TEAM NOTES

- Mississippi State has reached the NCAA Regionals in every season under head coach Dusty Smith, excluding the canceled 2020 season. The six-year run is the longest streak in school history.
- MSU women's head coach Charlie Ewing was an assistant on Smith's staff for two and a half years.
- Mississippi State won the individual combined best ball championship in 2022 with help from world No. 1-ranked Julia Lopez Ramirez who also won the individual women's championship at the event.
- The Bulldogs and No. 15 LSU will share the course for a third straight outing. The Tigers won the Visit Knoxville Collegiate, but State had the edge over LSU at the Valero Texas Collegiate.
- Eight of the 12 lowest team rounds in program history have come during Smith's seven seasons as the head coach.
- A victory would give Smith six tournament titles. He currently ranks fourth among Bulldog head coaches. Greg Martin and Ronnie Moore are tied for second with eight career wins.
- State signed a four freshmen and two transfers this offseason. Both transfers won conference titles at their previous schools.
- The top three finishes by an individual at an NCAA Regional in program history have come in just the last two years. Endicott posted the best such finish last year when he tied for fourth and missed out on advancing to the NCAA Championships after a five-hole playoff.
