob Boyd's Bulldog coaching staff. Having spent his entire coaching career solely within the state of Mississippi, the 1967 MSU graduate inherited a program that had suffered through a composite record of 76-120 (.388) with six losing seasons in the first seven years of the 1980s. Additionally, Mississippi State had gone through five different head coaches in the 20 years since the glory years achieved under the legendary Babe McCarthy. Williams also became the first MSU grad in the school's roundball post since Kermit Davis (1971-77).

Success did not come instantly for the rookie Bulldog taskmaster, as the 1986-87 MSU edition struggled to a 7-21 overall record and a second consecutive last-place finish (3-15) in the conference standings. Despite the lack of immediate success that first season, the future state of Mississippi State hoops looked much brighter with the signing of one of the best recruiting classes in program history.

Consisting mainly of homegrown high school standouts from tiny Mississippi towns, MSU's talented 1986-87 recruiting class would gradually turn the Bulldogs from perennial league doormats to yearly SEC contenders during their remarkable collective four-year run.

The freshman-laden 1987-88 MSU squad began the season with eight straight victories en route to doubling the team's win totals (14-15 overall and 6-12 in the SEC) from the previous campaign. With as many as three or four true freshmen in the starting lineup throughout the season, the youthful Bulldogs were beginning to re-establish respectability within the Southeastern Conference with a sweep of the LSU Tigers and a regular season-ending home win over the nationally ranked Vanderbilt Commodores.

After narrowly missing the .500 mark again in 1988-89 with a 13-15 overall mark (7-11 in the SEC), the Bulldogs returned to postseason tournament action for the first time in 11 years the following season. Highlighted by overtime home triumphs over LSU, Mississippi and Kentucky, including a memorable four-overtime 104-102 victory over the rival Rebels (Jan. 24, 1990), the 1989-90 Bulldogs registered the school's first winning basketball season (16-14, 7-11) since 1982-83 in advancing to the second round of the National Invitation Tournament. Paced by all-SEC forwards Cameron Burns and Greg Carter, the impact recruiting class of 1986-87 had had three full years to jell as an experienced unit, and were collectively readying for the 1990-91 campaign as seasoned veterans.

Led by the senior quintet (L-R) of Todd Merritt, Greg Carter, Cameron Burns, Doug Hartsfield and Carl Nichols, the 1990-91 Bulldog edition earned MSU's first NCAA Tournament berth and SEC Championship in 28 years.

After a seven-game win streak to begin the year and a break-even start through a half-dozen league games, the 1990-91 senior-led Mississippi State squad stood 10-5 entering the meat of the Southeastern Conference slate. But, after a pair of four-game SEC win strings during a month-long, nine-game league stretch, the Bulldogs found themselves in the national polls for the first time since 1978-79 and in contention for their first SEC basketball title in 28 years. The brilliant four-year blueprint masterminded by Williams and his staff some four years earlier had come to fruition in the shape of an SEC title game against the LSU Tigers. With a then-record crowd of 10,303 fans on hand at Humphrey Coliseum for the regular-season finale, the Bulldogs posted a narrow 76-73 victory over LSU, March 2, 1991, to earn a share of their first SEC title since 1962-63.

With Williams picking up SEC Coach of the Year honors (Coaches' & UPI), along with Burns and Carter each receiving first-team all-SEC recognition, MSU reached the 20-win mark during the regular season on the way to earning the school's first NCAA Tournament berth in 28 years. Not long after the celebration of the school's first SEC title since 1963, a first-round loss to Tennessee in the SEC Tournament was followed by a 76-56 setback to Eastern Michigan in opening-round play of the NCAA East Regional in Syracuse, N.Y. In advancing to postseason play two straight years for the first time in school history, the 1990-91 Mississippi State contingent concluded a most memorable campaign with a 20-9 overall record, 13-5 SEC mark and No. 21 AP national ranking.

Faced with a rebuilding task upon losing six first-team senior members off the 1990-91 club, Williams directed his sixth MSU edition to a third straight winning season in 1991-92 with the all-SEC backcourt of Chuck Evans and Tony Watts leading the way. As the Southeastern Conference entered a new era of expansion with the additions of Arkansas and South Carolina, the Bulldogs went 15-13 overall and 7-9 in league play to finish fourth in the SEC's new-look Western Division. However, State's string of consecutive winning seasons ended at three as the 1992-93 Bulldog club fell to 13-16 overall (5-11 in the SEC) the following year.

Along with earning the team's third postseason berth in five years, a major obstacle hurdled by the 18-11 MSU edition was snapping a seven-year SEC Tournament drought with a 73-69 first-round win over Tennessee at The Pyramid in Memphis, Tenn.

As the team's win totals and postseason appearances continued to mount, so, too, did the expectations of everyone associated with MSU and its basketball program - from the fans and alumni to the players and coaches. And with many preseason prognosticators picking the Bulldogs to finish as high as second in the demanding SEC West en route to a predicted NCAA Tournament appearance, the pressure was on the talent-laden 1994-95 Bulldogs to live up to their preseason billing.

Despite capturing the team championship of the Missoulian/-Coca-Cola Classic in early December, MSU entered the Christmas holidays with a 4-2 record after a 66-64 neutral-site loss to rival Southern Mississippi. Spurred by winning their second tournament title within a month at the MiniMart/Gatorade Wyoming Cowboy Shootout, the Bulldogs won 16 of their last 20 regular-season contests.

Highlighting that impressive run were back-to-back home triumphs over reigning NCAA Final Four participants Florida and Arkansas plus a first-ever victory over Kentucky at Rupp Arena. The regular-season slate was capped by a 71-67 home win over rival Alabama, tying the Bulldogs with Arkansas for a share of the SEC Western Division championship with identical 12-4 league marks.

Individual honors abounded for the 1994-95 Mississippi State contingent, as Richard Williams was the consensus SEC Coach of the Year, while center Erick Dampier and guard Darryl Wilson garnered first-team and second-team all-SEC laurels, respectively.

Ranked 18th in the final AP poll, State claimed a No. 5 seeding in the NCAA West Regional for its fourth postseason tournament berth in six years. The Bulldogs proceeded to knock off both Santa Clara and Utah at the sub-regional in Boise, Idaho, to advance to the prestigious "Sweet 16" and earn the right to face top-ranked and eventual national champion UCLA out in Oakland, Calif. An 86-67 setback to the Bruins ended MSU's memorable season at 22 wins and just eight losses.

The excitement generated by the Bulldogs' "Sweet 16" showing translated to even greater anticipation for the start of the 1995-96 basketball campaign. Season tickets were being sold in record numbers during the preseason, and ESPN2's decision to televise Mississippi State's "Midnight Madness" practice activities precipitated the move of the team's season-opening festivities from the school's newly refurbished practice facility to the 10,000-seat Humphrey Coliseum. The return of all-SEC standouts Erick Dampier and Darryl Wilson along with the much-anticipated debut of junior college phenom Dontae' Jones drew an estimated 8,500 fans to "The Hump" for the official start of the most eagerly awaited hoops campaign in school history.

With their first-ever Associated Press preseason ranking in hand, the ninth-ranked Bulldogs tipped off the season with a five-game homestand - much to the delight of the State faithful who had five early opportunities to enjoy the talent-laden MSU team. Impressive victories over competitive UNC Wilmington and Brigham Young ballclubs were sandwiched between record-setting blowout wins over Southeastern Louisiana and Troy State. After climbing to No. 8 in both the AP and CNN/USA Today Coaches' polls, the Dogs stumbled a bit in their season-opening home-stand finale by dropping a last-second decision to coach Wimp Sanderson's Arkansas-Little Rock club.

Coach Richard Williams' troops righted themselves during a three-week span over the holidays, claiming six consecutive victories away from home. Successive road wins over Southern Mississippi and Northeast Louisiana were followed by neutral-site wins over Oregon State and the eventual NIT champion Nebraska Cornhuskers in Portland, Ore., as the Bulldogs captured their third straight in-season tournament title at the Ford Far West Classic. The winning continued into the start of Southeastern Conference play with back-to-back road triumphs over LSU and Florida.

All of the preseason hoopla came to a fevered pitch in Starkville on the night of Jan. 9, 1996, as a national TV audience joined a new Humphrey Coliseum-record crowd of 10,315 fans to witness the battle of the SEC's preseason divisional favorites on ESPN's "Super Tuesday" telecast. Second-ranked Kentucky came to town with an 11-1 record, while the No. 12 Bulldogs had rebounded to post six straight wins for a 10-1 overall mark. Coach Rick Pitino's Cats broke open a tightly contested battle midway through the second stanza and cruised to an 18-point victory. The emotional loss to the eventual national champions perhaps carried over into the team's next outing - a 56-55 home loss to Alabama on a buzzer-beating three-pointer by the Crimson Tide's Eric Washington. After salvaging the final contest of a three-game homestand by besting the rival Rebels of Mississippi, the Bulldogs proceeded to drop back-to-back road decisions to Arkansas and South Carolina. Four losses in five outings during a two-week span in mid-January knocked MSU out of the national polls for the first time all season, and gave the preseason SEC Western Division favorites an 11-5 overall record and 3-4 league mark.

The slumping Bulldogs benefitted from some midseason soul searching to win their next five contests, getting their collective feet back on solid ground with consecutive home triumphs over SEC East foes Tennessee and Georgia. A weather-delayed Sunday afternoon victory at Auburn helped fuel the momentum that resulted in an impressive home win over SEC West nemesis Arkansas and a confidence-building, non-conference triumph at Oklahoma. Sparked by Darryl Wilson's season-high 32 points and 11 boards, State's successful, nationally televised (CBS) showing against the Sooners in Norman elevated MSU back to No. 25 in The Associated Press Top 25.

A road setback to the Mississippi Rebels was answered profoundly by commanding performances in subsequent wins over LSU and Alabama. A 55-point second-half effort in their home victory over the Bayou Bengals preceded a flawless 54-point first-half outing in Tuscaloosa. Despite falling on the road to the Commodores of Vanderbilt, the Bulldogs' SEC West title hopes rested solely on their collective shoulders as the surprising Auburn Tigers visited Starkville for the regular-season finale. A brilliant second-half defensive effort against Auburn resulted in a 67-51 victory and Mississippi State's first outright Southeastern Conference championship, overall or divisional, since the 1962-63 hoops campaign.

A familiar opponent awaited the Bulldogs just six days later, as MSU met Auburn again in the quarterfinals of the SEC Tournament at the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. After completing the season sweep over the Tigers, Mississippi State perhaps put together its best 40 minutes of basketball in an 86-68 semifinal-round victory over Georgia. With junior forward Dontae' Jones capturing everyone's attention with his high-flying dunks and fall-away jumpers, the Bulldogs found themselves in the title game of the SEC Tournament for the first time since the inaugural postseason tourney in 1933.

In a rematch of the league's preseason divisional frontrunners, Mississippi State was paired with top-ranked Kentucky and the nation's longest winning streak (27 games) in the finals of the SEC Tournament. Jones' heroics continued to be on display during the title tilt in front of another national television (CBS) audience, as the Nashville native poured in a season-high 28 points to help pace the underdog Bulldogs to an 84-73 championship-game victory over the eventual NCAA champs.

While leading MSU to its first-ever SEC Tournament title with three double-digit wins, Jones was voted the tourney's Most Valuable Player and was joined on the all-tournament team by senior co-captain and all-SEC guard Darryl Wilson.

In earning their unprecedented second straight NCAA Tournament berth with a 22-7 overall record and No. 19 national ranking, the Bulldogs were tabbed as the No. 5 seed in the NCAA Southeast Regional at the RCA Dome in Indianapolis, Ind. After surviving a first-round 58-51 win over Virginia Commonwealth, Mississippi State then met sentimental favorite Princeton in second-round action. Executing a masterful gameplan against legendary coach Pete Carril's troops, the Bulldogs breezed to a 22-point victory on the strength of 60 percent field goal shooting and a commanding 34-15 rebounding advantage.

With the pair of Indy wins in the MSU records book in the form of a second straight NCAA Sweet 16 appearance, the Bulldogs would return to the familiar environs of Kentucky's Rupp Arena for their next round of competition. In the semifinals of the Southeast Regional in Lexington, MSU's nationally ranked defense limited the top-seeded Connecticut Huskies to season-low marks in field goal percentage (32.4%) and points en route to a 60-55 triumph over the nation's third-ranked team. In the process, the Bulldogs established a new single-season school standard for most victories with their 25th win of the campaign. More than holding his own against all-American Ray Allen of UConn, State's Darryl Wilson tallied a game-high 27 points on sizzling 7-of-11 shooting from behind the three-point arc.

The underdog Bulldogs' Cinderella-like march through March encountered one more obstacle - the seventh-ranked and second-seeded Cincinnati Bearcats - on their road to the NCAA Final Four. Once again riding the hot hand of Jones and his fourth double-double of the postseason, MSU jumped on Cincinnati early and fought to a 73-63 victory to claim the team championship of the NCAA Southeast Regional and earn the right to become the first university from Mississippi to represent the state in college basketball's championship showcase. Jones once again claimed Most Outstanding Player honors, and was joined on the all-regional team by Wilson and Dampier.

The Mississippi State Bulldogs knocked off three top-10 teams during a two-week span in March 1996, including wins over No. 3 Connecticut and No. 7 Cincinnati at the NCAA Southeast Regional in Lexington, Ky., en route to becoming the first school from the state of Mississippi to advance to the NCAA Final Four.

With basketball support at an all-time high within the Starkville community and around the state, the Bulldogs' championship season now took them to Continental Airlines Arena at the Meadowlands in East Rutherford, N.J., for a meeting with Syracuse of the BIG EAST Conference. A 77-69 loss to the Orangemen in the national semifinals ended MSU's memorable postseason tournament run, but did nothing to diminish the tremendous accomplishments of the most celebrated team in the 94-year history of MSU's basketball program.

Though the euphoria caused by the Final Four experience lasted throughout the offseason, the Bulldogs had to face the 1996-97 season minus all five starters from that special contingent. A transition 12-18 campaign was highlighted on New Year's Eve by Richard Williams surpassing Babe McCarthy with a win over Jerry Tarkanian's Fresno State club at the Puerto Rico Holiday Classic in San Juan to become the all-time winningest basketball coach in school history.

Following a frustrating 1997-98 season (15-15 record) marked by numerous narrow defeats and a school-most five overtime decisions, Williams announced his retirement from the MSU hoops post on March 12, 1998. With a school-best 191 wins and five postseason tournament appearances to his credit, Williams handed over the Bulldog coaching reins a day later to Rick Stansbury - his top assistant during the previous eight seasons in Starkville. In completing the timely transference of coaching responsibilities within Mississippi State University's basketball program, MSU Director of Athletics Larry Templeton announced Stansbury as the school's 18th head basketball coach on March 13, 1998.

State's smooth coaching transition resulted in a respectable 20-13 record, semifinal-round appearance in the SEC Tournament and a first-round NIT showing in 1998-99 under Stansbury's leadership. As Stansbury became the winningest first-year coach in school history, MSU closed out its most successful decade in the history of the school's basketball program with a 10-year composite record of 177-125. Along with winning nearly 60 percent of their games during the 1990s, the Bulldogs concluded the decade by making six postseason appearances (three NCAA & three NIT) and posting four 20-win seasons.

The successful transference of the Bulldog basketball reins took place on March 13, 1998, when Rick Stansbury succeeded MSU's all-time winningest hoops coach, Richard Williams. Stansbury has since guided State to six postseason tournament berths and 164 victories during the past eight seasons.

Upon ushering in the new millennium with a youthful club that battled through a hard-luck 14-16 campaign during the 1999-2000 season, MSU returned to the postseason tournament picture a year later by making a solid showing in the 2001 National Invitation Tournament. After defeating Southern Miss, 75-68, in opening-round home action of the TiVo NIT, the Bulldogs went on the road to knock off Pittsburgh, 66-61, in come-from-behind fashion before having their impressive season-ending NIT run halted just two days later in Starkville with a 77-75 loss to eventual tourney champion Tulsa. En route to an 18-13 record, the 2000-01 regular season was highlighted by a 75-74 road victory over eventual NCAA runner-up Arizona in the title game of the UA-hosted Bank One Fiesta Bowl Classic played in Tucson.

That postseason success continued into a record-breaking hoops campaign the following season. Selected by most preseason prognosticators to finish at or near the bottom of the SEC's Western Division, the 2001-02 Bulldogs opened the season by matching a school standard with 11 consecutive victories. After beginning league play with a thrilling come-from-behind overtime home triumph over Kentucky, MSU capped the conference season with five straight wins to claim second-place honors in the SEC West.

The team's late-season momentum carried over into the postseason in 2002, as the Bulldogs knocked off powerful Florida, LSU and regular-season league champion Alabama at Atlanta's Georgia Dome to claim the school's second SEC Tournament title. All-SEC standouts Mario Austin and Derrick Zimmerman led the way for MSU in earning all-tournament honors, with Austin collecting tourney MVP laurels. In earning their first NCAA Tournament berth since 1996, State established a new single-season school standard with its 27th win by way of a 70-58 first-round tourney victory over McNeese State at the Midwest Regional in Dallas.

Unlike the previous season, MSU entered the 2002-03 campaign with high expectations, ranking as high as 10th in the preseason. Upon shaking off a season-opening home loss to hot-shooting Louisiana-Lafayette, the Bulldogs reeled off 10 consecutive non-conference triumphs, including impressive neutral-site wins over 11th-ranked Xavier (71-61) at New York's famed Madison Square Garden and No. 5 Oklahoma (54-45) in the Nokia Sugar Bowl Basketball Classic played in New Orleans.

Having stumbled out of the gates by tipping off conference play with three straight setbacks, MSU once again righted the ship by winning seven of its next eight SEC contests. Following back-to-back, sub-par efforts during road losses to both Arkansas and Tennessee, the Bulldogs were able to regroup at home in their regular-season finale by claiming an impressive 67-45 victory over Auburn on Senior Day to secure the school's first SEC Western Division championship since 1996.

The 2001-02 Mississippi State Bulldogs began the season with 11 consecutive victories and capped a late-season, nine-game winning streak by capturing the school's second SEC Tournament title at Atlanta's Georgia Dome.

MSU BASKETBALL HISTORY

The Bulldogs opened postseason play at the Louisiana Superdome - site of MSU's 1996 SEC Tournament championship run - in defense of their league tourney crown. State first completed a three-game season sweep of Mississippi and notched win No. 20 on the year with a 73-64 victory over the Rebels. A semifinal-round 76-61 triumph the next day over the LSU Tigers marked Stansbury's 100th career coaching victory and vaulted MSU into the league tournament championship game for the second straight year. However, the second-ranked Kentucky Wildcats would earn their 24th SEC Tournament crown with a 64-57 win in the title tilt.

Rewarded for their divisional crown and league tournament run, the 20th-ranked State squad earned a No. 5 NCAA Tournament seeding in nearby Birmingham, Ala. Unfortunately, the scrappy Butler Bulldogs would prematurely end MSU's season on an acrobatic, driving lay-up by Brandon Miller. Despite the heartbreaking 47-46 setback, the 2002-03 MSU club still managed to record 21 wins, claim a third SEC Western Division title, and earn a second consecutive NCAA Tournament berth.

During an off-season in which the Bulldogs lost Austin a year early and a pair of talented incoming recruits to the professional ranks, Stansbury and his staff spent the summer months attempting to secure holes in the Bulldogs' frontcourt. Their collective persistence resulted in the arrival of two-time all-Big 12 performer Lawrence Roberts from the scandal-ridden Baylor University basketball program. With senior guard Timmy Bowers hailing as the lone returning starter, State entered the 2003-04 campaign with an abundance of talent but also with plenty of unanswered questions.

An early-season measuring stick as to the makeup of this unique contingent took place in Bowling Green, Ky., as the Bulldogs put an end to Western Kentucky's NCAA-best, 39-game home winning streak with an 81-75 victory over the Hilltoppers in front of a sellout crowd at refurbished E.A. Diddle Arena. As December rolled around, a successful four-game homestand was capped by significant triumphs over eventual NCAA Tournament surprises UAB (86-84) and Xavier (82-70).

MSU opened defense of its SEC West crown with victories over divisional foes Mississippi (61-54) and Arkansas (80-62) en route to extending its season-opening winning streak to a school-record 13 straight games. Following a heartbreaking, last-second home setback to Kentucky, the Bulldogs reeled off eight straight conference wins, including five league road triumphs. The team's "Road Warriors" label took on added significance in mid-February, as State first erased a second-half, double-digit lead on the road to knock off South Carolina, 79-75, in overtime and then ventured to Fayetteville to record the school's long-awaited, first-ever win (77-70) at Arkansas' Bud Walton Arena.

Tabbed the "Road Warriors" for their perfect road record during the 2003-04 campaign, the Bulldogs were ranked as high as fourth nationally en route to claiming an SEC title (regular season or tourney) for the third straight season.

With a second straight SEC West crown already secured, the Bulldogs put their perfect season-long road record on the line by heading to divisional rival Alabama for the teams' regular-season finale. Down by 16 points with nine minutes left in regulation, MSU's improbable comeback was fueled by Bowers, who first sent the game into overtime with a basket at the end of regulation and then hit the game-winning baseline bucket. In addition to preserving State's unblemished road record (12-0 overall and 8-0 in SEC), the dramatic victory over the Tide gave the 25-2 Bulldogs their first outright SEC regular-season title since 1962-63.

Rewarded with a school-record No. 2 seeding in making their third consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance, the Bulldogs easily disposed of outmanned Monmouth, 85-52, before dropping an 89-74 decision to a hot-shooting Xavier ballclub in the second round of the Atlanta Regional played at Orlando's TD Waterhouse Centre. MSU's record-breaking campaign ended with a sparkling 26-4 overall record (14-2 in SEC) and No. 8 final AP ranking, while Stansbury and Roberts deservedly collected SEC Coach and Player of the Year honors, respectively.

With much of the team's firepower returning, Stansbury's 12th-ranked 2004-05 Bulldog edition opened the new campaign earlier than any other previous State squad.

An impressive non-conference schedule began with the prestigious Coaches vs. Cancer Classic. Following a pair of wins in Birmingham, Ala., MSU fell in the tournament semifinals to powerful hometown favorite Syracuse at New York's Madison Square Garden.

The team's early-season slate remained just as challenging into December, as the Bulldogs dropped a hard-fought 68-64 decision to a potent Arizona ballclub in the John R. Wooden Classic played in Anaheim, Calif. State rebounded from the tough four-point loss to the Wildcats by reeling off eight straight victories. However, the Jan. 8 win at rival Mississippi proved costly, as senior shooting guard Winsome Frazier went down with a foot injury. The Bulldogs kept afloat by splitting their next eight decisions without their second-best scorer and leading three-point threat, before the quick-healing Frazier returned to action in mid-February.

With Frazier back in the starting lineup, MSU used the momentum of three straight, late-season league wins to open SEC Tournament play with a 76-65 victory over Georgia. Following a quarterfinal-round tourney setback to eventual tournament champion Florida, the Bulldogs earned their fourth consecutive NCAA Tournament berth. Having also secured the program's fourth straight 20-win campaign, State opened regional play in Charlotte, N.C., with a convincing 93-70 triumph over the Stanford Cardinal. Two days later, the second-ranked Duke Blue Devils stopped the fiesty Bulldogs, 63-55, in the second round, putting an end to yet another successful season with a 23-11 overall record.

Minus 80 percent of the team's 2004-05 scoring, rebounding and assist totals, State entered a rebuilding 2005-06 campaign with a very youthful squad. Starting at least three freshmen in a game on nine occasions, the Bulldogs capped a 10-3 non-conference slate with a hard-fought 63-61 home win over eventual Final Four participant George Mason. Upon tipping off SEC competition with a 69-67 home triumph over Arkansas, MSU struggled through a seven-game league losing skid en route to compiling a respectable, break-even 15-15 overall record and missing postseason play for the first time since 2000. Individually, sophomore forward Charles Rhodes earned second-team all-conference honors and rookie Jamont Gordon was a unanimous selection to the SEC All-Freshman team.

UNIVERSITY

Mississippi State is a comprehensive land-grant institution and the largest university in Mississippi, with a statewide enrollment of more than 18,600 students.

Established in 1878 as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Mississippi, the university has traditional strengths in engineering and scientific agriculture but has evolved into a comprehensive institution with a diverse array of programs in teaching, research, and service.

ACADEMICS AND STUDENT LIFE

Mississippi State students consistently earn honors such as the prestigious Harry S. Truman Scholarship, awarded for those who will enter public service, and, with 16 Truman Scholars to date, the university has been recognized as a Truman Honor Institution. In the past year, a student team competed for and won first place in a national Challenge X competition to redesign a fuel-efficient and environmentally-friendly SUV.

Recently initiated programs are providing opportunities to develop leadership potential and global study options.

The university's Global Leadership Continuum provides "cradle-to-CEO" programming designed to develop leadership across a "global" spectrum that begins with high school and continues through the university experience and into professional life. Included are the Young Guns Leadership Camp for rising high school seniors; the Day One Leadership Community for incoming freshmen, focusing on shared academic and service experiences; and the highly competitive Appalachian Leadership Honors Program for sophomores and juniors.

To complement these efforts, the university has launched a minor in leadership studies open to students in all majors. A university honor code adopted in 2007 institutionalizes a campus culture of integrity and personal responsibility in academic studies. Through the Global Leadership Program, students may experience significantly expanded studyabroad opportunities.

RESEARCH

Mississippi State faculty researchers attracted $186.5 million in external funding for 2006-07, up from about $155 million during the previous year. This funding supported 1,691 sponsored projects in 2007.

Based on the latest rankings available from the National Science Foundation, MSU ranks seventh in the nation in agricultural sciences research expenditures and 44th in engineering. Last year MSU faculty and staff disclosed 80 new technologies resulting in three new start-up companies, nine licenses, and 22 patent applications. The university now holds 77 patents.

In recent years, MSU has established the Thad Cochran Endowment for Entrepreneurship, as well as collaborating with federal agencies and industries to help increase technology-oriented start-up companies. Among the collaborators and sponsors are the U.S. departments of Defense and Energy, NASA, General Electric, Northrop

Grumman, EADS/American Eurocopter, Boeing, Raytheon, General Dynamics, Israeli Aerospace Industry, and the Mississippi Technology Alliance.

In a key area of economic interest to Mississippi, MSU's Center for Advanced Vehicular Systems, established in 2001, continues research and development supporting a goal of attracting automotive industries to the state. The center is conducting research in areas that include materials processing, human and systems engineering, alternative power systems, computational manufacturing and design, and advanced learning technologies.

OUTREACH AND SERVICE

From its academic programs to the work of countless individuals, Mississippi State has "extended further" and gone "beyond the limit" to make a difference in the lives of citizens around the state. In 2006, the university formed the Mississippi State Community Action Team to organize university resources and expertise for quick response to local issues around the state. MSU's Extension Service is the first in the nation to have an interactive videoconferencing system in every county Extension office. Through the Freedom Calls program, the system is being used to connect Mississippians with family members in the U.S. military serving our country in Iraq.

The MSU Extension Service maintains offices in almost every county of the state, and the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station operates 10 branch stations throughout Mississippi. Four strategically located research and extension centers coordinate the delivery of services statewide.

THE BULLDOG

Mississippi State University's athletic teams are called Bulldogs, a name earned and maintained over the decades by the tough, tenacious play of student-athletes wearing the Maroon and White. The official school mascot is an American Kennel Club registered English Bulldog, given the inherited title of 'Bully.'

As with most universities, Mississippi State University teams answered to different nicknames through the years. The first squads representing Mississippi A&M College were proud to be called Aggies. When the school officially became Mississippi State College in 1932, the nickname Maroons, for MSU's uniform color, gained prominence. Bulldogs became the official title for State teams in 1961, not long after State College was granted university status.

Mississippi State's "Bully" was honored as the 2002 National Cheerleaders Association (NCA) national mascot champion.

Yet references to school teams and athletes as Bulldogs actually go back to early in the century, and this nickname was used almost interchangeably with both Aggies and Maroons, since at least 1905.

On November 30 of that year, the A&M football team shut out their arch-rivals from the University of Mississippi 11-0 in Jackson, Miss. The campus newspaper, The Reflector, reported: "After the game, filled with that emotion that accompanies every great victory, there was nothing left for the cadets to do but to complete the great victory by showing sympathy for the dead athletic spirit of the University, by having a military funeral parade.

"A coffin was secured, decorated with University colors and a bulldog pup placed on top. It was then placed on the shoulders of a dozen cadets, and the procession started down Capitol Street, preceded by the brass band playing a very pathetic funeral march."

Other newspaper reports of the victory commented on the 'bulldog' style of play by the A&M eleven, and the Bulldog was soon publicly accepted as a school athletic symbol. Accounts of a 1926 pep rally in Meridian, Miss., had another bulldog parading with students.

Use as an official game mascot began in 1935 when coach Major Ralph Sasse, on 'orders' from his team, went to Memphis, Tenn., to select a bulldog. Ptolemy, a gift of the Edgar Webster family, was chosen and the Bulldogs promptly defeated Alabama 20-7.

A litter-mate of Ptolemy became the first mascot called 'Bully' shortly after Sasse's team beat mighty Army 13-7 at West Point that same year - perhaps the greatest victory in MSU football history. But Bully I earned other fame the hard way, in 1939 when a campus bus cut short his career.

Days of campus mourning followed, as Bully lay in state in a glass coffin. A half-mile funeral procession accompanied by the the Famous Maroon Band and three ROTC battalions went to Scott Field where Bully was buried under the bench at the 50-yard line. Even Life magazine covered the event. Other Bullies have since been buried by campus dorms, fraternity houses, and also at the football stadium.

For years Bully was a target for kidnapers, the last incident occurring prior to the 1974 State-Ole Miss game. The Bulldog team won anyway, 31-13. While early Bullies once roamed campus freely or lived in fraternities, today the official university mascot is housed at the School of Veterinary Medicine when not on duty at State home football games. For all their fierce appearance and reputation, today's mascot bulldogs are good-natured, friendly animals and favorites with children.

A student wearing a Bulldog suit, also answering to Bully, is part of the MSU cheerleading team and assists in stirring up State spirit at games and pep rallies.

Seven years ago during national cheerleading competition in Daytona Beach, Fla., Mississippi State University's "Bully" was honored as the 2002 National Cheerleaders Association (NCA) national mascot champion.

THE COWBELL

The most unique and certainly the most resounding symbol of Mississippi State University tradition is the cowbell. Despite decades of attempts by opponents and authorities to banish it from scenes of competition, diehard State fans still celebrate Bulldog victories loudly and proudly with the distinctive sound of ringing cowbells.

BULLY XIX - TONKA"
Retired back in September

The precise origin of the cowbell as a fixture of Mississippi State sports tradition remains unclear to this day. The best records have cowbells gradually introduced to the MSU sports scene in the late 1930s and early 1940s, coinciding with the 'golden age' of Mississippi State football success prior to World War II.

The most popular legend is that during a home football game between State and archrival Ole Miss, a jersey cow wandered onto the playing field. Mississippi State soundly whipped the Rebels that Saturday, and State College students immediately adopted the cow as a good luck charm.

Students are said to have continued bringing a cow to football games for a while, until the practice was eventually discontinued in favor of bringing just the cow's bell.

Whatever the origin, it is certain by the 1950s cowbells were common at MSU games, and by the 1960s were established as the special symbol of MSU. Ironically, the cowbell's popularity grew most rapidly during the long years when State football teams were rarely successful. Flaunting this anachronism from the 'aggie' days was a proud response by students and alumni to outsider scorn of the university's 'cow college' history.

In the 1960s two MSU professors, Earl W. Terrell and Ralph L. Reeves, obliged some students by welding handles on the bells so they could be rung with more convenience and authority. By 1963 the demand for these long-handled cowbells could not be filled by home workshops alone. So, at the suggestion of Reeves, the Student Association bought bells in bulk and the Industrial Education Club agreed to weld on handles. In 1964, the MSU Bookstore began marketing these cowbells with a portion of profits returning to these student organizations.

Today many styles of cowbells are available on campus and around Starkville, with the top-of-the-line being a heavy chrome-plated model with a full Bulldog figurine handle. But experts insist the best and loudest results are produced by a classic long-handled, bicycle-grip bell made of thinner and tightly-welded shells.

Cowbells decorate offices and homes of Mississippi State alumni, and are passed down through generations of Bulldog fans. But they are not heard at Southeastern Conference games - not legally, at least - since the 1974 adoption of a conference rule against 'artificial noisemakers' at football and basketball games. On a 9-1 vote, SEC schools ruled cowbells a disruption and banned them.

This has done little harm to the cowbell's popularity, however, or to prevent cowbells from being heard outside stadiums in which the Bulldogs are playing. They can still be heard at non-conference football contests, as well as other sporting events on campus. And bold Bulldog fans still risk confiscation for the privilege of keeping a unique Mississippi State tradition alive and ringing at SEC affairs.

MAROON & WHITE

Maroon and White are the distinctive colors of Mississippi State University athletic teams, dating back over a century to the very first football game ever played by the school's student-athletes.

On November 15, 1895, the first Mississippi A&M football team was preparing for a road trip to Jackson, Tenn., to play Southern Baptist University (now called Union University) the following day. Since every college was supposed to have its own uniform colors, the A&M student body requested that the school's team select a suitable combination.

Considering this choice to be an honor, the inaugural State team gave the privilege to team captain W.M. Matthews. Accounts report that without hesitation Matthews chose Maroon and White.

In the 112 years since, every Mississippi State athlete has donned the Maroon and White in some sort of combination. Often a shade of gray has been added to the scheme, such as for the numerals. Briefly in the 1980s, the men's and women's basketball teams wore all-gray uniforms with maroon and white trim, while football has at times sported silver game pants, and baseball will often wear all gray road outfits. Only once has an MSU team appeared in any other color combination. In 1938, football coach Spike Nelson secretly had cardinal and gold uniforms made for State, a selection that did not sit well with the team or the college at the first game. Neither the uniforms nor Nelson were back for the next season.

Formed seven years ago, "Rick's Rowdies" is a group comprised of dedicated Mississippi State students and enthusiastic basketball fans committed to the increased involvement of the MSU student body during home basketball games at Humphrey Coliseum.

Humphrey Coliseum, the largest on-campus basketball arena in the state of Mississippi, will be the home of Bulldog Basketball for the 35th season during the 2009-10 campaign. Opened in 1975, Humphrey Coliseum has undergone many modifications during recent years to rank as one of the finest multi-purpose facilities in the Southeastern Conference.

On the heels of MSU's record-setting 2003-04 basketball campaign, in which coach Rick Stansbury's 26-4 Bulldogs claimed the overall SEC championship and won a second-straight SEC Western Division crown en route to making another NCAA Tournament appearance, Humphrey Coliseum underwent its most recent major transformation in the summer of 2004.

Thanks to the generous $1.8 million contribution from the Henry Mize Foundation, "The Hump" now features a new four-sided, center-hung video scoreboard. The state-of-the-art, multi-purpose scoreboard, purchased from Barco Sports of Logan, Utah, measures 22 feet 10 inches across and 18 feet 6 inches in height in addition to weighing 14,000 pounds.

Featuring four identical TrueColor video displays, four custom fixed-digit LED scoreboards with statistics and electronic team names, along with top backlit ad panels and bottom LED color ad displays, the scoreboard's active area measures 10 feet 4 inches wide and 8 feet 10 inches deep. In addition, the Coliseum's new basketball scoreboard features decorated truncated corners and an illuminated donor panel noting the recent monetary contribution of the Henry Mize Foundation, which also paid for MSU's new baseball scoreboard that made its debut in 2004 at Dudy Noble Field, Polk-DeMent Stadium.

THE MIZE CONTRIBUTIONS

The late Henry Mize hailed from Booneville, Miss., and was a 1938 MSU alumnus and lifetime supporter of Mississippi State Athletics, while his nephew, Paul "Buzzy" Mize of Tupelo, Miss., and a 1978 State graduate, has served as the executor of the Henry Mize Foundation.

Additional support and services for the construction, installation and hoisting of the Coliseum's new basketball scoreboard were provided by Hoffend & Sons (Victor, N.Y.), Ellis Steel (West Point, Miss.), Burkhalter Rigging (Columbus, Miss.) and Spencer Engineers (Jackson, Miss.), as well as on-campus support from the MSU Physical Plant and the University Television Center.

Another major renovation project, completed in November 1998 by Pryor Construction, Inc., out of Tupelo, Miss., involved the addition of approximately 1,000 maroon theatre-style chairback seats to increase the Coliseum's permanent seating capacity to nearly 10,500. This improvement to the Bulldogs' basketball arena was accomplished with the realignment of the lower-deck seats plus the addition of permanent foldout chairback seats at courtside.

In addition to the Coliseum's re-configured seating plan that now features chair back seats courtside often found at NBA arenas, an improved lighting system was installed this past summer to enhance the electric atmosphere at "The Hump." Additional restrooms were also added to the east side of the facility at the time.

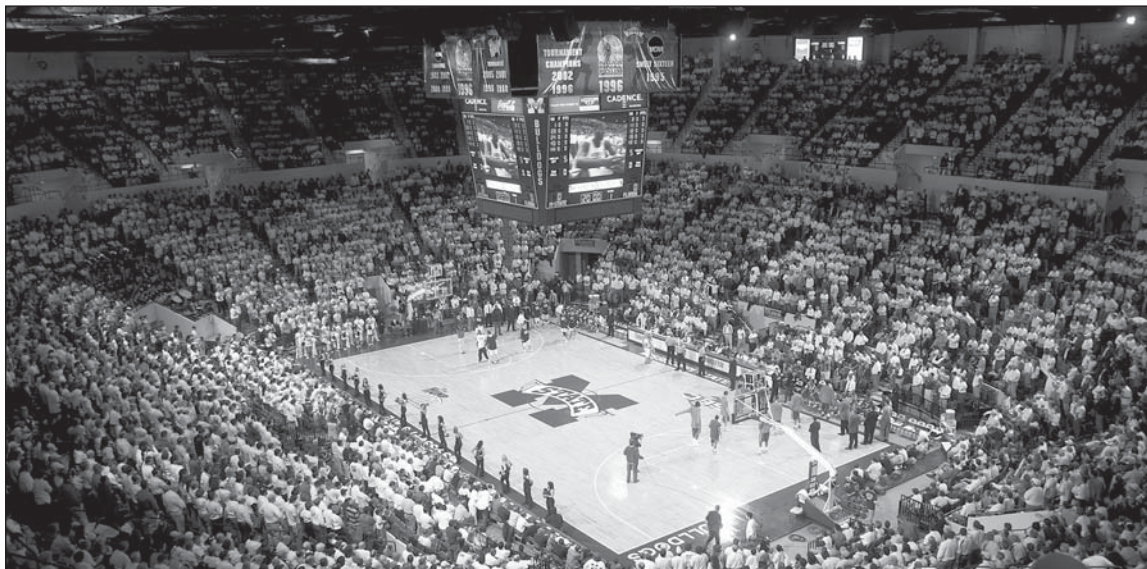

THE NEW-LOOK FLOOR

In 2000, Humphrey Coliseum was graced with the arrival of a new hard maple floor, courtesy of the Horner Flooring Company of Dollar Bay, Mich. MSU's basketball playing surface measures 112 feet long and 60 feet wide and back in July the surface received a complete overhaul, with the "Mississippi State" wordmark replacing the M-State logo.

A high-directivity distributed loudspeaker system was installed in 2001 by Sound and Communications, Inc., of Jackson, Miss., to enhance the Coliseum's public address and sound reinforcement system.

Also added in recent years has been rotating corporate sponsorship signage at the scorer's table located between Mississippi State's bench area and the visiting team's bench.

The Coliseum's most recently added amenities were unveiled this summer with new, attractive banners honoring the Bulldogs' and Lady Bulldogs' SEC championships and postseason tournament appearances.

Since Humphrey Coliseum opened to the public in time for the 1975-76 basketball campaign, the Bulldogs have won more than 70 percent of their home basketball battles at "The Hump." After ushering in the Humphrey Coliseum era of MSU basketball with an 85-82 victory over Indiana State back on Dec. 1, 1975, the Bulldogs have compiled an impressive 341-131 home record for a .722 winning percentage.

In 1990-91, Mississippi State went over the 1-million mark for overall home basketball attendance with the Bulldogs drawing 100,000-plus fans (102,072; 7,852 per game) in a single season for the first time in school history during MSU's SEC Championship campaign. On Feb. 23, 2002, at Humphrey Coliseum, a then-state of Mississippi-record 10,645 fans attended State's 61-59 home win against the Ole Miss Rebels in a crucial SEC contest. After nearly drawing 100,000 total fans during the 2002-03 season and setting a new single-season school record by averaging 9,165 fans per home SEC game, the 2003-04 Bulldog squad shattered all existing MSU basketball attendance records en route to capturing the school's first outright regular-season league championship since 1962-63.

In recording 12 or more home wins in a year for the fourth straight season under Stansbury's direction, the 2003-04 Bulldogs established new single-season Coliseum attendance standards for most total fans (111,940), highest per-game average for overall games (7,996), highest per-game average for SEC contests (10,209) and most crowds (6) of 10,000+ fans, along with setting a new mark for the largest single-game crowd (10,735) for MSU's 80-56 home triumph over Ole Miss on Feb. 7, 2004.

In a home win streak that began the year prior, the 2003-04 State squad also set a new all-time Coliseum record with 14 consecutive homecourt victories over the course of two years.

Five years ago, State's attendance boom and home success continued at "The Hump," as the Bulldogs went over the 100,000 mark for attendance (103,031) for the second-straight season.

MORE RECORDS SHATTERED

Two years ago en route to advancing to the second round of the NCAA Tournament, MState established new single-season school standards for overall home attendance (139,305) as it claimed 12 victories. Last year, records were shattered again as a total of 157,111 fans came through the turnstiles to witness the Maroon & White claim 13 victories.

As a result of those victories, MSU has now registered 10 or more home wins in a season 16 times over the last 17 basketball campaigns dating back to 1992-93, including all 11 seasons under Stansbury's guidance.

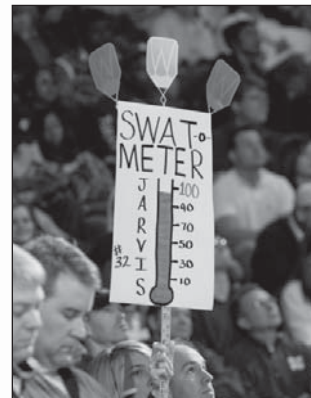

Prior to the start of MSU's much-anticipated 1995-96 Final Four campaign, the capacity of State's home basketball arena was increased to 10,000 with the addition of permanent seats around the Coliseum's inner concourse. During the summer of 1996, the Coliseum underwent major renovations to accommodate the MSU athletic department's growing need for additional locker room availability.

While the portable floor is only visible during basketball game action, a permanent all-purpose Tartan surface also enables the arena to be used for a wide variety of non-sporting events, including university presidential investitures, national conventions, conferences, graduation ceremonies, statewide science fairs, concerts, circuses, and banquets. Such popular recording acts as Tim McGraw, Vince Gill, Garth Brooks, Clint Black, John Michael Montgomery, Reba McEntire, George Strait, Alabama, Tina Turner, Chicago, Bruce Springsteen, Bob Dylan, James Taylor, Jimmy Buffett, Sheryl Crow, Billy Joel and Bon Jovi have performed at the Coliseum through the years.

Standing the equivalent of a seven-story building (84 feet), Humphrey Coliseum is 318 feet long and 268 feet wide and was originally constructed from approximately 450,000 red Mississippi-made bricks.

Named in honor of George Duke Humphrey, a former Mississippi State president (1934-45), the Coliseum also serves as the home for the Lady Bulldog basketball team, in addition to housing some administrative offices and several non-football coaches' offices.

ATHLETIC Excellence

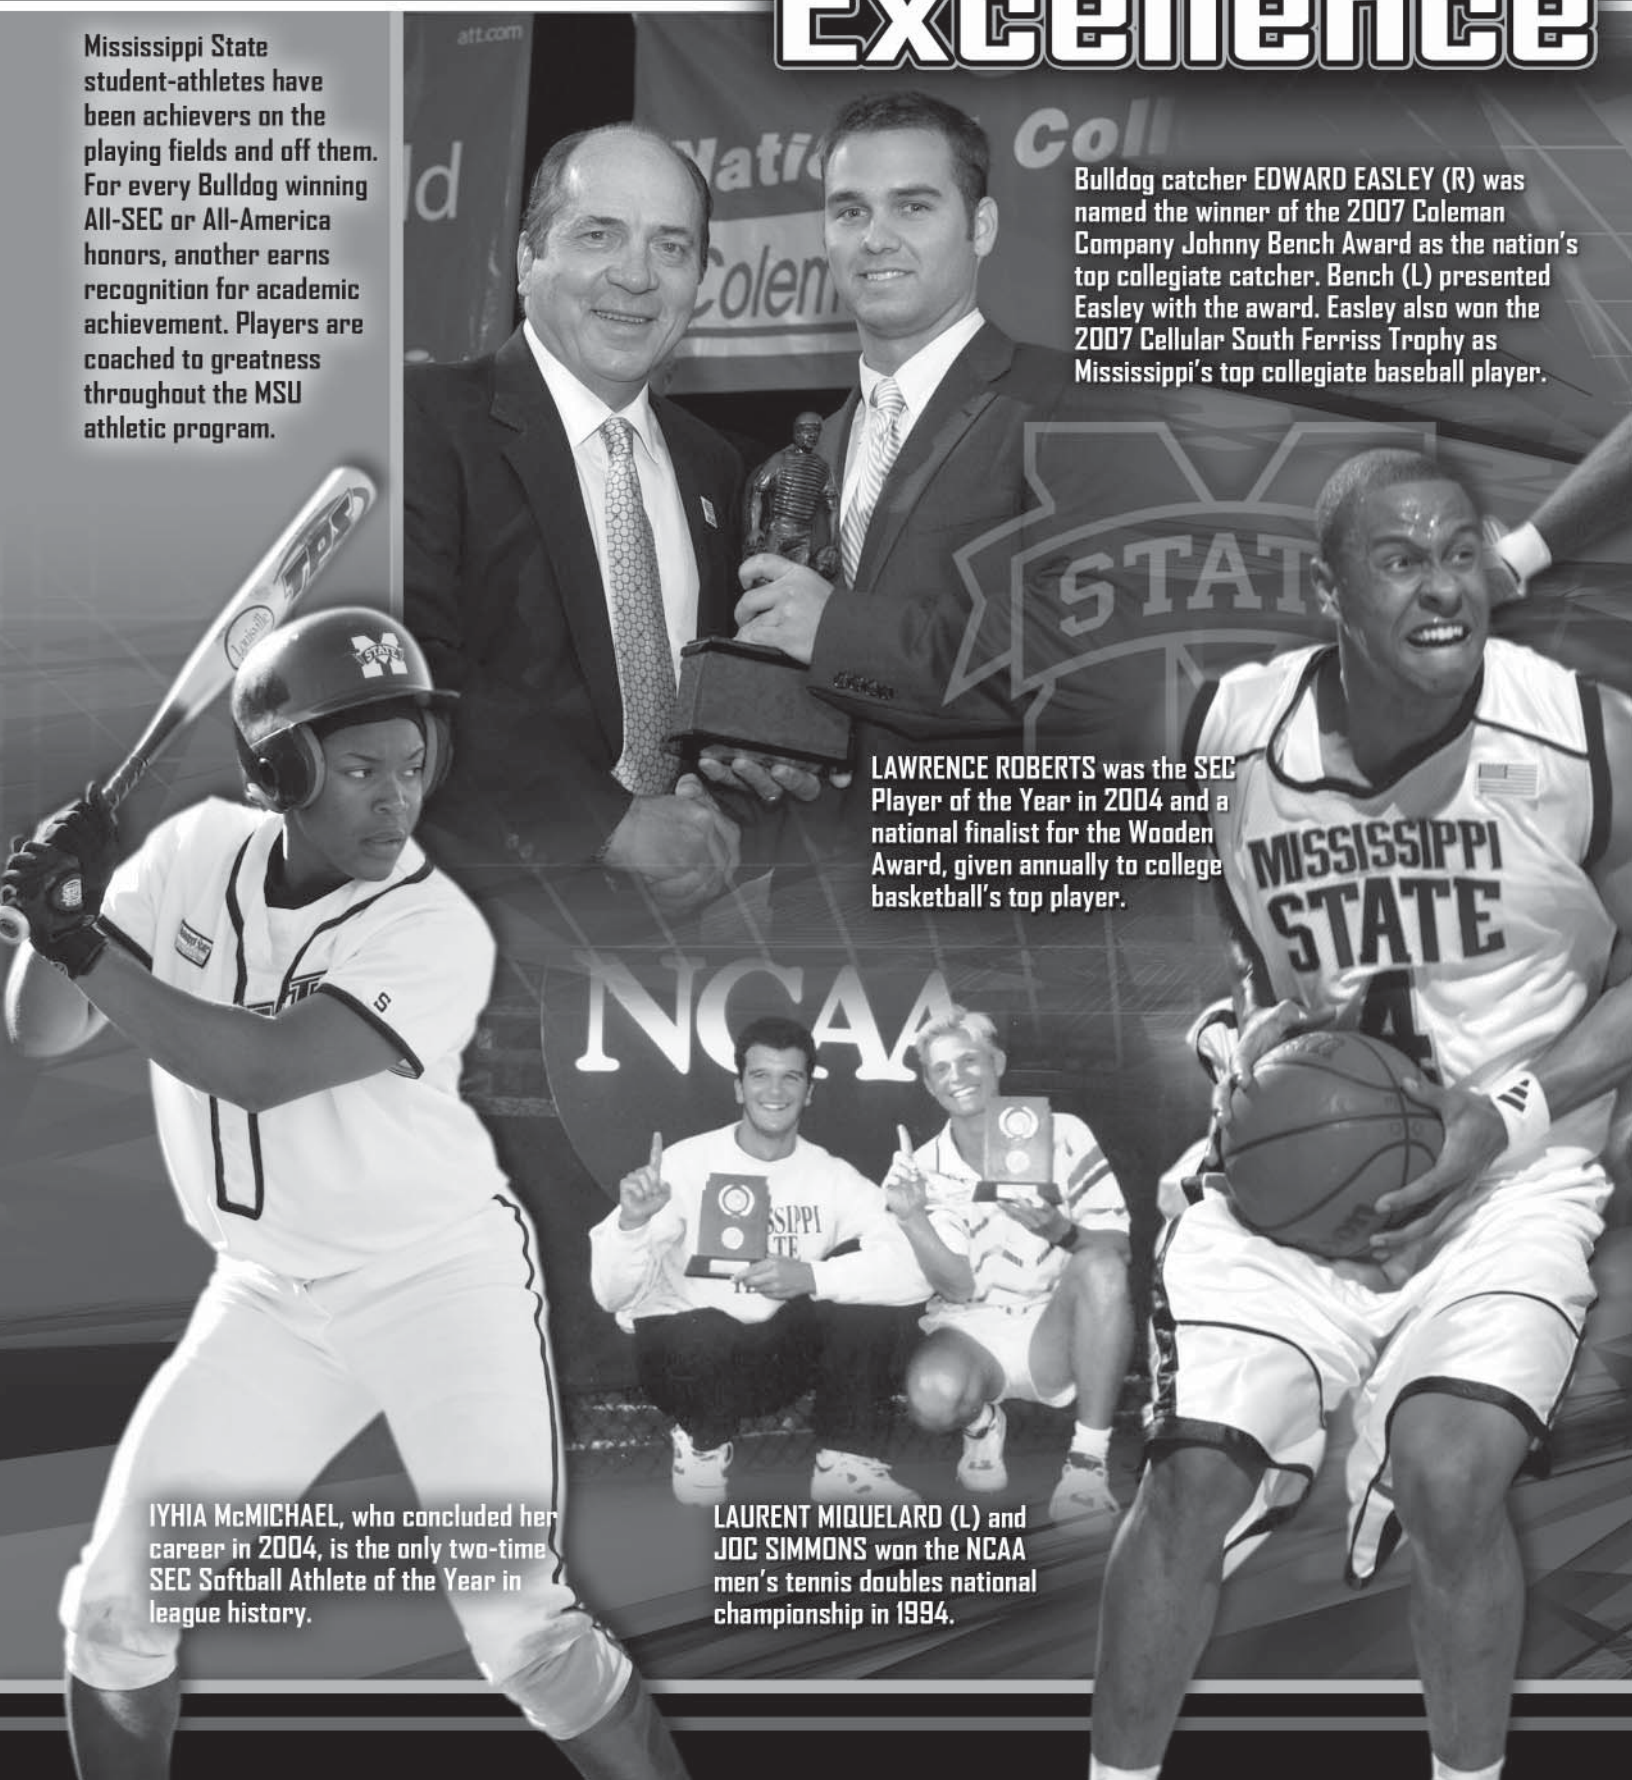

Mississippi State student-athletes have been achievers on the playing fields and off them. For every Bulldog winning All-SEC or All-America honors, another earns recognition for academic achievement. Players are coached to greatness throughout the MSU athletic program.

Bulldog catcher EDWARD EASLEY (R) was named the winner of the 2007 Coleman Company Johnny Bench Award as the nation's top collegiate catcher. Bench (L) presented Easley with the award. Easley also won the 2007 Cellular South Ferriss Trophy as Mississippi's top collegiate baseball player.

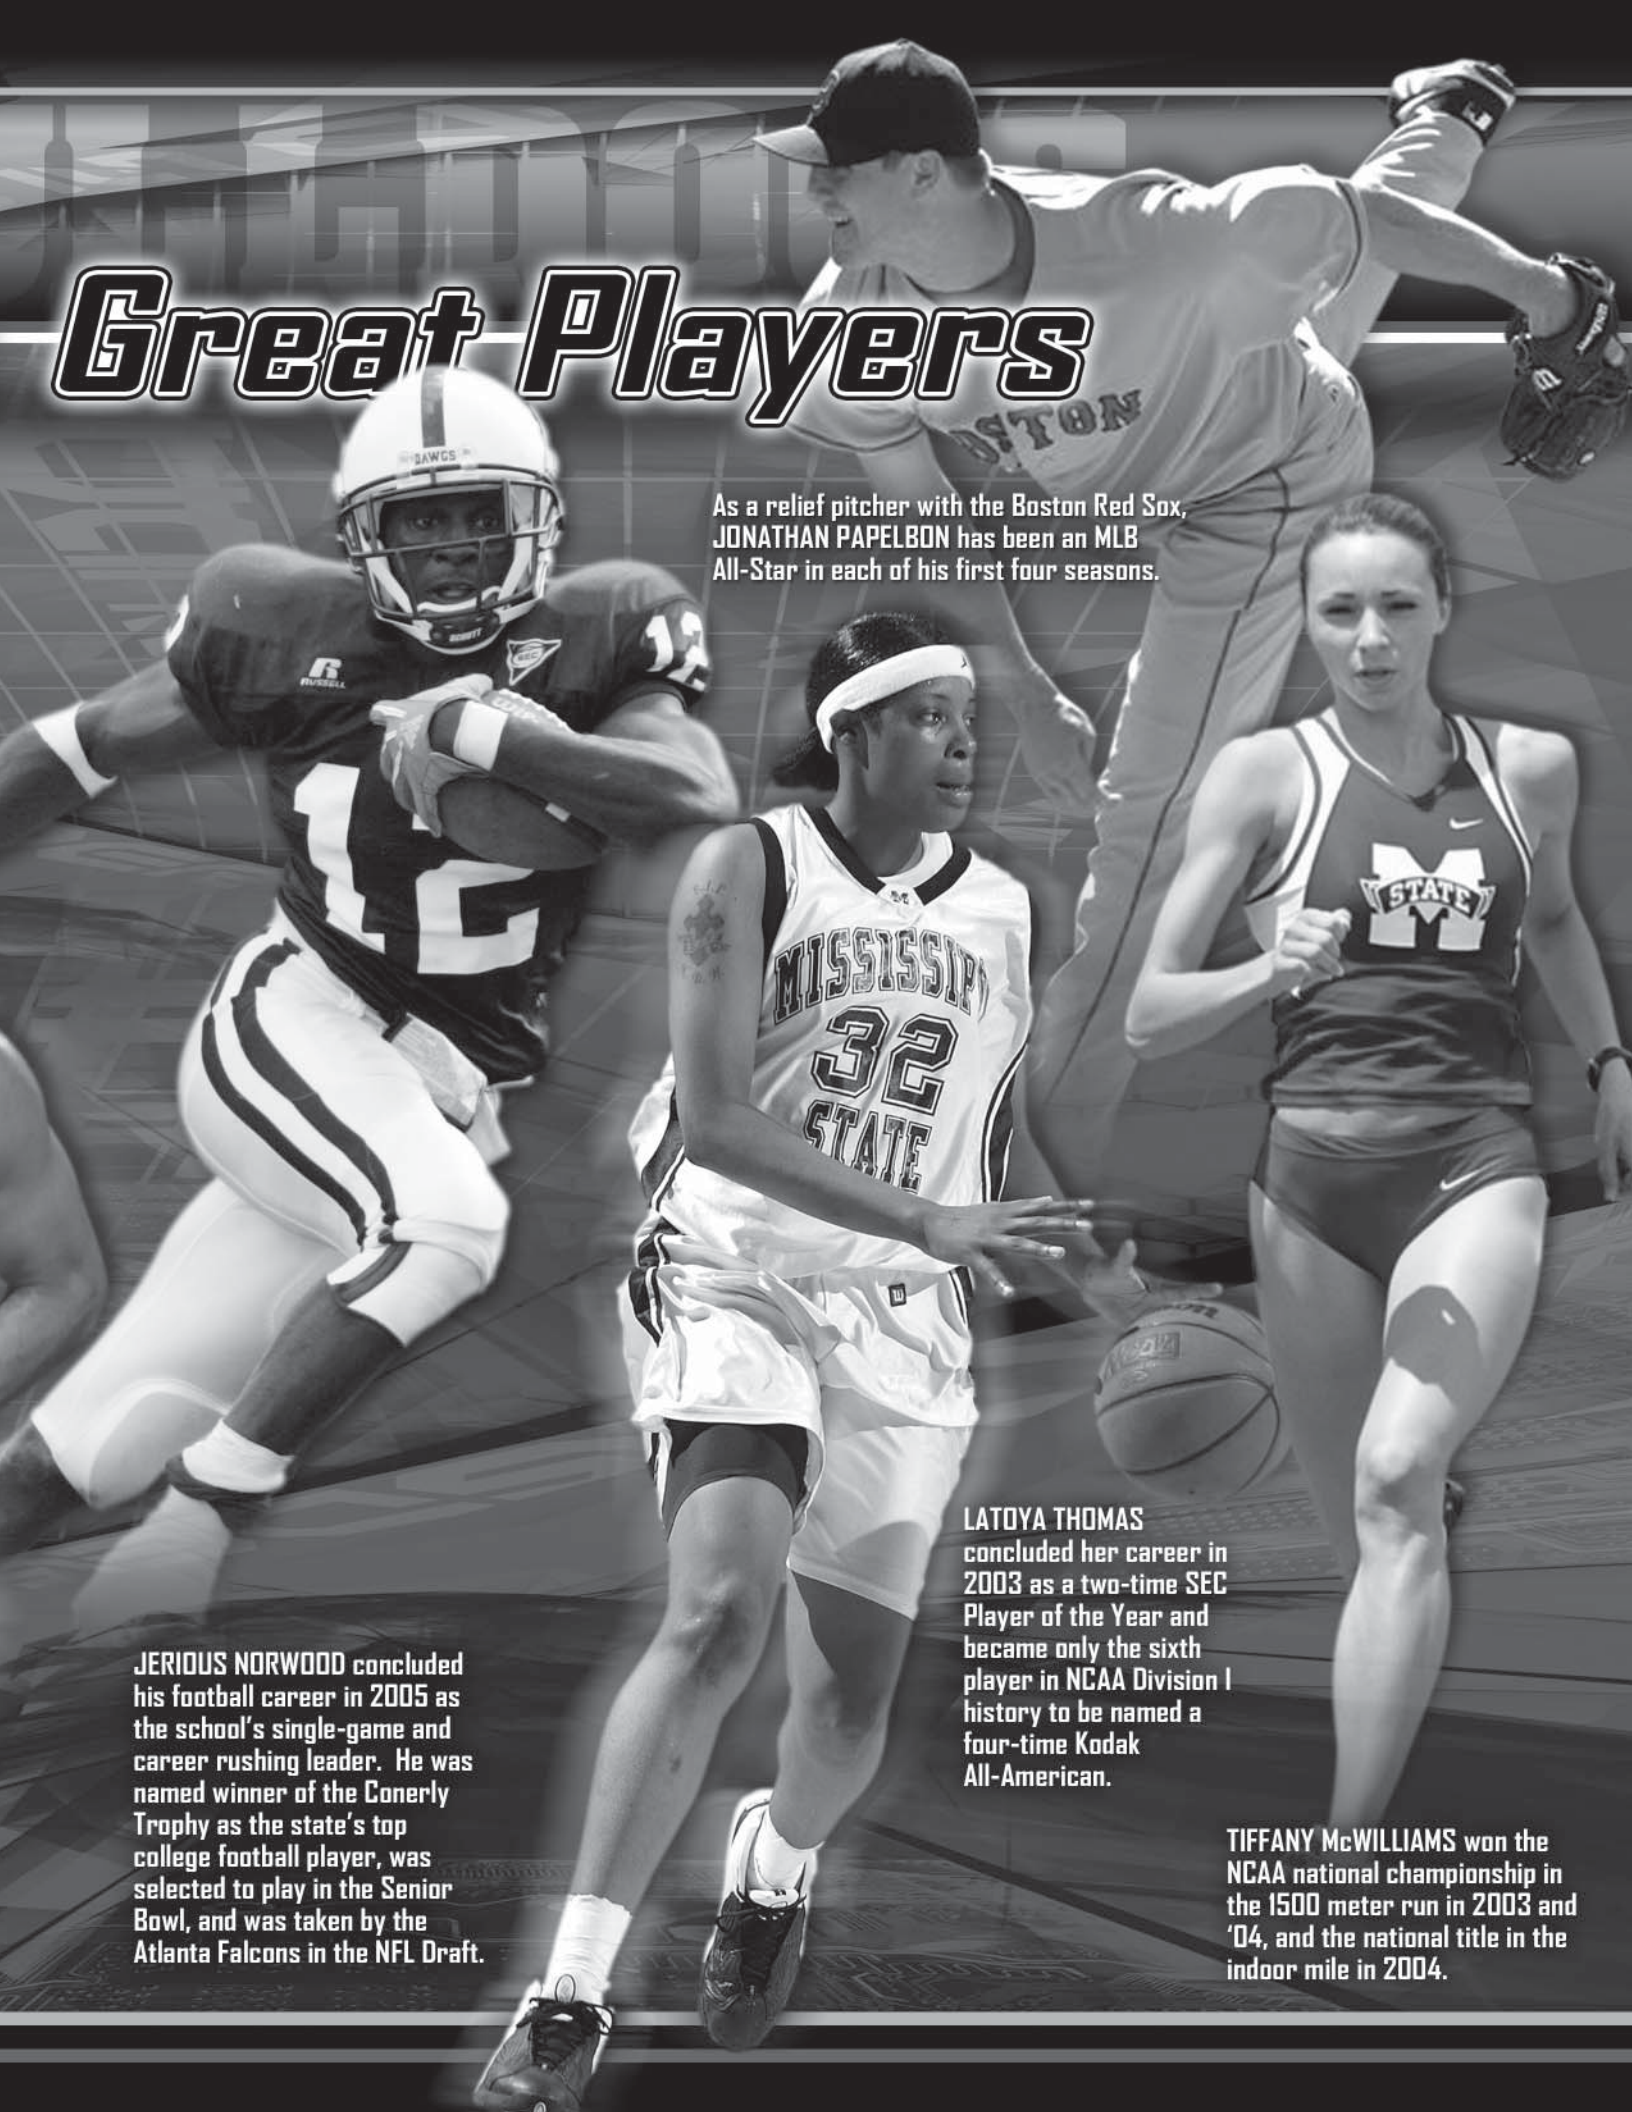

LAWRENCE ROBERTS was the SEC Player of the Year in 2004 and a national finalist for the Wooden Award, given annually to college basketball's top player.

IYHIA McMICHAEL, who concluded her career in 2004, is the only two-time SEC Softball Athlete of the Year in league history.

LAURENT MIQUELARD (L) and JOC SIMMONS won the NCAA men's tennis doubles national championship in 1994.

Great Players

As a relief pitcher with the Boston Red Sox, JONATHAN PAPELBON has been an MLB All-Star in each of his first four seasons.

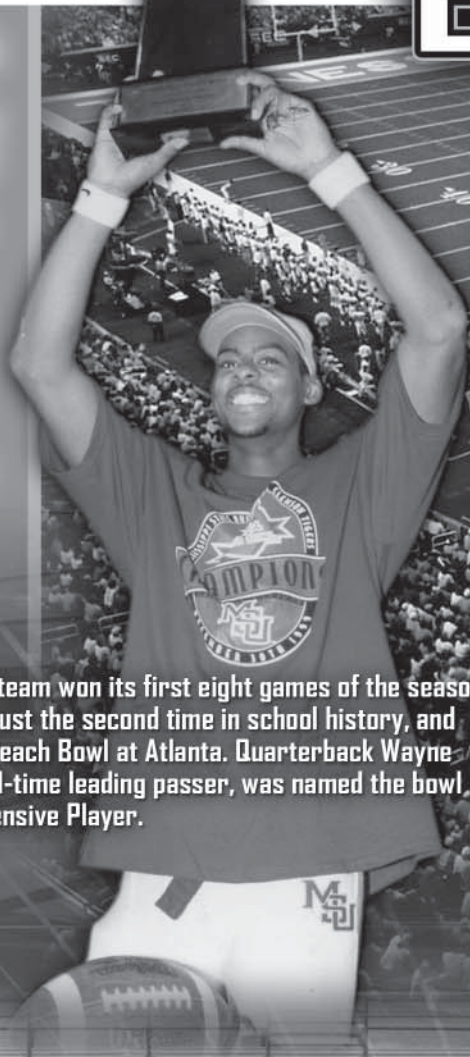

JERIOUS NORWOOD concluded his football career in 2005 as the school's single-game and career rushing leader. He was named winner of the Conerly Trophy as the state's top college football player, was selected to play in the Senior Bowl, and was taken by the Atlanta Falcons in the NFL Draft.

LATOYA THOMAS concluded her career in 2003 as a two-time SEC Player of the Year and became only the sixth player in NCAA Division I history to be named a four-time Kodak All-American.

TIFFANY McWILLIAMS won the NCAA national championship in the 1500 meter run in 2003 and '04, and the national title in the indoor mile in 2004.

ATHLETIC Excellence

MSU has played in the SEC Football Championship Game, the basketball Final Four, the baseball College World Series, and in numerous NCAA national title events since 1996. The last decade has brought overall achievement unmatched at State, and each new generation adds more hardware to the school's trophy cases.

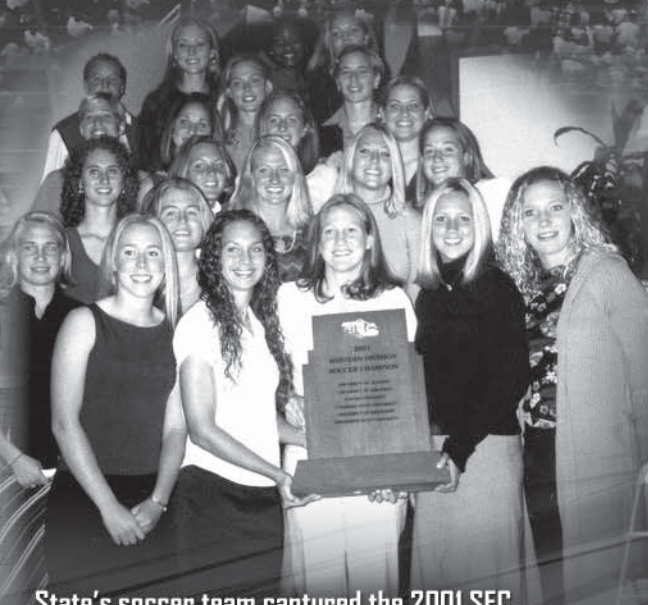

State won the SEC Western Division title in 1998 and held a fourth-quarter lead on eventual national champion Tennessee in the league championship game at the Georgia Dome. The Bulldogs' appearance in the championship game garnered the school a berth in the 1999 Cotton Bowl.

The 1999 Maroon football team won its first eight games of the season, amassed 10 victories for just the second time in school history, and defeated Clemson in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta. Quarterback Wayne Madkin (above), State's all-time leading passer, was named the bowl game's Most Valuable Offensive Player.

MSU's 1998 men's tennis team was one of two Bulldog squads that reached the NCAA semifinals, losing to perennial national champion Stanford. The '98 team was one of 10 State net teams that earned NCAA Sweet 16 berths from 1991-2001.

State's soccer team captured the 2001 SEC Western Division crown, the first SEC championship of any kind by an MSU women's team. That title came in just the sport's seventh year of existence on the campus.

Great Teams

The "thunder and lightning" duo of Rafael Palmeiro and Will Clark guided the Bulldog baseball program to SEC regular season and tournament titles, and to a national third-place finish at the College World Series in 1985. The '85 team's finish was the best of MSU's seven CWS squads.

The 1995-96 Mississippi State men's basketball team earned the school's first-ever NCAA Final Four appearance after claiming the program's first SEC Tournament title and winning the SEC Western Division crown.

The MState men's golf team captured the school's second-consecutive SEC Tournament title in 1997 and participated in NCAA regional competition for just the second time in school history.

The Lady Bulldog basketball team has gone to ten postseason appearances under Head Coach Sharon Fanning, including five NCAA Tournament appearances.

ATHLETIC Excellence

State's coaches care for their student-athletes and the school's sports programs. Each has a passion for their specialty, experience as a player and coach, and expertise to instruct at the highest levels. Their goal is to coach champions on the field and mold productive college graduates from the university's classroom.

CHRISTI SANDERS (back left) has the longest, consecutive coaching reign of any head coach at State, with 21 seasons at the helm of the women's golf program. She has twice been named SEC Coach of the Year (1990, 2000).

RICK STANSBURY, the winningest coach in MSU basketball history, has guided the Bulldogs to 231 wins and eight postseason appearances in his 11 seasons at State.

Former MSU baseball standout JOHN COHEN was introduced as Mississippi State's new baseball skipper in June 2008.

DAN MULLEN is widely regarded as one of the top young minds in college football. With 15 years of experience in the collegiate coaching ranks, Mullen was named the 32nd head football coach in the history of Mississippi State University on December 10, 2008.

NEIL MACDONALD is the only head coach to guide the MState soccer program to an SEC Tournament appearance in his first season (2004).

SHARON FANNING the winningest basketball coach in Lady Bulldog history, led her 2008-09 team to a 23-10 record and the second round of the NCAA Tournament. On Nov. 10, 2006, she became the 29th NCAA Division I women's basketball head coach to reach 500 wins.

Great Teachers

Returning home to coach his alma mater, PER NILSSON was a part of the 1993 SEC Championship team.

CLAY HOMAN, a second-team all-SEC performer during his MState playing career, has led the men's golf program to 52 top-10 finishes in six years.

JENNY HAZELWOOD returned to her alma mater as the head volleyball coach in 2009. During her career at State she set the school record for assists in a match, a season and a career.

JAY MILLER is one of the most respected coaches in the country. The USA National Team head coach and NFCA Hall of Fame inductee has directed the State softball program to six NCAA postseason appearances in his seven seasons.

Now in his second decade as the head coach of the men's and women's track teams, AL SCHMIDT has coached three MState athletes to national titles.

ATHLETIC Excellence

Mississippi State athletes play in some of the nation's finest facilities. Almost every Bulldog competition site has either been constructed or renovated in the last 15 years. During that time alone, more than $60 million in facility enhancements have been made.

DAVIS WADE STADIUM AT SCOTT FIELD: Near-sellout crowds have become the norm at Davis Wade Stadium at Scott Field, where the Bulldogs have played before masses reaching 85 percent of stadium capacity. Since the 2000 season when expansion and renovation projects gave the nation's second-oldest stadium a gleaming new look, crowds have grown by nearly 30 percent.

PITTS TENNIS CENTRE: Considered among the finest tennis facilities in the collegiate ranks, the modern, six-court, 1,000-seat A.J. Pitts Tennis Centre recently completed its 26th year serving the men's and women's programs. Recent enhancements at the facility include new locker areas and concession stands (1998) and a permanent press box (2004).

W.D. SPENCER STADIUM/
CARL MADDOX TRACK: Co-named in honor of a two-time Mississippi State Olympian and a former MSU athletic director, the W.D. Spencer Stadium/Carl Maddox Track has served as host to the Southeastern Conference Outdoor Track and Field Championships three times since 1985, joining Tennessee as the most frequent host for that event during that time.

DUDY NOBLE FIELD, POLK-DEMENT STADIUM: One of the nation's leaders in baseball season ticket sales and attendance, Dudy Noble Field, Polk-Dement Stadium still holds the nation's on-campus single-game attendance mark — 14,991. With a seating capacity of more than 7,000 and more space in the world-famous outfield, Sports Illustrated magazine named the park, the "Best Place To Watch College Baseball" in a 1997 issue.

NEWELL GRISSOM BUILDING:

The 12,000-square foot, hardwood-floored Newell-Grisson Building serves as the home for Mississippi State's volleyball program and serves as a practice facility for both of the school's basketball programs. Recent improvements include the addition of an air conditioning/heating system and chairback seating.

Great Places

MSU GOLF COURSE:

Nominated by Golfweek and Golf Digest magazines as one of the premier public golf courses in the United States, Mississippi State's championship University Golf Course is the home to the men's and women's programs. The 18-hole course was recently furnished with a 5,000-square-foot clubhouse, complete with locker areas, snack bar, golf shop and classroom.

MSU SOCCER FIELD: Built in 1995, the lighted Mississippi State Soccer Field gives the Bulldog women one of the finest playing surfaces in the Southeast, a 114-yard long, 72-yard wide regulation NCAA Championship field. The lush turf is Mississippi Pride grass, developed by researchers on the MSU campus.

MSU SOFTBALL FIELD: Constructed in 1997, the Mississippi State Softball Field has undergone almost constant improvement at the northern-most point of campus. Lights were added to the facility in 1998, brick work was added to the dugouts two years later and, in 2001, additional batting cages were built. In 2005, softball moved into a new locker, training and meeting facility adjacent to the park.

BRYAN BUILDING: The state-of-the-art John H. Bryan Athletic Administration Building is the crown jewel of MSU's expansion projects of the last decade. Opened in 1996, this showcase facility is named for longtime Bulldog friend and supporter John H. Bryan Sr., and houses athletic administration, football, ticket, athletic development and media relations offices.

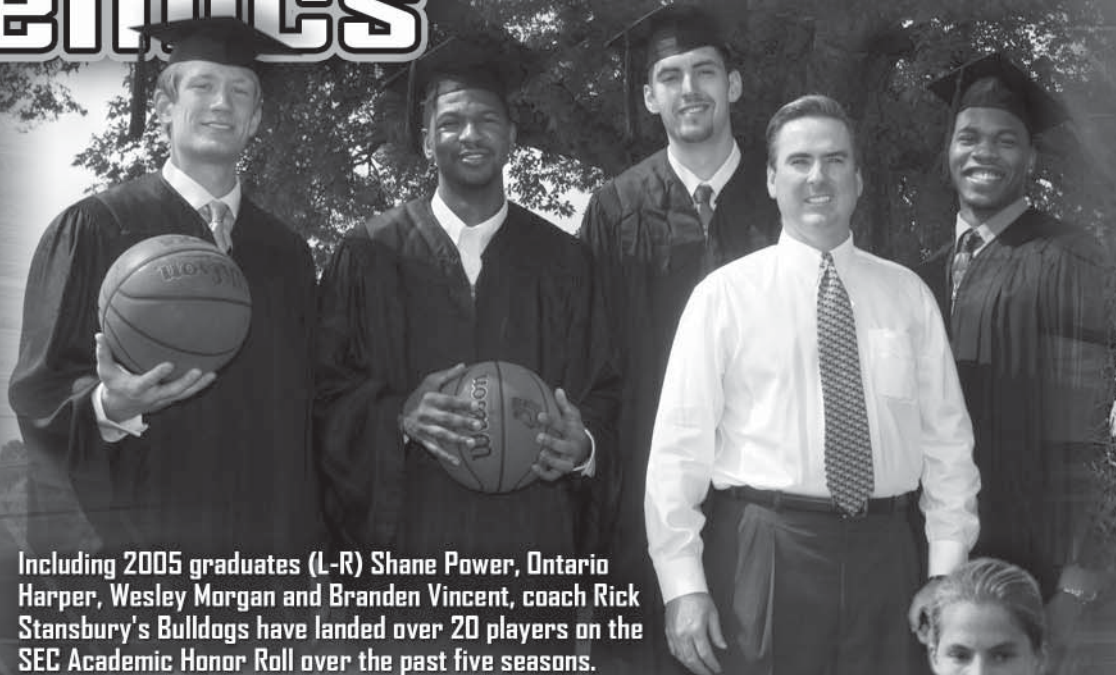

HUMPHREY COLISEUM: Season ticket sales records and all-time attendance marks have also been set over the past decade by Bulldog and Lady Bulldog basketball teams in the Humphrey Coliseum, the state's largest on-campus basketball arena. The latest addition to the facility was a $1.8 million, center-hung, four-sided video scoreboard and jumbotron screen installed in 2004.

The BULLDOG

Academics

While the MSU athletic program has experienced success both on the field and court, Bulldog and Lady Bulldog athletes are excelling where it counts the most — in the classroom. During the 2008-09 school year, 153 MState athletes earned SEC Academic Honor Roll honors.

Including 2005 graduates (L-R) Shane Power, Ontario Harper, Wesley Morgan and Branden Vincent, coach Rick Stansbury's Bulldogs have landed over 20 players on the SEC Academic Honor Roll over the past five seasons.

BURKE MASTERS was a two-time First Team GTE-CoSIDA Academic All-American (1989 and 1990), four-time SEC Academic Honor Roll selection and the 1990 Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

A two-time Academic all-SEC selection, KATE JASPERS racked up numerous academic awards while at MSU. She was twice named ESPN the Magazine Academic All-American, and a three-time NFCA Scholar Athlete All-America. In 2004, Jaspers was named the SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, as well as the CoSIDA Academic Player of the Year.

ANNEMARIE PIMENTEL was a four-year soccer letterwinner. While at State, she was a three-time Academic all-SEC selection and was named to the GTE and Verizon Academic All-District teams. Her career culminated in being selected the 2000 SEC Boyd McWhorter Post-Graduate Scholarship winner, awarded to the student-athlete who best demonstrates excellence in athletics, academics and community service.

Way

Traditions

Mississippi State is deep with tradition. From Bully to cowbells and the maroon and white, evidence of The Bulldog Way are found deep in the heart of every State graduate.

The most unique and certainly the most resounding symbol of MSU tradition is the cowbell. Cowbells decorate homes and offices of MSU alumni, and are passed down through generations of Bulldog fans. Although banned from SEC games since 1974, the ruling has not damaged the cowbell's historical importance.

HAIL STATE (FIGHT SONG)

*Hail dear 'ole State,
Fight for that victory today;
Hit that line and 'tote that ball;
Cross the goal before you fall,
And then we'll yell, yell, yell,
For dear 'ole State we'll yell like hell!
Fight for Mis-sis-sip-pi State,
Win that game today.*

MAROON AND WHITE (ALMA MATER)

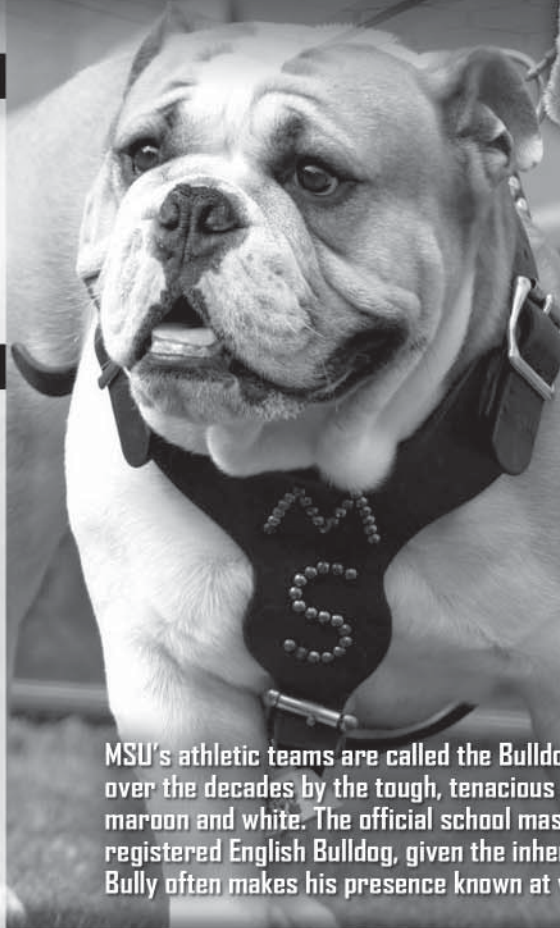

*In the heart of Mississippi,
Made by none but God's own hands,
Stately in her nat'ral splendor
Our Alma Mater proudly stands;
State College of Mississippi,
Fondest mem'ries cling to thee,
Life shall hoard thy spirit ever,
Loyal sons we'll always be.*

Chorus:

*Maroon and White! Maroon and White!
Of thee with joy we sing;
Thy colors bright our souls delight,
With praise our voices ring.*

*Tho' our life some pow'r may vanquish,
Loyalty can't be o'er run;
Honors true on thee we lavish
Until the setting of the sun;
Live Maroon and White for ever,
Ne'er can evil mar thy fame,
Nothing us from thee can sever,
Alma Mater we acclaim.*

MSU's athletic teams are called the Bulldogs, a name earned and maintained over the decades by the tough, tenacious play of student-athletes wearing the maroon and white. The official school mascot is an American Kennel Club registered English Bulldog, given the inherited title of "Bully." A costumed Bully often makes his presence known at various athletic events.

BASKETBALL Practice

The newest Addition to the Mississippi State men's and women's basketball programs is an $11.2 million state-of-the-art basketball practice facility. The building will feature 23,500 square feet of court space. Included will be an 84-space parking garage, offices for both the men's and women's coaches, two collegiate regulation courts length wise with four high school size cross courts, a weight room, training room and a reception area of 5,000 square feet. The Henry Mize Foundation provided the lead gift of $4 million while Richard Adkerson pledged $2 million.

The 2010 Southeastern Conference Men's Basketball Tournament will be held at the Gaylord Entertainment Center in Nashville after being played at the St. Pete Times Forum in Tampa, Fla., last year.

Located in the heart of the historic downtown area, this world-class facility welcomes the SEC Tournament for the second time. In 2001, the facility hosted this event for the first time.

The building is known nationally as the home of the NHL's Nashville Predators.

The winner of the 11-game tournament receives the SEC's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament. The tournament seeds, conference championship and division titles are determined by the 16-game conference schedule during the regular season.

Teams are seeded by their divisional finish and features Eastern Division-Western Division matchups in every game should the higher seed win each contest.

Atlanta served as host of the inaugural SEC Tournament played following the 1932-33 season and did so again after the 1933-34 season.

The event was held every year through 1952, with the exception of 1935.

After a 26-year layoff (1953-78), the tournament was renewed in 1979. The 2010 tournament will be the 50th in league history and the 31st since the renewal.

The SEC has shown extraordinary balance in the tournament, evidenced by the fact that a different school won the first seven titles after the renewal. The event has helped set the stage for SEC teams in the NCAA Tournament, as 22 of the last 28 tournament champions have advanced to at least the Sweet 16 with five of the last 12 going on to win the national championship, including the Florida Gators in 2006 and 2007. Since the renewal in 1979, the SEC Tournament Champion has failed to win at least one NCAA Tournament game only five times. Kentucky leads the league with 25 SEC Tournament titles. Alabama is second with six, while Tennessee ranks third with four. Florida and Mississippi State own three titles, with the Bulldogs winning last year, while Georgia has a pair of championship trophies.

Arkansas, Auburn, LSU, Ole Miss, Vanderbilt and former league member Georgia Tech have each won one SEC Tournament title.
